

DECISION AFFIRMED FOR LYDICK FAMILY

Will Get the Three Tracts at Cass Lake.
One Includes a Part of the Townsite.

Washington, Sept. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Acting Secretary of the Interior Ryan today announced that he had refused to set aside the decision rendered by Secretary Hitchcock in December last to allow three 88-acre tracts at and near Cass Lake to Nellie Lydick and her two children. The allotment awarded to Mrs. Lydick is occupied by a portion of the town of Cass Lake, and this decision means that the settlers on the lands in question will be required to pay for the same. The department decides to delay eviction, pending action by congress authorizing Mrs. Lydick to sell her allotment. Such a proposition was under consideration when the first decision was rendered last winter, but no action was taken because the case was referred at the request of Senator Nelson.

The acting secretary of the interior today approved for patent 807 acres swamp lands in the Duluth land district, these lands now passing to the state.

Two rural free delivery routes will be established on Nov. 2 at Brownton, Minn. Lead county, Minn., with two carriers. The length of the routes is 45 miles and the population is 1100.

From Present Indications There Is Likely to Be a Upheaval In Some of the United States Office at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Sept. 22.—The Call today says: Three more deputy sheriffs employed at the county jail as jailers and one and perhaps two deputy United States marshals have been convicted and connected criminally with the unlawful substitution of Chinese before the investigation now in progress is ended. The evidence obtained against them is said not to be conclusive, but is sufficiently strong to warrant the conviction. It is suspected that they have been actively implicated in the illegal traffic for which three other men and three Chinese are under arrest, and on account of which W. P. Gamble put an end to his life. There are strong suspicions that federal officials higher up than the convicted men were concerned in the offense. Chinese substitution exercised a tacit acquiescence in the traffic, and the men who are being served by the utmost care by the secret service agencies are being served by the same agencies.

It need cause no surprise an upheaval in at least two of the principal offices in this city should follow.

She was carried into the court room yesterday afternoon to give her testimony, and lay back in her chair on a pile of pillows. She was attended by Dr. David Grady, who was also a witness in her behalf.

In Judge Cant's court this morning the case of Mark M. Kline against the Minneapolis Iron company was still on trial, but the defense was trying to put an end to it by a motion to direct a verdict in its favor, which the attorneys were arguing at noon.

WORK NEXT YEAR

Plenty of Street Improvement Planned For That Time.

Second, Third and Fourth Streets All Need Fixing Up.

Next year will see a large amount of street improvement in Duluth. The prospect is good for even more next season than this, although the East Superior street and Lake avenue repaving contracts, as well as the resurfacing of East First street, have made no small amount of work.

Outside of the East Superior paving, from sixteenth to twenty-second avenue next year, one of the large improvements will be the repaving of Second street.

The preliminary step for this improvement was taken last evening in the form of a resolution by the city council. Alderman Krumsieck's request, directing the board of public works to circulate a petition for the improvement of the street, was adopted. The petition, if one is returned with sufficient number of signatures, will be the survey of the street and the estimate of the cost by the city engineer.

The sentiment of the property owners along the portion of the street that it is proposed to improve is said to be overwhelmingly in favor of the improvement. Interest in that sort of pavement has been steadily growing since it was installed on First avenue west, and some of the largest owners of Second street property are for far macadam pavement against any other else, with the ground of economy, durability and service.

Not alone have plans been maturing for the improvement of Second street, but there is a strong probability that the Fourth street property owners from Sixth avenue east to Sixth avenue west will also petition for street improvement, and that the city will have been a matter of the Second street property owners getting to work first with their petition.

Then, too, come rumors of the proposed improvement of Third street. Third street is one of the commonly called "side hill streets," and some sort of improvement has been greatly desired for some time past, but the property owners have been reluctant to make a move on account of the alleged high cost of paving material. Since the far macadam pavement has commenced to come into use, the Third street residents have been gradually won over to that material as about the best proposition for the paving of that thoroughfare, and a petition from the property owners along the street is among the early possibilities.

All the talk of far macadam pavement for the year is having no small influence with the city council and resident taxpayers relative to the matter of the city's paving its own paying plant. The bids for far macadam mixers, which were submitted last evening to the council by the city engineer, are now in the hands of the committees on streets, alleys and sidewalks and city property, and these will have to investigate the city's financial condition to select the most available fund from which to get the money should it be deemed advisable to buy a mixing plant.

There were two bidders to furnish the plants. The Toledo Construction and Supply company offers a portable mixing plant for $1,000, and the Boston, Mass. company offers one of $500, and another of $1,000. The bid of Warren Bros., of Boston, was to lease the city the equipment rather than sell it outright at the prices quoted, and Charles W. Warren, of the Toledo concern, offered to sell outright and send a crew here free of cost to the city for thirty days to demonstrate its operation. Warren Bros. insist not to demonstrate, but they give the city thirty days in which to use their plant before paying for it.

With the Toledo concern's plant the city would not have any obligations about using any particular material. City Engineer Patton says he finds much sentiment about the city in favor of municipal ownership of a paving plant. He traces that there is every prospect that Duluth can have all of the far tar it desires, of the proper grade, from the West Duluth coke oven, the crushed rock can be had right here at home in any quantities, and with the plant the city could do it by the work, or the city could do it by the contract. He is not sure of the latter, either process meaning a lessened cost in the paving of streets.

Under the present system the local contractors are barred out from bidding on far macadam jobs because there are no plants that they can rent in this vicinity, nor can the city do it for the same reason.

The Toledo concern will have a portable mixer plant in operation the latter part of this month, and it is possible that the city engineer will go down there to view it and its work.

West Duluth Woman Is Adjudged Insane.

A woman who has insisted in living in a barn all summer, and who has stoutly resisted all efforts to place her in a place of safety, was examined as to her sanity in probate court this morning, and the physicians decided that she was insane.

The woman is Mrs. Regina Olson, aged 41, the mother of five children that have been taken in charge by the state. She is a widow. Last June she took refuge in a barn at Fifty-ninth avenue west, and though the man that owned the barn wanted it for other uses, she insisted on remaining there.

She was ordered committed to the insane asylum at Fergus Falls.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, fulfills every wish in curing liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and dollar sizes. Sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, sent absolutely free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer, Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in the Evening Herald. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and the name of the doctor, Dr. Kilmer, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

It cost W. D. Tomlin $3.50 in municipal court this morning for firing off his revolver on Duluth Heights last Sunday evening. Mr. Tomlin is the man whom the Donaldson and Roberts boys claim shot at when they were on their way home from a neighbor.

Tomlin tells the story that the boys were attempting to put out the electric street lights, and that he fired into the ground to frighten them away. His plan proved successful, but the boys' parents did not relish it nor his interference with the electric light system. He was charged with shooting firearms within the city limits.

THE SENATORS RETURN.

Come In on Tionesta and Leave For Home.

After having had a series of interruptions during their trip, the members of the party of state senators, who a few days ago went down the lakes, passed through Duluth last evening, having arrived on the Anchor line steamer Tionesta from Lake Erie. They immediately boarded a train for the Twin Cities without wasting any time. They appeared to be thoroughly tired and seemed to get on their feet with some difficulty. The party included Senators E. E. Smith and J. P. Callahan, of Minneapolis; Henry Morgan, Albert Lea; Daniel Shell, Worthington; George Somerville, Sleepy Eye; Frank E. Putnam, Blue Earth; Samuel Lord, Kasson; and Hiler H. Horton, St. Paul.

The senators began their trip on Sept. 8 and arrived in Duluth the following day. They then spent two days on the ranges and several days in Duluth awaiting the arrival of the steamer John W. Gates, on which they went to Lake Erie.

They left the Gates at Conneaut and boarded the steamer Tionesta at Cleveland for home. They reported having a good time throughout their trip, notwithstanding the fact that they spent two rainy days on the ranges and two days awaiting the Gates.

REPORT ON PUPILS

County Superintendent Park Makes His Annual Report.

Interesting Comparisons Between Schools of City and Country.

The annual report of County Superintendent A. T. Park, just sent to the state superintendent of public instruction, contains some interesting statistics about the schools of the county. The report applies only to the schools outside of the city of Duluth, but the city has made a separate report from which comparisons between city and country can be drawn. The total enrollment during the last school year outside the city was 6184, and within the city 11,127, making 17,311 pupils in the county.

The average number of days each pupil attended school was 128.32 in the country and 140.66 days in the city, showing that the city children have better facilities for attendance than those of the country. The school year the country schools handled 220,349.31, of which 140,709 were in the city, and the city schools handled 215,035.12, of which 141,415 were on hand at the beginning of the new school year.

RISKS LIFE FOR HER LOVE

Ida Sharpe Determined to Attend Funeral of Sharpe.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—With death from a broken heart a matter of only a few days, according to the fears of the physicians who have attended her, Miss Ida Sharpe, 6020 Monroe avenue, is spending her remaining strength in traveling to Ottawa, Can., to attend the funeral of the man whom she was to have been married next month.

Miss Sharpe, who is 23 years old, and the daughter of Arthur Sharpe, had been engaged for more than a year to Douglas C. Waters, former assistant manager of the Chicago Musical college, who was found dead in New York last Tuesday. They were playmates as children, their parents having been neighbors in Canada.

When news of Mr. Waters' death reached her, Miss Sharpe, who has always enjoyed good health, collapsed. She lapsed into unconsciousness, remaining in that condition all day. On Wednesday she was hysterical, and on Thursday her physicians began to fear that she could not recover. On Friday the doctors are said to have informed the family that the young woman had only a few days to live. Extreme nervous prostration aggravated by the girl's mental attitude, was the diagnosis.

It was decided to take Mr. Waters' body to Ottawa for burial, and then Miss Sharpe announced her intention of attending the funeral, even if the exertion should cost her life.

"And what if I do die?" she asked. "It will only mean that we will be united in death."

Friends tried to dissuade Miss Sharpe from her purpose, but she was insistent, and on Saturday night started on the tedious railroad journey, from which her physicians fear she may never return.

Some uncertainty exists regarding Mr. Waters' death. Reports from New York are that he committed suicide by shooting, and that the coroner and jury tried to suppress this fact. Relatives of Mr. Waters and friends of Miss Sharpe declare, however, that he died of a natural death. C. Younglove, 256 Sixty-second street, a brother-in-law to Miss Sharpe, said yesterday that he had seen Mr. Waters in New York where that Mr. Waters felt dead while standing beside a desk on the floor of a building at 74 Broadway. He said a post-mortem examination by New York physicians had disclosed the cause of death as a brain disorder, such as had proved fatal to his mother and sister.

DEFENDED BY DR. HARPER

Says Turk Does Not Deserve All Abuse Given Him.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—"The Turk does not deserve all the opprobrium that has been thrown upon him." This statement was made by President William H. Harper of the University of Chicago in telling of his experiences in Constantinople, where he went for the purpose of securing a firm giving the university the right to excavate the ruins of ancient cities in the neighborhood of ancient Babylon.

"The Turks have received much unjust abuse," continued Dr. Harper. "There are many things we should take into consideration before passing judgment on Turkey as a governing power in Europe. We are accustomed to think that Turkey has made no progress. If we compare the conditions in Turkey today with those which existed seventy-nine years ago, when Abdul Hamid came to the throne, it is found that the progress made is amazing."

"We were in Constantinople for the celebration of the sultan's birthday anniversary. The streets were crowded, but I saw no disorder and no drunkenness. I did not see a single man intoxicated. The time I was in Constantinople, I cannot say that Abdul Hamid is popular with all the people. There are two classes of people who are not his friends. The officials are afraid that members of the younger and radical party will assassinate him. This happens no one will be safe in Turkey and anarchy will prevail."

Dr. Harper would not say whether he believed there was ground for interference by Christian nations in Turkish affairs. He said, however, that he was against Armenian and Macedonian Christians, but said that his sympathies lay with the Turkish people.

Dr. Harper considers that his mission to the Turkish capital was successful. He expected to receive a letter from the sultan, but the sultan has issued the necessary firman.

He was accorded the best of treatment in official Constantinople," said the president. "We first met Hamid Bey, director of all the imperial museums. He aided us greatly, and with his help, our petition to the sultan was properly framed and presented. We received assurances from Turkish officials that our requests would be granted."

We here while the American warships were in the harbor as a result of the Magellan affair. Our petition could not have been presented at a more opportune time."

While in Germany, President Harper visited Dr. Hermann E. Volz, formerly head professor of history at the university of Chicago. Professor Volz is critically ill. He sent by Dr. Harper a message to the board of trustees, the faculty and the students of the university. Dr. Harper will deliver the messages at the unveiling of the oil painting of Professor Volz, on his way to the United States.

STARKLING CASE

Of Dual Life Is Reported From a Wisconsin Town.

"Earl" or "Eva" Marshall Has Puzzled the Parents.

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 22.—One of the most remarkable errors in sex determination ever made public was discovered in Kenosha yesterday when the mother of Earl Marshall, gave out the story of his birth and early life. The story shows that for eight years after the birth of the boy, he is now more than 20 years of age, he was regarded as a female child by even his parents.

Marshall was the young man who a short time ago attempted to shoot his sister and her husband on the evening of the shooting. After Marshall had discovered the sensation that had been caused by the act, he is alleged to have written a letter to the Courier at Ottumwa, Iowa, his former home, which gave the key to the mystery of his birth. The letter to the Iowa paper, which was received the latter part of last week, was alleged to have been written by a sister of Marshall, and was as follows:

"Courier, Ottumwa, Iowa: The shooting that happened at our home in Kenosha on the evening of Sept. 1 was given out to the papers wrong. Eva Marshall, my sister, fired the shot, and she told the reporter that it was a fellow by the name of Earl Marshall, to shield her so that they wouldn't arrest her. She (Eva) left the city and it may be that she went to Ottumwa. Would you please let us know if you hear that she is there? She didn't have any intention of harming my sister or Mr. Roberts, and said that she fired to scare them, as Nellie was angry with her. She never asked her to the wedding. Eva fired at the ceiling and couldn't hit them, as they were all standing together, and feels bad that they put a false report in the paper."

The letter was shown to the sister of Marshall in Kenosha yesterday and she at once denounced it as a forgery, but later Marshall himself admitted that he had written the letter to clear himself from the guilt. A search was made for the letter, but it was not found. The mother of the boy at first denied that the son had borne the name of Earl Marshall, but later she admitted that she had given him that name at the birth of the child.

She stated that the child had been born in Morgan, Ky., two years ago, and at the time of the birth the doctor had announced that a female child had been born. The mother was completely deceived as to the sex of the child and after a few weeks it was christened "Eva Marshall." The child was brought up as a girl, but when a child she showed signs of mental weakness and she was sent to a hospital at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, for treatment.

For four years she remained under the treatment of the physicians before the strange secret of sex was discovered. The parents of Marshall were at once notified of the discovery and hurried to Mount Pleasant. At this time the boy was named "Earl Marshall." The early teaching of the feminine nature had been so strong with the boy that when the clothes of a male were given him he refused to wear them, and for this reason he continued to be considered a girl. Miss Marshall, the mother of the boy, is still living in the city of Ottumwa, Iowa, where she has been repeatedly insisted on turning to the name of Earl Marshall, seen in Ottumwa, save in skirts.

Young Marshall is now an invalid and seldom leaves the home of his mother. At the time of the shooting he ran away from home, but returned a day later.

Admit That They Are at

New York, Sept. 22.—The directors of the Consolidated Lake Superior company, after a two-hour meeting yesterday, gave up the attempt to find a plan for saving the properties of the company, which are in the hands of Speyer & Co., as collateral for the loan of $5,000,000 made by the banking house to the company some time ago, and announced that the stockholders of the company were entirely at the mercy of the banking house, which could sell out the stock of the operating companies in the Consolidated Lake Superior company at any time they saw fit. With the announcement of this decision came a practical acknowledgment that the directors of the company had failed to save the company to a sound position had been blocked at every point by the great financial interests that are behind steel companies in the United States.

After the meeting, speaking for the other directors, Mr. Speyer said: "Nothing has been done, because there was nothing that could be done. We did not come here to consider any plan that had been formulated. We came here to try to find one, and we failed. No feasible plan was presented. The directors can do nothing."

Mr. Speyer said that the directors of the Consolidated Lake Superior company had been lenient with the company. He said that the directors had been lenient with the company, and that they had been lenient with the company, and that they had been lenient with the company.

EXPLORING STOPS

No More Prospecting For Iron In Alborn Town Now.

Results of Drilling Said to Be Discouraging
Thus Far.

Explorations which have been conducted by several Duluth men, in township 52-15, for several months past, have been brought to a sudden termination.

This township is known as Alborn township, and the land that was being explored, is situated but a short distance from Alborn station on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road.

Indications of iron had been discovered on the property and it was believed that it was a rich deposit. The drilling was done by a company known as the Alborn Iron Mining company.

Whether the results of the drilling were found to be discouraging, whether the drill struck water, is not known, but the machinery has been removed and operations have ceased for the time being.

This property and the Highland property are located on a line drawn parallel to the Mesaba range, and many men interested in mining property held a theory that there was another range in this district, which might prove valuable.

There has been a large amount of prospecting in the district between Alborn and the Highland property, and many leases have been taken on lands in this district, but no finds of iron have been reported. Owners of property in the district between Alborn station and Highland.

Mr. Lammers, a local mining engineer, had charge of the explorations which have been conducted in Alborn township. He should report results, it is not unlikely that explorations would be renewed in the district between Alborn station and Highland.

OPENING OF CHURCH BAZAR

French Catholic Church Opens Fine Fair at the Armory.

The Armory presented a brilliant animated scene last evening on the occasion of the opening of the church fair, which is being given in aid of the St. Joan Baptiste church.

The interior of the building was very prettily decorated with flags and bunting, and the French tri-color was very much in evidence, and when draped with the American flag made a very attractive display.

The dining room and ice cream parlor run by the ladies of the church, while the museum and the fancy goods department were crowded with customers.

The fair opened by a short address from Father Guillet, the pastor of the church, who told of the object of the fair, which is to partly defray the expense of the new church building which is being erected at Twenty-fourth avenue, West and Third street. He also welcomed the visitors to the fair, and introduced Mayor Hugo.

Mayor Hugo made a brief and characteristic address, commending the efforts of the ladies to raise money for their church, and introducing into his address one or two remarks in French.

The fair will continue throughout the week.

HEINZE WILL FIGHT CLARK

Will Seek to Defeat Montana Senator For Re-Election.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The Heinze copper interests are to have their Eastern headquarters in Washington. The Aetna Banking and Trust company, financial agents for the Heinze properties, are to open this office not later than Oct. 1. The headquarters of the Aetna company are to be transferred to President A. C. Clements, formerly a resident of Washington and for many years associated in business with Mr. Heinze, to assume charge of the establishment. The vast amount of financial business connected with the Heinze interests will be managed so far as Eastern correspondents are concerned from here.

The announcement is received here as an indication of a sharper struggle between the Amalgamated Copper company and the A. C. Clements, who is now in the hands of the Heinze interests. The immediate force and purpose of the move is not known.

President Whitmore's step comes a report that Heinze will begin a fight against the re-election of Senator Clark. This means a long and bitter struggle, as Clark's term expires in March, 1907. Mr. Clements, Washington manager for the Heinze interests, has been in the city for some time, and is now in the hands of the Heinze interests.

MAY AID MILLER.
President of Stereotypers Opposed to Present Action.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The case of Assistant Foreman W. A. Miller, of the government printing office, who was reinstated in his position by order of President Roosevelt, after he had been dismissed of his expulsion from the local union, came up for informal discussion at the meeting yesterday of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. No statement could be obtained at the conclusion of the day's proceedings.

A new feature of the case appeared when President Whitmore of the Stereotypers' union, an employee at the government printing office, petitioned President Whitmore to give the support of the Federation to the petition for President Roosevelt's action in reinstating Miller.

President Whitmore is a lifelong Republican, and also one of the most prominent union men of the city. It is said that some other strong union men at the meeting were sent to President Whitmore in his hand.

The Central Labor union of this city last night took supplemental action in the case of W. A. Miller, and adopted strong resolutions which were sent to President Roosevelt urging his dismissal.

John Stoebe, a player in the Evansville baseball team of the Central league, died Monday of lockjaw. He broke a finger while playing two weeks ago and tetanus followed.

Residents of Olney, Ill., and vicinity were much disturbed Monday afternoon by an earthquake shock. The seismic movement was accompanied by heavy rumbling, the action seeming to travel from the south to the north and continuing several seconds.

William E. Collins, an employee of the Fry Manufacturing company, of Indianapolis, and a non-union man, was fatally assaulted on the street by a man supposed to be a union carrier. Collins refused, it is said, to discuss the respective merits of unionism and non-unionism with his assailant. The latter struck Collins a vicious blow on the head. The blow and the fall caused concussion of the brain from which Collins died.

CLEVELAND

many Candidate For Mayor.

New York, Sept. 22.—Col. George B. McClellan, Tammany's slated candidate for the mayoralty nomination, announced yesterday that he is going to Princeton this week, permitting the inference to be drawn that he would see ex-President Cleveland by arrangement while there. The following facts may be stated with respect to Col. McClellan's plan.

It was formed last April at a conference between Charles F. Murphy, Tammany leader, a close friend of McClellan's, and ex-senator Smith, of New Jersey. At this conference ex-senator Smith proposed that after Col. McClellan has been elected mayor by Tammany a letter should be presented to Cleveland, and during Col. McClellan's candidacy, and that Tammany should immediately after Col. McClellan's election endorse Cleveland's candidacy, presenting Cleveland as the candidate for the presidency.

Murphy gave an enthusiastic promise to ex-senator Smith with respect to Tammany's plan. Some exposure was made by a Tammany man who knows all about the Murphy-Smith conference that Smith gave his personal assurance that he would procure such a letter from Cleveland. Murphy accepted these assurances and believes Smith stands ready to carry them out.

Smith said this afternoon that the Tammany leader expects Cleveland to become sponsor for McClellan. Some exposure was made by a Tammany man who knows all about the Murphy-Smith conference that Smith gave his personal assurance that he would procure such a letter from Cleveland. Murphy accepted these assurances and believes Smith stands ready to carry them out.

It is said, and is not pleased with the plan.

Diseases Cured!

Many people have suffered so much from unskilled and unscrupulous specialists that they have lost all faith in doctors. Many have paid large fees and have taken medicine for years to no benefit. They want to get well, and are willing to pay a good price to be cured, but they very justly object to paying a large fee in advance. They want a trial treatment. To all such I make this

REMARKABLE OFFER:
 Simply write me, giving your name and address, and stating as clearly as possible your trouble. When I have made a careful examination and diagnosis of your case, and entered it in my case book, I will write you my opinion. You are satisfied that I understand your case can make a small deposit in the bank pending the result of my treatment. I will then send you a trial package of medicine, which you can take at my risk. If it gives you any relief, the cost will be $5. If it fails to help you, it costs you nothing, and the bank will return your money.

ALL THE RISK IS MINE.
 Can anything be finer than this? I am making an offer which no other physician will make. They carry a line of specific medicine which can do anything for me to my financial standing and responsibility. I know they will cure, otherwise I wouldn't dare make this offer. It would ruin me, as I ship a hundred packages every day. I have tested this system for twenty years and I know that nine people out of ten are willing to try where they get any benefit.

NO CURE, NO PAY.
 is my motto. I do this to convince you who hesitate—who doubt all men's claims. I carry a line of specific medicine which can do anything for me to my financial standing and responsibility. I know they will cure, otherwise I wouldn't dare make this offer. It would ruin me, as I ship a hundred packages every day. I have tested this system for twenty years and I know that nine people out of ten are willing to try where they get any benefit.

LADIES: Married or single, are you troubled with any of the following? Kidneys, Stomach, Liver and Bowels, Nervous Troubles, Sexual Weakness, Varicose and Throat and Lung Troubles cured as if by magic.

Medicine for all troubles peculiar to their sex, no matter from what cause. Ladies, no exposure. Medicine by mail. If in trouble call or write. Delays are dangerous. Medicine sent anywhere by mail or express. Write for question list. Office hours, 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sunday, 9 to 12 p. m.

MURDER IS CHARGE MONEY FOR AN ARM

Simon Koppang on Trial
For Murder In Second Degree.

Killed Marshal McLaughlin of Mountain Iron on June 6.

Murder in the second degree is the charge against Simon Koppang, indicted as Sam Berg, on trial in district court today before Judge Ensign and a jury.

That means intentional killing, but without premeditation, and the punishment is life imprisonment.

The victim of the killing was Michael McLaughlin, marshal of the village of Mountain Iron, and the deed was done June 6, this year. A miner coming to the marshal that he had been robbed of $400 at the Mountain Iron mine, and furnished him with a description of the highwayman. McLaughlin started out to look for the robber and saw two men on the railroad track, whom he accosted. He was searching them when one ran away. He fired at the fugitive, and Koppang then opened fire on the officer, killing him.

Koppang claims that he took McLaughlin for a hold-up man, and that he fired in self-defense. He was wounded himself and was in a critical condition for a time.

C. O. Baldwin is defending Koppang, and County Attorney McClellan is prosecuting in behalf of the state. The state was still introducing testimony this morning.

Willis Jackson and Peter Staples, indicted together for assault in the first degree and tried together on that charge, were called after the jury returned its verdict yesterday afternoon.

Jackson was found guilty of assault in the second degree, and Staples was adjudged not guilty. Staples went free and Jackson went back to the county jail to await his sentence.

Chief Troyer Will Stop Shooting Within the City Limits.

The police department has undertaken an active campaign against all persons, big or little, that persist in shooting firearms within the city limits.

Every day for the week past Chief Troyer's office has been besieged by anxious and indignant citizens from every suburb of the city, even to Duluth Heights, protesting against the persistent shooting that is going on, and assurance has been given that the entire available police force will be put on duty Saturday morning to hunt in the tools of the law all offenders caught using firearms within the city limits, whether they are shooting birds, a mark, each other, or inoffensive citizens and their families.

An example is to be made of all that are caught and ample warning is being given, so that nobody will have no opportunity to continue to offend. Chief Troyer says that he knows they are breaking the law. The court holds that ignorance of the ordinance is no excuse, and that the penalty has been shown in cases where ignorance was palpable. The difficulty with Katherine Mueller in the Mueller case has been straightened out, and the stipulations that will put the case on the October calendar of the supreme court have been filed.

Under these stipulations the defendants waive their right to appeal if the case is not ready for entry upon the October term calendar of the supreme court. The stipulations are not all signed by next Monday Judge Cant's order settling the case for appeal is to be vacated.

The plaintiffs also signed a stipulation, a concession to the defendants, to the effect that they will join in a request to the supreme court that the case be set for trial not earlier than Jan. 1, 1904.

JERSEY CITY WOMAN
 Does the Work of Her Husband.
 New York, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Lizzie Maschinski, of Jersey City, owns the house in which she and her husband, John Maschinski, reside. When she bought it the rear of the cottage was painted yellow. She did not like the color and asked her husband, who is a painter, to repaint the rear and make it green. He said he would, but procrastinated it until his wife became weary. Yesterday she donned a suit of her husband's clothes, brought out some green paint from the cellar, borrowed a ladder and proceeded to make the rear of the cottage a lovely emerald hue. Her husband, who is a painter, was told her she was a better painter than he and told her she was a better painter than he. Some of them even advised her to take up her husband's work and let him stop at home to attend the housework.

Kline Gets $5000 Verdict Against Minnesota Iron Company.

Sadie Wadleigh Gets $5500 From Street Railway Company.

Five thousand dollars for the loss of one arm.

That is what Mark M. Kline will get from the Minnesota Iron company, if the verdict returned by the jury in his case this morning is allowed to stand.

He sued for $25,000, his left arm having been cut off by a stripping train that was engaged upon the stripping of the Adams mine. He was employed on a pusher engine that was helping to propel the cars that were hauling the dirt taken away by the stripping train.

The other train, instead of passing, bumped into his, and he lost his left arm. As he is left-handed, this is equivalent to the loss of a right arm by ordinary persons.

The case went to the jury about 5 o'clock last night, and before midnight the jury agreed upon a verdict, which it turned into court this morning.

The Duluth Street Railway company was hit yesterday afternoon a little harder than this, the jury in the case of Sadie Wadleigh against the company returning a verdict for $5500 after deliberating less than four hours.

Wadleigh was badly hurt, last June in a collision in which the car from which she was about to emerge, was struck by another car. She sued for $10,000.

Another personal injury case against the Duluth Street Railway company was taken up in Judge Dill's room yesterday afternoon, and it went to the jury shortly after noon today, there being but few witnesses on either side.

Mrs. Alice Lockery is the plaintiff, and she seeks $5000. She claims that she was attempting to board a street car on Superior street April 4, 1903, when the car started up and she was thrown to the ground, suffering numerous bruises. She claims that she has been suffering from headaches and dizziness ever since. John Jensen, Jr., is her attorney, and Thomas S. Wood appeared for the company.

Judge Cant, this noon, was trying the case of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company against the defendants, and he recovered $302.72 alleged to be due as a balance on a bill of goods amounting to $1349.02. The defendants, who recovered $302.72 alleged to be due as a balance on a bill of goods amounting to $1349.02. J. E. COOLEY
 County Auditor Halden Will Reply to His Statement.

County Attorney Halden and his deputy, L. A. Martin, in answer to a statement in answer to that made by J. E. Cooley, the Duluth member of the state board of equalization, for presentation to the legislative assembly.

Mr. Halden said this noon that he did not know whether or not he would answer the statement made by Cooley in his statement ready for tonight's meeting of the club, when the Cooley letter will be read, but that he intended to do it, if possible.

Mr. Cooley's explanation, said Mr. Halden, "and I fail to see where it meets the situation in any respect. Whether or not I do or do not, I do not know, but he has manipulated figures so as to make them very misleading, and should like very much to put the matter before the Commercial club as it is."

MORTALITY
 IN CITIES Smaller In Those Having A Very Large Population.

Berlin, Sept. 23.—Dr. Karl Ballod read a paper today before the International Statistical conference, on the mortality in large cities, contending that cities having a population of a million, in western Europe, were healthier than smaller cities, because the latter's sanitary precautions were far inferior to those of the larger cities. Berlin, he said, was the most healthy and London and Vienna came next. Paris was the worst of all. Country populations were the least healthy, but country people going to the cities were healthier than town-bred persons. While the rural populations were stationary in Germany since 1871, the cities had doubled their numbers and the country was increasing in population by nearly a million a year.

WILL DRESS OUTPUT

Red Cliff Lumber Company to Use Duncan & Brewer Mill.

Will Soon Be Dressing Part of Lumber It Produces.

Beginning as soon as the necessary machinery can be installed, the Red Cliff Lumber company, which is one of Duluth's largest lumber firms, will dress its own output.

The officials of the company have become convinced that the advantages to be gained by such a move will place the firm in a position where it can successfully compete in all fields against those who, in other cities, operate mills for dressing lumber, but who order the rough material from Duluth and other points.

For the last year the American Lumber company has dressed its own product, and the results have been such as to show other owners of large mills that the invention was a wise one. This may eventually lead to the establishment of more mills in this city which will turn out finished material in the shape of sash, doors, blinds and inside finishings.

The Red Cliff Lumber company only recently decided to dress its product at the old Duncan & Brewer mill at Thirty-ninth avenue west, and is making preparations to carry the change into effect. For the purpose of getting business an office will be opened in Chicago, and it is thought that the company will receive orders in sufficient numbers to warrant the increasing of the capacity of its mills.

In speaking of the subject this morning, Arthur Gilbert said:

While we do not know exactly to what extent we will carry out the idea of dressing our own product, we believe that we have good prospects in this line. We will begin with a small output of dressed lumber, but will increase our capacity as fast as the business warrants. We have come to the conclusion that we can operate to better advantage by producing the dressed lumber.

Owing to the fact that freight rates on dressed lumber and that in the rough are practically the same, the advantages to a manufacturer in handling the dressed product are those obtained through knowing exactly what the product costs and being able to do away with the profit of the middleman who now dresses lumber in other cities.

A PATIENT LOSE

Typhoid Sufferer Runs, Unclad, From St. Mary's Hospital.

Nothing Heard and It Is Feared He Has Died.

Delirious with typhoid fever, without any covering except a light bath robe, Oscar Gustafson, a patient in St. Mary's hospital, escaped from the institution about 3 o'clock this morning and up to this afternoon had not been heard from.

Gustafson was brought to the hospital from Clouet some days ago for treatment at the local hospital, with a well-developed case of typhoid fever. As is often the case his fever was accompanied with delirium, and escaping the vigilance of the hospital attendants during the early morning hours, he slipped out and ran away from the institution.

Immediate search was instigated, and the police department was notified, but all efforts up to this noon were unavailing. Not a single person can be found who even saw Gustafson, but that is not regarded as very singular as the streets would be deserted at such an hour at almost any period of the year.

Gustafson cannot speak a word of English and even were he to stop at some house he would be taken for a crazy man and he would be unable to get assistance unless it should be the home of some one of his own nationality.

The police and hospital authorities believe that the escaped patient has started across the country. Clouet, while working was telephoned there this morning to look out for him it would be almost a miracle if Gustafson had reached that city, even were he to meet with no interference.

Local physicians say that the chances of finding him alive are rather slim, the only hope being that he has been taken in by some family near the city and cared for. In such event it would seem strange if no report did not reach the police department before this noon.

The impression about police headquarters is that Gustafson has died in the underbrush or some ravine and, exhausted after his violent efforts, has laid down and died. They do not believe he will be found alive because the exposure to the cold night air and his exertions will aggravate his illness.

AMONG THE RAILROADS

Rock Island Addresses Employees—Great Northern Men Meeting.

The Rock Island road has issued a circular letter to its employees in which the evils of cigarette smoking and the drinking of intoxicants are fully set forth, with an order to the effect that the use of either is equivalent to a discharge from the service of the road. The company holds that drinking and cigarette smoking increase the percentage of disasters due to human fallibility, and hopes to secure a higher standard of efficiency as a result of the order.

Representatives of all car men employed on all divisions of the Great Northern road will request a conference with the service of the road for the purpose of submitting a request for an increase in wages similar to those presented by the car men of other branches of the service. The car men are in session at the Foley hotel in St. Paul, and in addition, among the rules governing their employment.

Attorney Does Not Want Them In Court Room.
Cripple Creek, Sept. 22.—Gen. Chase produced in court today four military prisoners for whom writs of habeas corpus were issued, and a strong force of troops was stationed in and about the court house. Former Attorney General Eugene Engley, who instituted the habeas corpus proceedings, protested against the presence of thirty soldiers in the court room, declaring it to be in violation of the constitution, and as they were permitted to remain, he withdrew from the case. Argument on the motion to quash the habeas corpus proceedings was resumed.

REUNION OF TELEGRAPHERS

Many of the Old Timers Meet at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 22.—The twenty-third annual reunion of old time telegraphers and historical association and society of the United States Military Telegraph corps was held here today. The convention was called to order by President Fry in the assembly room of the Merchants and Manufacturers association, the first ceremony being the dedication of the executive with the Morse medalion by Col. Bender Wilson. Then followed the address of welcome by Acting Mayor Corcoran. The regular business of the convention followed. A resolution providing for an amendment to the by-laws to provide for the election of two vice-presidents instead of one was voted the state of Pennsylvania for a medalion which was conferred on Col. Bender Wilson in recognition of his important service as a telegrapher during the raid and invasion into the state during the years 1862, '63 and '64. Resolutions were also adopted thanking the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Chicago & Northwestern railway companies for courtesies extended. The election of officers followed:

President, Charles C. Adams, Atlanta, Ga.; first vice president, W. H. Stevens, Atlanta, Ga.; second vice president, H. H. Adams, Atlanta, Ga.; secretary-treasurer, John Brant, New York.

Committee on the part of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, L. D. McFarland, of Montreal, and H. C. Hope, of St. Paul, Atlanta, Ga., was selected as the next place of meeting.

Henry C. Robinson of Camden, N. J., who has the distinction of having sent the first telegraph message across the continent, was among those attending the convention. He was one of the men who were sent to the front during the war of the rebellion, and as a trial, a balloon was sent up 100 feet and the following message was sent over a wire connected with the war department:

"Up in a balloon, Washington, April 18, 1861. To his excellency, President Lincoln: It stands one which pleasure at this elevation to send you herewith the following message: The telegraph is a great thing. I desire to express my thanks to you for the use of the balloon in the military service of the government. Respectfully, T. C. S. Lowe."

The secretary's report that during the year, 96 new members were enrolled, 17 died, five resigned and 10 were expelled from the rolls. The treasurer's report showed a balance in the treasury of $1,000.00. The association is a national support of the association to the telegraphers of America.

SILBERSTEIN & BONDY COMPANY*Nearly a Hundred Thousand Dollars Worth of New, Fresh Goods

Pouring into this store within the past several weeks is a slight indication of our early readiness—The cream of all this will go to those who have learned by experience that early-in-the-season shopping is the best—it's like being early to market—or like the old saying about "the early bird catching the worm!"

And how light they all are—no headaches this year from wearing hats loaded down with trimming and as heavy as lead.

If you are tired of black and don't want colors, try a gun-metal hat. It's a refined, satisfactory sort of color—one you won't tire of.

Closely by are the simple outing hats—in so many different styles that there is no danger of not being suited.

Prices start at $1.75 and climb slowly up to $9.

The New Fall Waists.

Almost as dainty and daring as though Paris had sent them!

Vesting seems to claim first place, soft, satiny grounds, with little blurs of color drifting through them like faintly tinted clouds at sunset, tiny fairy-like blossoms, again a sturdy almost "Scottish tweed" effect. Scores of designs. You'll not only find one you like, but dozens. $2.25 to $2.75.

Wool crash is another favorite. Some are piped with color, and some trimmed with dainty little buttons and dashing touches of mystic Oriental-looking embroideries. $3.75 to $6.75.

Then the wool Frunellas, soft and velvety-looking, almost as corduroy, trimmed daintily, $6 to $10.

But every suitable material for the season ahead is here, trimmed artistically and appropriately.

Flannel, $2 to $6; albatross, $4.50 to $7.50; prunella, $5 to $8; cashmere, $6 to $7.50; mohair, $1.50 to $5; madras, $1 to $3.50; sateen, $5c to $1.50.

Some especially smart waists or shirts, as they are named, are made by Fisk, Clark & Flag Co., who are well known for their high-class things. Some Roman striped washable flannels, and some other novelty waists, as well as plain, heavy butcher's linens, are among this late invoice. $3.75 to $10.

"FAIR FAIR," ALL LINEN WAISTS.

Women who have bought these "smart" waists are enthusiastic over them. Made as simple as can be, and yet dressy, white collar and cuffs, $4.75 and $5.75.

Fine Record Made and Even More Expected Next Year.

Next Monday evening the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian association will take place at the rooms on West Superior street. It is a delightful room, large, well-lighted and with the splendid baths in connection the course will be beneficial.

The domestic science department will open this fall also. Miss Alice M. Keeney is in charge of this department. Miss Keeney is a graduate of Wellesley and Pratt Institute of New York, and will have classes in general cooking, in plain and fancy sewing, and in the special training of maids. There will be also classes for children.

The classes for the year open Oct. 6, and at the annual meeting a large attendance is desired of members and those interested in the work.

ARE VERY CANNY

Masters and Pilots Avoid Complications With the Government.

Stopping Traffic Works a Hardship on Ordinary Seamen.

The trouble between the Masters' and Pilots' association of the great lakes and the Pittsburgh Steamship company and other companies controlled by A. B. Wolvin, manager of the Steel corporation's fleet, has led to much conjecture as to how the association would avoid trouble with the United States government. Masters and pilots are all licensed officers—that is, they secure certificates from the government after examination which entitle them to serve in the capacities which they show themselves able to. Among the rules which they must subscribe to when they get these licenses is the following, known as section 449 of the statutes of the United States:

"If any licensed officer shall, to the hindrance of commerce, wrongfully or unreasonably refuse to serve in his official capacity in a vessel, he shall be authorized by the terms of his certificate of license, or shall fail to deliver to the applicant a sufficient reason therefor, or if any pilot or engineer shall refuse to admit into the pilot house or engine room any person whom the master or owner of the vessel may desire to place there for the purpose of learning the profession, his license shall be revoked, upon the same proceedings as are provided in other cases of revocation of such licenses."

Under a ruling of the secretary of the treasury made in 1893, licensed officers who refuse to perform the service that comes under their duties, because some other man is not a member of an organization, are liable to have their licenses revoked. There is no ruling later than this which reverses, and while it has never been tested in the courts it stands as the law of the department.

The trouble now on the lakes is understood to have originated over the employment of a man as master of one of the Pittsburgh Steamship company's boats who is not a member of the Masters and Pilots' association. This is not one of the Steel company's boats, but men in the Steel company are interested in the company and Mr. Wolvin is the manager.

The tying up of the boats has been precipitated in every case by the quitting of the mates. The mates report that they cannot go without mates, first and second, and that they have been unable to get their own mates. They then lay off the boat and puts it out of commission.

The indignity of this plan lies in the fact that the master is under contract for the season and would be subject to the discipline of the government if he deserted his post. Mates, on the contrary, are hired only by the trip as are the firemen, deck hands, etc. They are ordinarily paid $45 per month for the season, but they sign articles every trip before the start of the season. They are free to go if they choose. They cannot be held for violation of contract because they complete their contract before quitting. With mates gone the boats are useless. The mates take their places in the boats at all times for the season.

Ordinary seamen and wheelmen will be hard hit by the strike of the mates on the vessels of the Pittsburgh fleet. The laying-up of the boats will necessarily mean that the seamen and other hands on board the vessels will be laid off, and hundreds of them will be thrown out of employment.

This enforced idleness, moreover, will come at the worst time of the whole year for the men. On Oct. 1, according to the contract now in force, the Seamen's union, the wages of the men will be increased. The wheelmen, who have been paid $45 per month during the summer, were to receive $60 per month after the first of October, and the ordinary seamen, who have been receiving $25 per month were to get a corresponding raise.

This plan was a compromise between the union and the vessel owners, agreed upon last spring. According to this scale the men received less than last year during the summer months, but the large increase in wages during the fall would have more than made up the deficiency. The tying-up of the vessels, however, will force them into idleness at a time when the rate was forthcoming.

There is considerable railroad and woods work going on in this part of the country, and one of the men in speaking of the effect of the strike on the seamen, "and the majority of us will have little difficulty in finding work for the winter. The loss of the fall's work, with the extra $15 per month, however, is a sore point with many of us. It makes our wages for the year less than what we received last year, in spite of the fact that the wages of nearly every other class of labor on the lakes has been increased, and living expenses are higher."

"It may go hard with some of the men that are forced to quit at the lower lake ports. There will be a far greater number of them down there, as all the boats are tying up there, and some of them may have a hard time of it finding employment for the winter. The majority of the men who lay up here go to the woods for the winter."

"Now of the men who have been laid off will look for their winter's employment for some time yet. They will take a holiday and remain around the ports in the hope that the fleet may be again put into commission."

GOTCH DID IT.
Whitcomb, Wash., Sept. 23.—Frank A. Gotch, of Humboldt, Iowa, last night fulfilled his ambition to throw Frank Coleman, of Chicago, and Emil Klauk, of Danville, Ill., one of them once and the other twice in ninety minutes without taking any rest, catch-as-catch-can style. Coleman claimed the middleweight championship of America. Gotch is the champion of the world.

VALUE OF HUMAN HAIR.

Pure White or Ash Blonde Very Valuable.

The police reported last week the arrest of two young thieves who were accused of stealing 300 pounds of human hair from a dealer, says the New York Press. "There is probably some mistake about that case," remarked a Chicago hair dealer, "but it is a very interesting one. If the hair they stole was only average quality American hair, and they had 300 pounds of it, its value would be about $300. If it was fine imported hair its value could easily have been $250,000. Hair is the most expensive commodity on the market, short of rubies and diamonds. It costs more than its weight in gold. Some hair costs $100 an ounce. That is $1000 a pound. If the youthful thief thieves had made away with hair of this quality their swag would have been in the neighborhood of $250,000. But this expensive hair necessarily exists in very small quantities. That is why it is so rare and so expensive. This particular hair which costs $100 an ounce is the pure white hair, un-dyed, and is cut from the head of a living person, and measuring at least thirty inches. Shorter hair of the purest order gets a high price, but in all the United States there is probably not a pound and a half of this perfect white hair for sale. Many aged people have it, but those who do not sell it."

The Anker $3.50 Shoe.
Is the best on earth at the price. It's made direct to our order from best leathers and our guarantee goes with every pair. Kenney & Anker.

without first having an expert examine it. If it is tinged with yellow, its value is reduced to almost nothing. We can get plenty of long white hair tinged with yellow, but the pure white is extremely rare and very expensive. A wig made for the wife of a Chicago bank president by me two years ago of this pure white hair cost the lady $1200. And it took me nearly a year to collect the hair from all over the country. I used about five ounces in the wig.

"Girls who live in Harlem or the suburbs sometimes get dead broke while down town, and want to know what they can sell their hair for. A mother once brought her 14-year-old daughter in to me to ask if I would buy the daughter's hair. I refused, because I don't make a business of buying hair raw, as we say."

"I should say that hair on a young girl's head, if about thirty inches long and of fair quality, would bring the owner from $5 to $10, according to length and thickness. But an American girl who sells her hair for this trifling sum is acting very foolishly. Of course, if she is only 14 or 15, it will grow long again, and cutting the hair does not improve the growth, but I never advise any American girl to part with her hair."

"The most expensive shade, next to the white hair I have mentioned, is the white hair I have mentioned. It is a mouse-colored hair, very rare, and pale peroxide blonde produced by artificial means, but the natural pale blonde. Hair of this kind is equally worth $50 an ounce, but very few people have it."

"The cheapest kind of hair is black Chinese hair, cut from the queues of Chinamen. You can buy this hair for $5 a pound. It is used only for stage purposes, in making what we call Mikado wigs."

"This is the busy season of the year for wig makers. I estimate that between now and Sept. 1, when the theatrical season opens, the output for the season will include about 400 souretré wigs with fluffy curls to be worn by rough souretrés; about 1500 white wigs for use in the mask Shakespearean plays that are scheduled for production; about 300 Oriental wigs for Biblical plays; about 500 Japanese wigs for several big productions; about 600 brown George wigs for general use and for Shakespearean plays; about the same number of light wigs for use in the rough-and-tumble farce comedies; and a number of special wigs made for certain persons."

"The season's output will include also no less than 1500 fluffy wigs for chorus girls. These chorus girls buy them singly and pay for them themselves, whereas the management usually pays for the wigs of a big production. The chorus girl invests in a wig made for herself because it is easier and prettier to wear a wig every night than it is to cut her own hair."

"The prices on wigs vary from $2 for a rough black wig to $200 for a fine wig made for a queen. I charged $150 for a most peculiar wig which I made a few months ago."

"A beautiful young woman, who refused to give her name, called on me and said she wanted a wig to be worn with her own hair, which would reach to the floor. She was a blonde, and I succeeded after some difficulty in getting the hair she desired. I made it up so that it fastened under her own hair, and when she put it on it touched the ground and looked real. She refused to say why she wanted it or who she was. She paid me the $150 and I have never seen her since. Since she was not an actress, and didn't look like an advertisement for hair oil, I can only conclude that she wanted to appear in some amateur theatricals."

"There are other people who wear wigs too. Some of them are Spiritualistic mediums. For a long time I was puzzled by orders from the Middle West, accompanied by photographs of elderly men. I was requested to make up wigs and beards so that they were exact copies of the particular style of hair dressing shown in the photograph."

"I never found out until afterward that the orders came from a clever faker who posed as a Spiritualistic medium. The photos he sent me were pictures of prominent dead citizens in small Western towns."

"He had a confederate who visited these towns a month or more in advance of the faker. This confederate collected photos of prominent dead citizens. These were sent on to me, and I made the wigs and beards required. They were delivered to the faker, and at the proper time during a seance an exact reproduction of the dead citizen would appear as an apparition from the cabinet. A confederate, cleverly made up, posed as the spirit."

"Needless to say, the advent of the spirit of a prominent citizen created consternation, and the faker was hailed a marvelous Spiritualist. I don't know where the faker is now, but he coined so much money that he deserves a percentage of his profits for the way he impressed upon me and made me an innocent accomplice of his deception."

A SCHOOL FAIR

Pupils of Bryant School Show Results of Their Gardening.

They Exhibit Vegetables, Flowers of Wide Variety—Prizes Awarded.

The first annual "fair" of the Bryant school was held yesterday afternoon. The idea of interesting the children of the local schools in gardening and the care of domestic animals, was introduced last year by Miss Thompson, of the Emerson school. It was taken up this year by Miss E. H. Griener, principal of the Bryant school, and the results of the summer's work of the children are on exhibit today.

The parents of the children will visit the school this afternoon for the purpose of inspecting the results of the children's work. A similar fair will be held at the Emerson school this afternoon and tomorrow. The prizes will be awarded this afternoon, and tomorrow the parents of the children will be given an opportunity to inspect the exhibits.

The experiment of encouraging the study of kitchen gardening is a comparatively new one in the Duluth schools, and is possible largely through the generosity of Directors Washburn and Moe of the school board. The principals of the Emerson and Bryant schools asked for a small appropriation from the board last spring to purchase seeds for distribution among the children. The members of the board did not feel justified in making any extra demands on the school funds, which were in a somewhat depleted condition, but Mr. Washburn and Mr. Moe contributed the required amount. The seeds were distributed last spring among the children, who have tended them carefully during the summer months. Now little rivalry has been aroused in the competition for the best results, and the children have become deeply interested in the work.

The following is the list of prizes awarded yesterday afternoon at the Bryant school: Cut flowers, Myrtle McIntosh; poppies, Emma Swanson; asters, Violet Ollendick; bouquets of mixed flowers, Stanley Adams; local vegetables, Edward Carlson; cauliflower, Ray Goodhand; squash, Roy Sundholm; string beans, Emily Merritt; tomatoes, Edwin Carlson; gourd, Coleman; Parker; potatoes, (four sizes), Arthur Hammarbeck, Percy Cleary, Ethel McElvin, Ruby Peterson; string plants, Hilda Anderson; foliage plants, Ellen Hedberg; chlechs, Herbert Sampson; pigons, Leslie Tandy; rabbits, Mathilda Thjese; embroidery, Florence Fraussen; sofa pillow, Florence Trudor; crochet work, Clara Hagberg.

W. C. T. U. WORKERS
Make Crusade Against Immorality in Schools.
Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 23.—Before the first Milwaukee Union of the Women's Christian Temperance union, Mrs. W. J. Allen, chairman of the purity league, which is making a crusade against immorality in the public schools, said that the W. C. T. U. wanted the subject of sex taught in the public schools. In a paper she said in part:

"The W. C. T. U. wants to have the subject of sex taught in the public schools, beginning with the kindergarten and continuing up through the grades."

"Much of the immorality in the schools as well as in the world is due to ignorance. Parents should tell their boys and girls about their origin and not use a senseless subterfuge when asked by curious little folks about things which older and perhaps more vulgar boys and girls have told them."

Mrs. Martha Bauman, who took part in the discussion that followed, said she knew one school in the city where immorality existed to an appalling extent. Her little 16-year-old daughter, she declared, had told her about it. Invitations, she said, of a most immoral and indecent character, which left but little to the imagination, were freely given by the young boys to the girls. Teachers and principals of the school, she said, did not know of the extent of the depravity that existed there.

CURIOSITY OF SWEDEN

Gets Him Into Trouble With Officers at Sagamore Hill.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 23.—A suspicious character giving his name as Samuel Swenson, was held up by the secret service officers at Sagamore Hill late yesterday afternoon, while making an effort to see the president. He was turned back to the village, shadowed, stopped in Oyster Bay and searched, and later placed on a train for New York. He was unarmed and appeared to be a harmless crank, possibly a religious fanatic. Swenson, who is a slightly built man, about 35 years old, with a reddish brown beard and mustache, blue eyes and a strongly French accent of countenance, walked up the roadway leading to Sagamore Hill, about 4:30 yesterday afternoon. He was shabbily attired, his clothes being badly torn in several places. He was stopped by a secret service officer.

Swenson told the officer that he was a Swede and had come from New York to see the president at Sagamore Hill, having read about the president's summer home in the newspapers. A short time before the president, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, had gone from the house to the woods near by to chop wood, that being a favorite exercise of his.

The man was turned back by the officer, who told him the president was not at home. Swenson, who said he was a gunner, looked curiously about the grounds and then started on his return to the village. He was followed by another officer. One of the president's road wagons.

Swenson asked a passing driver for a ride and rode to the village with him. He had scarcely arrived at Oyster Bay when he was taken from the wagon by two officers, searched and examined. Swenson had nothing in his pockets except about $4 in money and a Swedish religious newspaper. On a piece of paper he wrote his name and address in a perfectly legible hand. He said he lived in the Saussey hotel in New York city. His only object in coming to Oyster Bay, he said, was to see Sagamore Hill and the president about whom he had heard and read a great deal. He arrived here on the 3:30 train, but did not have a return ticket to New York. After examining him thoroughly, the officers were convinced he was not a spy, and that he was neither an anarchist nor a socialist. He readily acceded to the suggestions of the officers that he leave the village. They accompanied him to the station, and he bought his own ticket to New York. He took the 8:00 train.

Swenson's behavior, however, was not without comment. He was a Swede and had come from New York to see the president at Sagamore Hill, having read about the president's summer home in the newspapers. A short time before the president, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, had gone from the house to the woods near by to chop wood, that being a favorite exercise of his.

MARRIED ON TRAIN

Speeding Along at Forty Miles an Hour.

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 23.—W. Dell Balch, of this city, and Miss Rose Lynch, his bookkeeper, were married on the north-bound Adirondack express while the train was whizzing forty miles an hour between Remsen and Forest Park, N. Y.

The clergyman who made their man and wife at such speed, had left a barber's chair half shaved to oblige them. Luckily his right cheek had been shaved, so he presented his better side to the blushing, trembling bride when she made her vows. The parents of the bride had objected to the match.

A DOG IS PROPERTY. San Francisco, Sept. 23.—A dog is a chattel and next to man is the most important factor in the past and present history of the country. Such is the decision handed down in the United States court of appeals today on the petition of S. P. Randall, now in the state prison for larceny in the Hampden jail, Alaska, for a writ of habeas corpus. The writ was asked on the grounds that stealing a dog in Alaska was not larceny, as this animal is not specifically mentioned in the statutes.

ELECTIONS IN SERBIA. Belgrade, Sept. 23.—The elections to the Skupstina resulted in unexpected victories for the extreme radicals, of whom there were six. The house of representatives is composed of 88 Radicals, 16 Liberals and 2 Socialists. All the party leaders were elected. The Skupstina will meet in extraordinary session Sept. 27, when the ministry will resign. It is presently certain that Gen. Gruica will be the next premier.

CHARGES AGAINST CRONK. Omaha, Neb., Sept. 23.—George Cronk, past grand exalted ruler of the Elks, is to figure in an investigation before the local lodge of Elks in which his conduct in the sensational Cronk-Patterson episode of last spring will be aired.

M'BRIDE'S GOVERNMENT

Expected to Be Sustained by Close Vote.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 23.—The coming provincial election will probably be close. The campaign, which has only just opened, will be short, as election day is Oct. 3. The present Liberal-Conservative government—the Liberal-Conservative party, by the by, largely corresponds in essential policy to the Republican party of the United States—will probably be sustained by a small majority over its Liberal opponents.

The Socialists may nominate some ten candidates and the Labor party five or six for forty-two seats in all, but most will go to representatives of the older parties. The socialists may return two or three members at most, and the Labor party a like number, with, in all probability, a small working majority for the McBride Conservative government.

The latter's railway policy is understood to be distinctly favorable to the Great Northern extension by way of Courtenay to the Canadian Pacific quasi-monopoly.

ELKS TO INVESTIGATE

Charges Against Past Grand Exalted Ruler Cronk.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 23.—George Cronk, past grand exalted ruler of the Elks, is to figure in an investigation before the local lodge of Elks in which his conduct in the sensational Cronk-Patterson episode of last spring will be aired.

Charges against Cronk were filed some time ago, but owing to the paucity involved nothing was done. A sharp division in the lodge is said to have been created and a critical point has been reached. At the last meeting a communication written and filed by Cronk at the time of the occurrence was read, demanding an investigation. Despite vigorous objection on the part of the adherents of the past grand exalted ruler, an investigation committee was appointed.

THEY WANT WATER

Alderman McEwen Wants Water Plant For Duluth Heights.

Has a Scheme Which He Thinks Is Thoroughly Practicable.

The people of Duluth Heights have hope of the establishment of an independent water system in that suburb of the city within the next year.

Alderman McEwen, who has for some time past been an ardent advocate of the uphill system of city waterworks, has been working along the line of an independent plant that will fill the needs of the Heights for a few years and until the conditions are such as to warrant an extension of the city system.

The city water mains do not go above Fourth street. In the vicinity of the Seventh avenue incline and it has been figured out that it would require at least three lifts of the water from the Fifteenth avenue east reservoir to get it to the Heights. This would entail an expenditure estimated at $80,000. The city would not consider favorably a proposition to expend this sum unless assured of at least 8 per cent returns on the investment in water rentals. This would require an income of $7200 per year from the people of the Heights and this, even Alderman McEwen concedes, is out of the question at the present time.

Alderman McEwen's new scheme for an independent water plant is the erection of a large wooden tank on the hill over the Duluth Heights settlement, with gasoline engine power with a pumping capacity of 200 gallons per minute. A system of water pipes would be laid in a substantial manner that would ensure their use whenever the Heights should be connected with the city water system.

Mr. McEwen figures that the cost of an independent auxiliary water plant, such as would meet all the present requirements of Duluth Heights, would be about $10,000. Figuring on a return of 8 per cent on the investment to the city in water rentals, the people of Duluth Heights would have to pay in about $800 per year. Alderman McEwen claims that if forty families would guarantee to take the water from such an independent plant to the amount of $12 per year for each family, the success of the scheme would be beyond question.

He has talked the matter over with Mayor S. C. Carr of the city water and light department, and says that Mr. Carr is favorably impressed with the proposition and believes that it promises adequate water service to the citizens of that part of the city for the next few years while the city is growing, and the prospects of getting the uphill system completed are continually growing brighter.

Mr. McEwen says that he has found a strong sentiment in the Heights in favor of the independent water system. In fact, for any system that will promise them water for family use and for fire protection, and he believes he can get the name of almost every family now residing there on the guarantee to take the water if the city will put in the plant. He claims that the well water, with which the independent system would have to be supplied, is easily reached on the Heights and is of the best quality.

Plans are now being circulated among the residents of the Heights for names to present to the city council calling the proposed scheme to the city's attention.

VOLUNTEER DEPARTMENT

Duluth Heights Fire Fighters Hold Their Annual Election.

The annual meeting of the Duluth Heights volunteer fire department was held in the fire hall on the Heights last evening and resulted in the election of the following officers for the ensuing year. Captain, J. O. Walker; lieutenant, William Tolman; secretary and treasurer, Robert Henry; trustees, John Hogan, H. Wilson and W. E. McEwen.

The annual report of the secretary showed that the department was called out to three fires during the past year, has held thirteen meetings, all of which have been well attended, and evidences have been shown of the deep interest that the members take in the affairs pertaining to their organization.

Alderman W. E. McEwen presented his scheme for an independent water system for the Heights, to be owned by the city, and the department indicated the proposition and promised its support in the campaign to get the system.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Grand Lodge Officers Elected Were Duly Installed.

St. Paul, Sept. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today's session of the Knights of Pythias convention began with the installation of officers who were elected late yesterday.

Today's sessions of the grand lodge of Rathbone Sisters was occupied largely with the reading and adoption of new laws. Among the most important adoptions was a by-law providing for the payment of actual mileage to delegates instead of the former rate of a cent a mile. A permanent board of trustees was created from the grand chief, the grand senior and the grand junior. Formerly this board was elected from the delegates at each grand lodge. The grand mistress of records and correspondence was made chairman of the foreign correspondence as well. A by-law providing for the election of alternates at the same time that delegates are elected was also adopted.

SHEET STEEL PLANTS

Of the Trust May Be Closed Down Soon.

Pittsburg, Sept. 22.—The United States Steel corporation may close all its sheet steel plants in the near future unless the Amalgamated association will consent to a reduction under the same plan as was agreed upon last fall. The reason for this attitude is an overstocked market and the dullness of trade at this time of the year. Last year the association accepted a reduction of 2 per cent on all material made for foreign orders, and the Steel company, it is said, intends to make a similar year. President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated association, stated that he felt sure that the limit would not be changed, and that existing conditions do not warrant it.

BANKERS IN SESSION.

Ninth Annual Session of Pennsylvania Association.

Pittsburg, Sept. 22.—Bankers from every section of Pennsylvania and from New York, Chicago, Cincinnati and other cities were present at the Hotel Schenley today, when the ninth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Bankers association was called to order. Addresses of welcome were made by City Solicitor Benjamin H. Willock for the bankers. President McAllister's annual address was then presented which was followed by the reading of the reports of officials. The convention will close tomorrow with another business session when addresses will be made by E. S. Condit, of Duluth, and W. H. Smith, of Philadelphia, representing the banking department of Pennsylvania.

NO SETTLEMENT

With Government Ever Considered By Coal Company.

Denver, Sept. 22.—A settlement as to the coal lands between the government and the Colorado Fuel and Iron company has not been considered," said D. C. Beaman, attorney and secretary for the Coal and Iron company, today. The statement was made in denial of the report that the company had settled with the government in a lawsuit over coal lands by paying $500,000.

"The company's lands," continued Mr. Beaman, "have all been legally entered, and the title will be defended at all hazards. There is no disposition to entertain a proposition for compromise."

The reward will be $1000 and the express officials still insist that the robbers got no booty.

GERMAN LIQUOR STATISTICS. Berlin, Sept. 22.—The statistics of the imperial health office show that the total spent on alcoholic liquors in 1902 throughout the German empire was about $85,000,000, an average per head for persons over fifteen years old of $5. The health office has issued a pamphlet in which, while not advocating total abstinence, it says total abstinence is not disadvantageous to health and does not impair the working ability.

AT WEST DULUTH

For the second time this week, Joseph Joy, an Italian, living in West Duluth, has had occasion to make use of Justice of the Peace Lohrner Stone in order to punish his neighbors for minor offenses alleged to have been committed against him.

All of his troubles have come upon him while defending his wife. During the early part of the week he had taken her to the police station, where she was arrested for assault, which he claims was committed when he accused her of slandering his wife. Wendt jumped his bail of $25 and has not been seen since.

Nicola Paolino is the second offender. He was arraigned before the court last evening on a charge of slander.

Joy claimed that Paolino had made untruthful and slanderous statements concerning his wife. Paolino denied the charge and was released on his own recognizance to appear for trial this afternoon.

MADE NO MONEY. Harvest Fields Have Not Yielded Much This Year.

Edward Carlson, Olaf Johnson and Hans Peterson, three men who left West Duluth during the early part of the summer for the Dakota wheat fields, returned home yesterday poorer by several dollars than when they set out.

They report that it was impossible to make money in the wheat fields on account of the prevalence of wet weather, and although they earned $3 per day during the time they worked, they were unable to get in more than fifteen or twenty days during the six weeks they were gone. During the time they were idle they were compelled to pay their board which took their savings, and by the time they had purchased their dinner for home, they were poorer than when they left West Duluth.

Others who left West Duluth for the same destination are reported to have had little better luck.

The three men will secure work in the mills for the fall months.

POSTAL INQUIRY

Causes Saving of $105,000 in One Division.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Already the fruits of the postal investigation are being reaped in the form of a saving of $105,000 in the expenditures of one division alone for a period of four years.

There will be much greater savings when the reforms growing out of the investigation are inaugurated. See the officials believe the postoffice department will be self-sustaining within a short time. The saving already made is sufficient to pay the salaries of the postmaster general and his four assistants during their term of office.

The money order division is one in which there has been a curtailment of expenditures. The saving in this division is due Assistant Postmaster General Wynne, who called for new bids for supplies for the money order division. The new bids for supplies for four years are $31,000 less than the bids for the same supplies which were approved in the spring, and are $9000 less than the contract price for identical materials furnished four years ago. In other words, these supplies will be purchased for $60,000 less than the price paid for them in 1900.

Some time ago the department saved $45,000 on the contract for money order blanks. This is the contract which was responsible for the distasteful Superintendent Mitchell of the money order division. Therefore on these two contracts the government has saved $105,000. The other bureaus will be scrutinized and great savings are anticipated.

Work Started on New Children's Home on 15th Avenue East.

Will Be Handsome Structure and Adequate For Children's Needs.

The excavation for the new Children's Home building was begun this morning by George Lounsbury, who also has the contract for the superstructure.

The new home will occupy lots 14, 15 and 16, block 99, Endion division, or a tract 150 by 150 feet, at the upper corner of Fifteenth avenue east and Fifth street, on the east side of the avenue. It will face the avenue and overlook Chester Park on the west.

The plans for the new Children's home have been underway for some time by the Duluth ladies comprising the Children's Home society, and while they have been putting forth every effort to raise the funds necessary, not until the past year was the amount of money that would insure the completion of the new institution forthcoming.

It will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, the funds having been raised by subscription, entertainments and various other ways that reflect credit on the excellent and energetic manner in which the affairs of the society have been managed.

The present Children's home, on Superior street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenues east, while adequate for some years to the needs of the society, has been long outgrown and the necessity for newer and larger quarters has urged the society on to building in another location.

The new home will be a substantial and handsome structure, 70 by 100 feet of brick and stone, and three stories high, with a basement. Four floors will be finished.

The location is an ideal one in view of its proximity to the park and facilities for reaching it from the street, car lines.

Some objection was raised to a former proposed site of building the home in the East End residence district, but the location decided on is now regarded as far better for both the home and the East End residents.

The construction work will follow as soon as the excavation work can be completed, and the home will probably be ready for occupancy early next year.

IS PROUD OF HER COSTUME

Lillian Russell Model For a Well Dressed Man.

New York, Sept. 24.—Lillian Russell has decided she is "the" authority on the proper and becoming costume. "I am a new burlesque," she has studied the sartorial part of the new fashion, and she insists her stage garb will be such that Lawrence D'Orsay and others who wish to be well dressed must look to her for their cues.

It is a mistake to treat this matter humorously, as I am being treated. I am in earnest as I have never before. I'll be dressed entirely like a man. Not even about the footstep will there be any suggestion of femininity.

Poor Lawrence D'Orsay," she said. "His wardrobe is entirely masculine. When he sees me he'll feel like the earl of Fonthill."

Miss Russell exhibited the wonders of her manly wardrobe.

"I feel proud of it," she exclaimed, "because I am being treated as a man. I am in earnest as I have never before. I'll be dressed entirely like a man. Not even about the footstep will there be any suggestion of femininity."

FAVORABLE AND UNFAVORABLE FACTORS APPEAR IN MARKET.

Steady Booking of Business Gives Support to Hopeful Views.

Cleveland, Sept. 24.—The Iron Trade Review this week says: Favorable and unfavorable factors have appeared in iron trade movements of the past week. Considering the amount of rumor and sentiment abroad, tending to depress values, the fact that they have yielded so little in some cases and none at all in others, coupled with the steady booking of business in pig iron, and the new and unexpected complication on the labor side is the issue raised by the market. The issue is the right to employ a non-union man, and the affair may develop into large proportions.

The market record of the week has brought out little that does not duplicate recent weeks. Buying is going on steadily in iron, but prices have been slightly lower in some districts. Northern furnaces pressing the matter sharply, so that Southern producers find their territory still more restricted for the time being. The $11 Birmingham basis for Southern No. 2 continues in the East, and by comparison with the West, it is $1.25 to $1.75 for No. 2 has been made practically operative by some sellers in the West. West iron carrying $1.25 to 2.5 per cent silicon bringing $1.25 and iron with 2.5 to 3 per cent silicon, $1.17.

Steel has been in demand at $1.25 to $1.50 and of gray forge at $1.45. Bessemer pig iron has been in demand at $1.25 to $1.50 and of gray forge at $1.45. Bessemer pig iron has been in demand at $1.25 to $1.50 and of gray forge at $1.45.

CHILD STRUCK WITH A STRAP

Father Says Teacher Beat Him, Causing His Death.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Because he was unruly at school and did not learn his catechism, Leo Wineschek, 10 years old, 245 West Madison street, was chastised by his father this morning. He returned home in a bad temper, with a horse pin in his head, and Monday night he died after having been delirious for three days.

Daniels, who lives at 950 Ashland avenue, told police that he had held at the Deering street police station pending an investigation of the case.

The Wineschek family resided at the corner of Madison and Ashland avenues. Several neighbors reported that the father of the boy's disobedience were sent to the police station.

Friday morning, Daniels says, he struck the boy on the head with a strap, but according to John Wineschek, father of the boy, he was struck on the head by his teacher, his ears being pulled until they bled.

Dr. L. M. Stoffhaus, who attended the boy, told police that he had held at the Deering street police station pending an investigation of the case.

In his cell the teacher said: "The boy was struck on the head with a strap. The punishment was given him because he was unruly at school. He died after having been delirious for three days."

Before Leo because delirious he told me his teacher had asked him a question, the catechism which he could not answer, and then that the teacher had struck him on the head with a strap. He tried to break away, he said, and the teacher beat him with both hands over the ears and neck.

WAS IT A CRIME?

Question For the Jury In the Koppong Murder Case. Koppong Claims He Thought the Marshal Was Robber.

The jury will have a chance to decide this afternoon whether or not Simon Koppong, indicted as Sam Berg, when he killed Marshal Michael McLaughlin at Mountain Iron last June, was guilty of a crime.

He is charged with murder in the second degree, which means killing with intent, but without premeditation, and is likely to be punished by life imprisonment.

The case is somewhat mysterious. An Italian claimed to have been robbed of $100 and Marshal McLaughlin, with a description of the party that the Italian claimed was guilty, started out to look the case up. He ran across Koppong and another man along the railroad track outside of town. The killing happened shortly afterwards.

McLaughlin's story will never be known, for he died almost instantly. Koppong's story is plausible, though it does not entirely agree with the evidence of men that saw the shooting. He said on the witness stand that he and a man named Emerson were together walking along the railroad track. Emerson had two revolvers, and Koppong had one of them in his possession while they shot at marks. He says McLaughlin came up to him and without stating any reason for it, asked what he had in his pockets, and began to search him. Koppong thought he was being robbed. The latter looked and saw Emerson running away. McLaughlin fired again, and Koppong pulled his own revolver and fired at McLaughlin. McLaughlin fired a third time and Koppong a second time. He says that McLaughlin started in the direction taken by Emerson, and that he, being struck in the breast by a bullet, fell to the ground and then crawled into the brush. He was so weak that he could not get up, and when he heard voices could not speak loud enough to attract attention. Next morning he crawled on his hands and knees to Mountain Iron, and was afterwards taken to Duluth where the bullet was taken from his breast in St. Luke's hospital.

Three witnesses testified to the circumstances surrounding the shooting as they saw them. They said that McLaughlin walked down the track while they were waiting for a train, and disappeared around a curve. After a few minutes there was some shooting, and soon two men came around the curve along the track. They were walking side by side, and the third man says they were across the track from each other. The two men were talking to each other, and one of the witnesses claims to have heard the other say: "Come quick!" This is supposed to have been McLaughlin.

Then shooting began, and one of the men fell while the other went into the bushes. The difference between the stories is not wide. The theory of the state is that McLaughlin was shooting after Emerson when the third witness heard the first shot, and that he then took Koppong and walked toward him, the fatal shooting occurring as they rounded the curve in sight of the men that were waiting for the train.

Emerson never showed up again, and nobody, so far as is known, is aware of his present whereabouts. The Italian that the state has been robbed has also disappeared, and there is some doubt whether or not he was really robbed. County Attorney McClintock made his argument to the jury this morning, and C. C. Baldwin made his for the defense. Judge Einsen was then to charge the jury, after which it was to retire and determine whether or not Koppong is guilty of murder.

SHORTAGE OF ROCK

Supply Inadequate to Demands of Pending Street Improvements.

Rock Crushers Not Turning Out Product Fast Enough.

A shortage is imminent in the supply of crushed rock for the various street improvements now underway and that are being planned.

The resurfacing work on East First street will require a large amount of crushed rock, as the material is to be spread five inches thick over the thoroughfare from Sixth to Twenty-third avenue east.

Outside of this contract there is a strong possibility that crushed rock will be used to fill in between the rails and the tracks of the street railway company now under construction on Garfield avenue.

The city rock crusher has a daily capacity of about sixty yards of finished rock, and this alone will not nearly begin to supply the material that will be needed within the next few weeks.

One of the city officials said this morning that the West Duluth rock crushing plant, with its present output, will not help out the situation very much, because enough rock cannot be supplied the crusher to keep it running more than an hour at a time and a half per day. The fault is said not to lie with the plant but the insufficiency of the rock supply, as the company controlling the plant has not enough men on its crew quarrying rock to feed the plant.

Mr. McDonald, who will need a large amount of crushed rock for his contract for Central avenue improvement, said this morning that the situation looked very much as though he would have to put in his own rock crushing plant to get the supply of macadam that he would need.

THE GENERAL SENTIMENT.

The Commercial club gave expression to the general sentiment of the people of Duluth, when it unanimously adopted a resolution disapproving "in the strongest manner possible any attempt by the common council to curtail or interfere in any way" with the prerogatives of the water and light commissioners" and requesting the council to reconsider the resolution for a charter amendment taking from the board the right to fix salaries and vesting that right in the common council. In this connection high praise was bestowed upon the commissioners for their unselfish devotion and business ability in the interests of the city, without any remuneration except the knowledge of duty well done, and acknowledging the conspicuous success that has followed their efforts.

There is not a man in Duluth, outside of those with a personal grievance or a political axe to grind, that does not endorse the views so fitly expressed by the Commercial club.

NO NAVY GENERAL STAFF.

It looks as though the country would escape a general staff for the navy at present, thanks to the opposition expressed by Secretary of the Navy Moody, who does not believe in the proposition. Much criticism has already been made of the new army staff and at best it is well to wait and see whether it is an improvement over the old regime, or whether it will simply furnish more glory for bureaucratic officials and no benefit to the country.

The secretary of the navy has been under systematic coaching and instruction for the past five months at the hands of the leaders in the general staff scheme, who have endeavored to win him over to the proposition. He was absolutely non-committal at first, but showed a willingness to listen to arguments in support of the plan to establish a general staff in the navy. Gradually he showed interest in the subject, and finally it became noised about the department that he was in favor of the general staff and would advocate its adoption by congress. Reports of this sort have evidently come to the ears of Mr. Moody, for he took steps to end them. He announced that he would not ask congress to pass a law establishing a general staff, and that there was to be no legislation of this sort that must originate in the halls of congress, as he would not propose it.

Mr. Moody thinks that there is no necessity for such an organization in the navy; that all the functions that it is proposed to have it perform are now properly taken care of by the general board, the board of construction and the chiefs of the different bureaus. Secretary Moody thinks very well of the general board, of which Admiral Dewey is the head, and although he has not seen fit to adopt all the recommendations made by it, he is of the opinion that it is a very valuable organization.

Following out his intention not to encourage the establishment of a general staff, Secretary Moody has made a re-assignment of duties of certain of the boards and bureaus of the navy department. He has curtailed the functions of the powerful board on construction, transferring some of its former work to the general board, which evidently is destined to become a very influential organization. The board on construction has been informed that it need not take the trouble of considering and recommending types of vessels for construction. Under the Long administration this board determined what the department should ask of congress in the way of new ships, and was a potent factor in determining the building policy. All this work is now to be handled by the general board. Up to this time this board has confined itself to suggesting theories and policies for adoption in the service, but now it is to be given some of the practical work.

Secretary Moody is right in his views concerning the needlessness of a general staff for the navy at present, and he will receive the endorsement of the conservative people all over the country.

FEW DOUBTFUL STATES.

Of the states which have elections this fall the only one in doubt seems to be Maryland. There is a general prediction that Ohio, Massachusetts, Iowa and Kentucky will go as expected, but no one is certain as to Maryland. The "disturbed region" along the border between North and South has taken on alignments. Kentucky has gone over to the Democrats; it had but a solitary Republican in its congressional nomination and he died a few days ago. West Virginia has almost as completely gone over to the Republicans, making its alliance with Pennsylvania and the manufacturing states of the North. Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina, which ten years ago gave evidence of political upheaval, are now as securely Democratic as Texas. Delaware has responded to new conditions and is Republican. Maryland alone remains unclassified. Its present governor is a Democrat, as was its last legislature by a majority of 15 on joint ballot. Its latest elected senator, Mr. Gorman, is a Democrat. Of its six congressional districts, however, four are Republican, while on the presidential ballot last time the McKinley electors had 54.9 per cent of the total vote. This represents a mixed condition which entitles the state to be called close.

Despite the current allusions of close districts and doubtful states, it is extraordinary how few there are of them in proportion to the total in any election, and especially has this been so for the last four years. In municipal elections, where people vote more independently, there is a better chance for the pendulum to swing, but our other elections are moving with few sensational changes. One thing which doubtless contributes to this result is the sectional character of the present party divisions. Since the South is Democratic on sectional issues, the country if it is to be Republican, must have the support of an almost solid North. The Democratic membership of the incoming congress consists of the delegations of the Southern states, with practical solidarity, representatives from the down-town districts of the larger cities of the country, and an occasional product of peculiar local conditions.

In time geographical lines will have no effect on party issues, but at present they are still dominant, and results can be carefully predicted with the exception of a few states, such as Maryland.

THE MILLER CASE.

President Roosevelt believes he is right in the stand he has taken in the Miller case and wants a heart to heart talk with the labor leaders to assure them that his motives are of the best. He has told the members of the administration that he has nothing to fear from what he has done in connection with the controversy which has developed at the government printing office. He wants to tell the labor leaders the same thing. So confident is the president of the justice of the stand he has taken, and so sure is he that the labor leaders are broad-minded and fair, that he will risk all in a frank discussion of the case of Miller, the bookbinder, about whom there has been so much talk.

The president has advised John Mitchell that he wants to meet him and his colleagues some time next week at the White House. The president will tell the men that he has done nothing except to see that fair play was exercised and that the statutes of the land were rigidly observed. He will seek to show that these statutes were not narrowly construed to bring about the present situation, but that they were taken in their broadest application, and that when the case came up to him there was no other course open. The president hopes to reach an understanding with the union labor people about the government printing office. He will be fortified with confidential reports which have been in course of preparation for some weeks. From these he will cite facts to show that anything but a satisfactory condition has developed in the government printing office because of the blind adherence to union demands. He will point out where certain changes could be made that would be of direct value to both the cause of union labor and the government.

Thus far, Mr. Mitchell has taken no stand whatever in the Miller case, and he says he will not do so until he becomes more familiar with the conditions. It seems evident from present appearances that both he and President Gompers will try to steer the labor element away from the complication. They are in favor at the White House and they do not want to do anything antagonistic to the president. It seems probable, however, that there will be a show-down and they will have to take one side or the other.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S SCHEME.

The attitude assumed by the workmen of Birmingham toward Mr. Chamberlain's proposal to levy a tax on imports entering the British islands from foreign countries and admit those from British colonies free is significant of the state of public sentiment in England on the question of free trade or protection. At a large convention of the workmen at Birmingham, a resolution declaring in favor of the continuance of free trade was unanimously adopted. Many of the manufacturers are also in arms against the plan proposed by Mr. Chamberlain, and with these two elements arrayed against him, the former colonial secretary can hardly succeed in forcing his policy upon parliament. His idea is to bind the colonies to the mother country and establish the empire upon a solid foundation of mutual interest. The average English manufacturer and workman is less concerned about the welfare of the colonies and the unity of the empire than he is about his personal interests, and each class can see where the new policy would hit him hard.

The British workmen ask: What about breadstuffs? The British food supply comes almost wholly from abroad. Of the total imports, more than 75 per cent comes from foreign countries and less than 25 per cent from the colonies. If the 75 per cent must pay import duties, the price of food rises since there is practically no home supply and importers of colonial produce will take advantage of the tax on foreign food. The colonial preference may stimulate colonial agriculture, but the British opponents of the Chamberlain proposal argue that it will take years for the grain fields of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa to grow up to the needs of the United Kingdom so that foreign food need not be imported. And most authorities assert that the colonies can never do this. The colonial supply, they insist, will always be inadequate.

The case is similar with regard to raw materials of manufacture. In 1901 the total of imports of raw materials was $800,000,000. Of this $555,000,000 came from foreign countries and $245,000,000 from the colonies. Practically all the imports of manufactured articles, amounting to $500,000,000 annually, come from the continent of Europe and the United States, Germany and the United States occupying a constantly growing place in this trade.

Herein are found the questions that Mr. Chamberlain must answer. The prospect of dear food is not relished by the British people, and they are inclined to consider imperial unity is being purchased at too high a cost, if food prices are to be put on a permanently higher level. And it is only by putting the burden mainly on food that the colonies can be benefited and drawn to the mother country, in accordance with Mr. Chamberlain's proposal.

A Vermont lumber magnate who died lately left $3500 whose income is to be used each year to buy Christmas gifts for the children of Danby, Mount Tabor and vicinity. Now, says the Buffalo Express, watch the cheerful administrators spoil it all by construing "gifts" to mean pictures and mottoes and how-to-be-good books, instead of something to eat for the boys and something to wear for the girls.

The international peace congress will probably be held in St. Louis next year, and the Post-Dispatch suggests a domestic peace congress also, with a view of reducing divorce records.

The Commercial club was given considerable light on the taxation question at its meeting last night, the reply of County Auditor Halden to the misleading statements by J. E. Cooley containing a large amount of valuable information on this important subject.

Wall street is amazed that the West can be prosperous when stocks are so low.

HOTEL GOSSIP

Frank H. Beach, traveling passenger agent of the Rock Island road, who makes this territory every few weeks, has the reputation of getting everything there is in sight for his line and once in a while "plucking a sleeper" in the form of a bunch of business which some of his competitors have overlooked.

Mr. Beach returned yesterday from a run over the ranges and when seen last night at the Spaulding had a good word to speak for the hustlers in that section.

The people of Hibbing, Eveleth, Virginia, Ely and all of the range towns comprise a very progressive lot of citizens," he said, "and those who have had occasion to do business with them are thoroughly aware of this fact.

Yesterday was a busy day at the Hotel McKay. A wedding ceremony took place in the morning at the hotel. The bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Townsend of Ashland.

The Sandstone delegation arrived at the McKay Tuesday night but were unable to secure a room for the night. They were told that the hotel was full and that they would have to stay elsewhere.

After having been in the city five days, during which time they went to the various points of interest, the delegation returned to the McKay today.

LOW AGAIN NAMED

As Fusion Candidate For Mayor of Greater New York.

Grout Nominated For Comptroller and Fomes For President.

New York, Sept. 24.—The Republican and the Citizens' union city conventions met last night, the former at the Grand Central palace and the latter at Cooper Union, and nominated Seth Low for mayor, Edward M. Grout was named for comptroller and Charles V. Fomes for president of the board of aldermen.

The platform adopted when the convention assembled declared that "the Republicans of New York unqualifiedly endorse the efficient and business-like administration of Mayor Low, Comptroller Grout and President Fomes," and declared that every principle of two years ago had been fulfilled in letter and in spirit. The issue of the campaign was declared to be the continuance of this "honest, intelligent and progressive administration."

The nomination of Mayor Low was voted unanimously, the nominations of the other candidates following. Francis C. Huntington presided at the convention of the Citizens' union.

To that extent, and in that direction, which is the direction that I can see this movement professedly moves, I shall certainly, in every way in my power, aid the movement."

"I should be discouraged more than I have words to express by the action of the two conventions tonight did I believe that they are the sincere and untrammelled expressions of the delegates to those conventions. On the information of men good and true and loyal, I have made my fight, such as it was. I have not one word to retract, change, amend or soften. Everything I have said is absolutely true, and is known to be so. I will fight this fight, if such a man as I can be of service, to the bitter end, and when it is finished I shall shake the dust from my feet and, until I can find leaders to whom truth means more than sham and hypocrisy, to whom duty is even greater than victory, I shall stand as I have stood today, alone."

Certain Duluth citizens have a strong suspicion that local parties have been killing partridges out of season in the neighborhood of French river, under the pretense of looking over land in that territory. The partridge season does not open until Oct. 15.

Last Sunday two business men having some interest in the river ran across an old logging camp containing several men armed with shot-guns and accompanied by bird dogs. The men were rather curious as to the business of the Duluth men in that locality, and when they learned that the object was land looking, one of them pulled out a map and explained that the party was also out looking up timber lands for a local lumber company.

One of the business men looked at the map and was somewhat astonished to note that the description was that of some 140 acres which his brother has recently purchased, and on which he knew there was no timber to be looked up. He explained this to the owner of the map, and the latter at once changed his tune and said it was ties they were looking for.

After the Duluth men had gone on a short distance they scented up several partridges, but the party at the camp did not do any shooting while they were in the vicinity.

One of the business men says he is morally certain that the gang at the camp were out hunting partridges, and says he believes that he and his friend were taken to be deputy game wardens. He further says he was rather surprised the following morning when, coming to the city on a Lakeside car, to see one of the purported land-lookers lying brick for P. McDonnell on East Superior street.

GARFIELD AVENUE

Relaying of the Street Railway Tracks Is Now Under Way.

Repair of Avenue Between Tracks Still a Mooted Question.

The street railway company began yesterday tearing up the old track on Garfield avenue preparatory to laying new and heavier rails. The work has commenced on the east track at the foot of the viaduct. The new track will be put down in sections, temporary switches being used and the interstate cars north or southbound using the west track while the new trackage is being laid. The construction work of Garfield avenue will progress quite rapidly from the fact that there is little or no paving to be encountered.

With the completion of the construction work of Garfield avenue the company will have practically new rails on its entire interstate system, from Third avenue east, Duluth, to Twenty-first street in Superior.

The rails on Tower avenue were laid a few years ago before the Lowry interests took over the system on the other side of the bay, and that portion of the track was constructed of heavier rails than were then in use anywhere else in Superior. The track was improved this year at the same time Tower avenue was paved. New rails were put in this season, from Belknap street south to Twenty-first street, in Superior, and the track from Garfield and Superior street to Eighth avenue west, on this side of the bay, was laid with heavy rails within the last year.

Nothing has yet been done by the city authorities on the proposition of General Manager Warren that the street railway company will fill in its new trackage on Garfield avenue with crushed rock, providing the city will furnish the material.

It is expected, however, that some action will be taken along this line at the next council meeting, as the matter is now in the hands of a committee to investigate and present with recommendations to the council next week.

Mayor Hugo and the board of public works have been looking into the matter of paving between the tracks with crushed rock, and the plan seems to offer a solution for the time being of a better roadway on Garfield avenue for the teaming between Duluth and Superior. The roadway would not be as wide as desired, but it would be a great benefit considering the bad condition of the street, which is almost impassable after continued wet weather.

The cost of filling in between the tracks with crushed rock would not fall directly on the property owners along the avenue, hence a petition for that improvement would not be necessary to the council.

There is, however, some question as to the payment for the rock that will be necessary if the city furnishes the crushed rock. Mayor Hugo says that the expense could be provided for out of the public works fund. No estimate has yet been made of the cost, but it is certain it would be no inconsiderable amount.

Sentiment is strongly in favor of the street railway company's standing part of the expense for the crushed rock, as well as laying it, but Mr. Warren's offer to the council contained no assurance that it would do so, in fact he said that the company would hardly be under obligations to repave between the tracks, for there is now no pavement to be replaced, the tracks being filled in with mud and broken cedar blocks, which the company is not anxious to throw back for ballast.

It is likely that the city will contend, in any event, whether it does or does not enter into an agreement to furnish crushed rock, that the street railway company shall leave the street between its tracks in a passable condition after it has completed the new trackage.

The company has made no offer to deliver the crushed rock along the avenue, even if the city furnished it, and this is an item that the city authorities will not overlook, for the reason the company can do that work more easily and cheaply than the city.

YOUNG GIRL A BIGAMIST

Seventeen-Year-Old Girl Locked Up on That Charge.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Seventeen years old, charged by her boy husband, and arrested on the charge of bigamy, Mrs. Joseph Hanson went herself to sleep in a cell at the Desplained street station last night. She says she returned to her home last Sunday to find her 15-year-old husband and another woman in bed with him. The girl, who looks even younger than she is, pleaded pitifully to be saved from the cell.

When the girl was only 15 years old she obtained employment in a West Side amusement resort, according to her story to the police. While there she met Edward Wood, now known as Joseph Hanson. This summer she met Henry Hanson. They were married at St. Joseph, Mich., on July 15, and started housekeeping at Hanson's mother, who took out the warrant which caused the girl's arrest, was bitterly opposed to the wedding. The warrant charged the girl with having married Hanson while her first husband was still alive. The marriage to Wood is strenuously denied by Mrs. Hanson.

TWENTY-THREE MURDERS

Reported In Alabama County Since Jan. 1.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 24.—A dispatch from Evergreen, Ala., says that the Breachitt county, Kentucky, has a strong record for lawlessness and bloodshed in Monroe county, Alabama, where twenty-three murders have occurred since January, two of the men killed being sheriffs. There is practically no attempt to enforce the laws, as justice is often refused to anything. Local papers take no notice of a killing for fear of revenge.

CURTIS WILL INVESTIGATE

Kansas Representative to Visit Indian Territory In Person.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Representative Curtis, of Kansas, the ranking member of the house Indian committee, will visit the Indian territory in three weeks for the purpose of making an investigation into the conditions growing out of the conduct of certain officials, who are charged with taking advantage of the Indians in land transactions. Although some of these officials have resigned under pressure, Mr. Curtis is identified regarding their scandalous conduct.

There will be an investigation by a commission, headed by Mr. Bonaparte, special attorney in the postal fraud cases, and another by the senate committee on Indian affairs, so the scandals will be probed thoroughly. In discussing the subject, Mr. Curtis said: "I believe the existing laws enacted for the benefit of the Indians are sufficient for any emergency, but if more stringent ones are necessary congress will enact them. There are so many conflicting reports regarding the condition of affairs in the territory that it is difficult to arrive at a proper conclusion. The laws now on the statute books seem to provide punishment for the wrongdoers, but I am of the opinion that the charges of wrongdoing will not pan out. The present laws provide for a right inspection of all leases of lands, and the prevention of the worst of it, except the prevention of the law. From published reports one would be

IS GROWING RAPIDLY

Little Fork Country's Population Continues to Show Increase.

Two New School Districts and Two More Are Forming.

Two new school districts have been organized in the Little Fork country, and two others are in process of formation, making a total of four new districts added during the past summer.

The formation of these new districts was rendered necessary by the rapid growth of the population of the Little Fork country. It has proved to be about the most popular resort of the homesteaders, and the records of the land office show a greater number of claims filed in this district than in any other under the control of the Duluth land office.

The majority of the claims taken, moreover, have been homesteads, very few stone and timber applications having been filed on the land in this district. This means that each claim taken means an added settler, who is compelled to make his home on his land, and reside there with his family.

The Duluth, Virginia and Rainy Lake road is opening up the country rapidly, and it is now comparatively easy of access.

The best part of the agricultural land in the surveyed townships has already been taken up, and settlers are going in to the unsurveyed townships, in order to have the prior right of filing, when the townships are thrown open for settlement. Surveyors have been at work in the district during the last summer, and it is expected that the plans of several townships will be received at the local land office shortly and the land thrown open for settlement.

The only other new county school district organized during the past summer is the one at Allan Junction. Formerly the school children living at Allan Junction were compelled to go to Bismarck school, but this winter they will have a school of their own which will save them a daily journey of several miles.

PACING RECORD AGAIN LOWERED

Prince Alert Goes a Mile in 1.57 at Yonkers.

New York, Sept. 24.—Prince Alert, the pacing hero of 100 races and the champion of a score of half-mile tracks, went against the world's pacing record of 1:59, held by Dan Patch, and lowered it to 1:57 yesterday at the Empire City track. It was the first day of the autumn meeting of the Empire City Trotting club and, in addition to a strong card of four races, Prince Alert was billed for a special race, which was to be a half-mile, and which looked like the impossible feat of lowering the record. But Prince Alert readily won the half-mile, breaking the record of 1:59, which had been won only the week before by Dan Patch in 1904. The weather and track were perfect and the wind, which was high early in the day, subsided so that all conditions were favorable.

Prince Alert, a brown and white gelding, owned by J. W. Gentry, of New York, was trained by J. W. Gentry, and was driven by J. W. Gentry. He was a three-year-old when he won the record, and he was a three-year-old when he won the record. He was a three-year-old when he won the record, and he was a three-year-old when he won the record.

In the regular program Dan Patch was the favorite in the 2:20 trot, and won easily in straight heats. That great speedy favorite, Swift, won the 2:30 trot and reduced his record to 2:07. He was the choice at $50 to $30 for the field.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 24.—The attraction yesterday at the grand circuit meeting was Dan Patch's race against time, as he went for the 2:20 trot and reduced his record to 2:07. He was the choice at $50 to $30 for the field.

The track was fast and the weather conditions were almost perfect, but the best the pacer could do was 2:08.

The 2:08 pace was the exciting race of the day. Nervolo was a prime favorite, selling at 50 to 12 against the field before the start. There was a close finish in the first heat between Nervolo and Winfield Stratton, and when the judges announced that Nervolo had won, there was a protest from the crowd, many maintaining that Stratton had beaten the favorite under the wire by a neck. Winfield Stratton took the second heat in a driving finish with Sufret, a close second, and Nervolo third.

The third heat proved the most exciting. New Richmond, who was backed heavily, began to move up at the half and took the lead in the stretch. There was a close finish between Nervolo and New Richmond. The crowd thought that the latter had won by a head, and when a dead heat was announced, Starter Merrill's voice was drowned by jeers and hisses, and he was unable to finish. The fifth heat was won by Nervolo by a head in

MINNESOTA IN THE LEAD

In the First Day's Shooting For Washburn Trophy.

St. Paul, Sept. 24.—The Interstate rifle contest for the possession of the Washburn trophy began at Lake City, yesterday, when the militia of Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota being the contestants. Yesterday's matches consisted of range firing at 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards and as a result the Minnesota team leads by ten points, with a total score of 1500; Illinois is twelve points ahead of Iowa, with a score of 1480, and Iowa is twelve points ahead of Minnesota, with a score of 1460.

The wind during the morning blew down the gulches at terrific rate, seriously interfering with the shooting. Sgt. H. W. Breit, of Illinois, had the highest score, 188, with Major A. G. Chase, of Minnesota, but a point behind him, Capt. Reid, Ill., is in charge of the Illinois team, acting as its captain and coach, while Capt. Cook and Capt. Lee, both of the Iowa and Minnesota teams in the same capacities. The scores at yesterday's shoot were as follows:

Illinois—Maj. Dawson, 150; Capt. Clinch, 148; Sgt. Quinn, 136; Sgt. Lewis, 134; Sgt. Jones, 134; Sgt. Hays, 132; Sgt. Peterson, 130; Sgt. Bredt, 128; Sgt. Scott, 126; Lieut. Daniel, 124. Total 1340.

Iowa—Maj. Fisher, 154; Capt. Cooke, 151; Lieut. Bonbright, 142; Lieut. Gest, 136; Sgt. Baughman, 131; Sgt. Cummings, 129; Sgt. Hildeman, 125; Corp. Hind, 127; Private Whistley, 124; Private Radloff, 120. Total 1328.

Minnesota—Maj. Corlison, 158; Maj. Beebe, 148; Maj. Chase, 137; Capt. Falke, 135; Sgt. Eide, 133; Sgt. Clark, 131; Capt. Britton, 129; Capt. Smith, 127; Muskat, 124. Total 1326.

PARKS GETS SEAT

Is Sustained By the Convention of Iron Workers.

His Union Is Also Reinforced By This Action.

Kansas City, Sept. 24.—After being in session behind closed doors since early yesterday morning, the convention of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers at 10 o'clock last night voted in favor of seating Sam Parks and the other delegates from local union No. 2 of New York. There were but three votes cast against Parks and his friends. These were the ballots of President Buchanan, a Kansas City delegate and one other. The result was a decided victory for Parks, as it reestablishes him and local No. 2 of New York, of which Parks is the business agent, and directly repudiates the action of President Buchanan in suspending it. The Parks delegation will now have seats on the floor and the supposedly regular New York delegates are out of it.

The hearing of the Parks case consumed nearly all the time of the convention thus far and was a bitter contest. Early in the day, when the credentials committee had reported, throwing the contest back to the convention itself, Parks saved trouble by heading the ball with his men. Later, during the afternoon, he and his men were called back to plead their cause, and from 2 o'clock until after 8 o'clock the matter was thrashed out. Then a vote was taken, with the result announced, among whom was D. Pollock, business agent of the New York local, who had made the motion to seat Parks.

"I knew it would go that way," said Parks. "I knew it all the time. I don't go into a fight unless I know where I stand. There was no doubt about it. I had the men with me, just as I said I had. I tell you, everyone is satisfied, and things are lovely."

"I have no statement to make," said President Buchanan. "Yes, it is a defeat for me, but the result is the re-establishment of local No. 2, as I was not sustained."

Asked what effect this would have on the presidency and whether he would seek re-election, Mr. Buchanan declined to answer.

The credentials committee reported favorably on the question of allowing local men to sit in membership. This was passed to the convention itself, although it had not been taken up. There are 150,000 of these men, and if they are accepted they will strengthen the organization. There seems to be a strong sentiment looking toward their acceptance.

Washington, Sept. 24.—That the cost of the government is daily increasing, and that, in spite of this increasing cost, the United States is able, after paying every bill, to put aside more cash each night at the close of business than it did on the corresponding day last year or the year before that, are easily demonstrated by an analysis of the daily balance sheet issued by the secretary of the treasury.

The credentials committee reported favorably on the question of allowing local men to sit in membership. This was passed to the convention itself, although it had not been taken up. There are 150,000 of these men, and if they are accepted they will strengthen the organization. There seems to be a strong sentiment looking toward their acceptance.

KING WANTS GOOD CABINET

Edward Is Taking Considerable Interest In Its Formation.

London, Sept. 23.—The political crisis has taken on a phase which lends to the present situation a historical and constitutional importance of almost unprecedented interest. The king has influenced not unconstitutionally or beyond the powers vested in the crown, but in the exercise of his prerogatives to an extent never dreamed of in the Victorian era.

Prince of Wales at Balmoral has given rise to much surprise and comment, but the Associated Press is able to say definitely that it is due to the formation of a new cabinet until thoroughly satisfied that its personnel and constitution are such as to ensure the efficient carrying on of the affairs of the empire pending the resumption of parliament. For years cabinets were formed or military vacancies filled with the mere formal presentation of the avowal of the names of the new ministers. King Edward has done away with this tradition. He has spent the last few days in discussion with the lords and lords of the national welfare. Ministers now holding offices and those nominated for office have been summoned to Balmoral to join in these conferences and all constitutional guarantees have been recognized such as has surprised even those who knew King Edward intimately as Prince of Wales.

paid out on an average every hour $7,550 in order to keep the wheels of government going. Expressed in another way, the expenses for the government for the day by minutes were $127,075, or $21.19 a second. As the collections for the same second were $23.33, it is shown that the government's profits for the day were at the rate of $2.14 per second.

The source of greatest income on this particular day was from customs collections levied under the tariff act. They totaled for the day $1,313,575.59. This is at the rate of $47,367.69 an hour, or $786.01 a minute, or $13.10 a second. While collecting tariff duties at the rate of $13.10 a second, the government at the same time was collecting internal revenue taxes at the rate of $2.21 a second, the total receipts for the day from internal source being $756,332.72. From miscellaneous sources there was collected during the day $132,024.24.

On the corresponding day last year the receipts from all sources were $1,331,440.40, with expenses of $1,100,000. Collections for the corresponding day last year were in one item $15.41 a second and expenditures averaged for that day $13.42 a second, the profits to the government on account of transactions being only $1.99 a second, against $2.21 a second on Sept. 16, 1903.

The item of greatest cost, as shown by the statement under review, was credited to "war"—nearly a centavens term used by the treasury's bookkeepers to indicate the total expense of the war department for that day. The exhibit shows that there was disbursed on account of "war" on Sept. 16, $720,000, and on the same day the navy cost the nation $750,000. Pension payments for the day were $300,000, thus making the total expense of the government on account of war and the necessary equipment to carry it on $1,560,000.

While, of course, a great amount of money is paid out every day in expenses, the government, as has been shown, is making a profit of $2.21 a second on its daily transactions. If this is kept up long enough it will have in its exchequer all the money in the nation.

KOPPONG IS FREE

Accquitted of Murdering Marshal McLaughlin of Mountain Iron.

Claimed That He Thought Marshal Was Holding Him Up.

Simon Kopping, indicted under the name of Sam Berg for murder in the second degree, charged with the killing of Marshal Michael McLaughlin, at Mountain Iron, last June, is free. The case went to the jury in district court yesterday afternoon, and in half an hour a verdict of not guilty was the result.

Kopping has been worried a good deal, and he was mightily relieved when the court cleared him yesterday afternoon.

He has been in jail three months, and he has been in danger of losing his liberty for a longer period all this time, for there were circumstances in the case that made it possible, though not probable, that a jury might convict him of murder or of manslaughter, either of which might have meant a long term in the penitentiary.

Besides, in the shooting affray in which McLaughlin lost his life, Kopping suffered a severe wound in his chest, from which it was thought at one time that he would not recover. After the shooting Kopping crawled away in the bushes and lay there over night, so weak that he could not attract attention. Next day he crawled into the village and gave himself up.

His story was that he thought McLaughlin was holding him up, and when the marshal fired at his companion, a man named Emerson, he thought the shot was intended for him. Then he opened fire on the officer and several shots were exchanged.

McLaughlin was looking for two men whom an Italian miner claimed had robbed him of $100 near the Mountain Iron mine. He ran across Kopping and Emerson on the railroad tracks, just out of town, and was arresting them on suspicion when the trouble occurred. The Italian has never been seen since, and it is not believed that he was robbed, as he claimed.

Emerson escaped while the officer was handling Kopping and has never been seen since around the county. Kopping was defended by C. O. Baldwin and Attorney Heitman.

FACTORY IS NOT SHUT DOWN

Scott-Graff Working to Limit, Except Saw-mill Portion.

The Scott-Graff Lumber company of the West End closed down the sawmill portion of its plant this morning, but the factory is still in full operation and will continue so right through the year. The company is following its usual practice in closing down the sawmill after a long and successful year's run, to permit of the necessary repairs before entering upon its winter sawing contracts.

The factory is running full time and endeavoring to keep up with the large amount of orders that the company has ahead. While the sawmill is undergoing repairs the company will devote its attention to some arrangement whereby the smoke nuisance, which has been a complaint of the city, may be abated.

ARE SENT TO JAIL.

Young Men Charged With Wheat Stealing Sentenced.

Roy Mosher and James Brown, the two young men arrested yesterday on the charge of trespass, were sentenced to ten days in the county jail. Special officers of the Northern Pacific Railway company complained that the young men had been sweeping wheat from the cars and obtaining a good revenue by the practice. The penalty for the trespass charge is usually a fine of $3, but Judge Windom decided that as there has been a great deal of the sort sweeping practice going on of late that it was advisable to make an example of the two culprits.

Anton Sandusky was yesterday afternoon convicted on a charge of assault and sentenced to pay a fine amounting to $10.00, or go to the county jail for a period of twenty days. Sandusky had a mix-up with one Mike Rings, in which the latter got the worst of it. Sandusky admitted beating Rings, but claimed that he was justified, as the latter had called him a "scab."

Lizzie Zion, a Syrian woman, arrested yesterday on the charge of peddling without a license, was fined $3.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

Six persons were injured, two fatally, by the explosion of a boiler at James Wise's sawmill at Nashville, Tenn. Gilbert Sturgeon, the engineer, was found fifty feet away with his skull crushed. Martin Fry was struck with flying fragments of iron. He will die. Several adjacent buildings were damaged.

The Old-Time Telegraphers and members of the Military Telegraph corps put in Thursday at sightseeing and a boat ride on the lake. The day's festivities were concluded with a banquet at the Hotel Pfister, attended by 250 guests.

Two weeks ago Edward Nelson, of Rogers City, Mich., and a brother went sailing on Lake Huron. That was the last heard of them until Thursday, when the body of Edward was washed ashore near Alpena. The body of the brother has not been found.

Another attempt was made Thursday night by dynamite to wreck a Northern Pacific train. One of two sticks of dynamite were placed on the rail at Sampson siding, four miles east of Elliston, Mont., and were exploded by the engine of a westbound freight. The track was badly damaged.

YOUNG FORGER IS CAPTURED

L. W. McLean Caught By Superior Police—Is Much Wanted.

L. W. McLean, a young man suspected of implication in several forgeries committed in Superior during the past few weeks, was captured in that city last evening through an identification furnished by a local tailor.

While attending the opening of a new business establishment last evening the tailor saw a young man for whom he had made an overcoat and for whom he knew the police department was looking.

Detective Frank Sommers was notified and McLean was taken in custody. He accompanied the officer to the city hall, but as the latter was going through the doorway, McLean suddenly whirled and ran. The detective started close behind and fired several shots in the air, his noise attracting other policemen to the chase. After a run of seven blocks Sommers got close enough to McLean to knock him down with a blow from the butt of his revolver.

When searched McLean had in his possession three checks all signed with the names of brewing companies and ready for use. He is believed to be the same man that committed some forgeries on the range last summer.

When caught McLean told the officer he had checked planted all over the country and his capture probably meant a "five-spot" for him. McLean's description tallies to that of a young man that passed a forged check of $25.00 William LaJoie, a Tower avenue saloonkeeper, last Monday. The check was stamped with the name of the Northern Brewing company.

SHIPPING COMBINE Is Criticised By Some of the German Stockholders.

Berlin, Sept. 25.—Small factions of the shareholders of both the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd Steamship companies, have been availing themselves of the situation of the International Mercantile Marine company to stir up discontent against the management of the German lines for forming an agreement with the American combine. Reports have been spread on the various German exchanges concerning what the minority shareholders contended was a grave mistake of compact. The Hamburg-Bremerhaven, apparently by authority of the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd companies, says that if the International Mercantile Marine company is successful the agreement is "a masterpiece of policy," whereas if the International Mercantile Marine company is unsuccessful "nothing would be gained by a traffic war."

OFFERED PAYNE MONEY.

Postmaster Willing to Pay For a Better Office.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 25.—Andrew S. Wallace was until a few weeks ago postmaster at Opp, Ala. While serving in that capacity he read in the papers of the bribery that was going on in the postoffice department at Washington and he forthwith proceeded to write to Postmaster General Payne and offered him $50 if Mr. Payne would have him appointed postmaster at Andalusia, Ala. The postmaster general turned the letter over to Post E. Wiggins, chief postoffice inspector for the Southern division, and Wallace has been removed from the office at Opp and placed under a bond of $50 for his appearance at the next term of the United States court at Birmingham.

William M. Prindle, who was chosen by the creditors as trustee of the insolvent Commercial Banking company, did not, as it was expected he would, qualify for the position today. He will do so tomorrow.

He will then begin an immediate examination of the company's affairs. As soon as the accounts have been examined Mr. Prindle will push the case to a conclusion as rapidly as possible. This may take several months, as it is thought the examination of the company's accounts will take more than a month, which will throw the case into the time at which the United States court is in session and which will mean a further delay of several weeks.

LORD MILNER HAS REFUSED

Offer of the Colonial Secretaryship of Great Britain.

London, Sept. 25.—The Associated Press is able to state definitely that Lord Milner, the British high commissioner in South Africa, who is now at Carisbad, has been offered and has declined the colonial secretaryship.

Further pressure is being brought to bear on him urging him to reconsider his determination, but if the forecast of his friends is correct, he will not accept.

Mr. Brodric has accepted the secretaryship for India, and in the event of Lord Milner yielding to the pressure, the duke of Marlborough, who is now under secretary for the colonies, will become under secretary for India, precedent ordaining that both the secretary and under secretary shall not sit in the same house.

IS A PLACE VACANT?

Query Being Made With Reference to Charter Commission.

Chairman Greene Away
But Has Not Tendered Resignation.

Does a vacancy exist on the charter commission of Duluth by the removal of Commissioner H. F. Greene to Washington, D. C., where he now holds the office of United States civil service commissioner?

For some days past there has been more or less talk relative to the matter and a doubt is expressed whether, under the state law, a vacancy really exists and whether it will be necessary for the judges of district court to appoint a successor to Mr. Greene to serve out his term, which ends Jan. 1, 1904.

Under the state law a vacancy on the charter commission of any city in Minnesota is caused by death, resignation or removal from the city to the corporate limits of the city.

So far as can be learned, Mr. Greene has not yet tendered his resignation and it is said to be a matter of doubt whether an appointment to a United States office which would require the appointee's presence in Washington would constitute a permanent removal from the city in which he resided when appointed. In other words, the vacancy seems to depend on whether Mr. Greene is or is not a citizen of Duluth.

The members of the charter commission are appointed by the judges of the district court and the term of office is four years. In case there is a vacancy the person appointed to fill the vacancy holds office for only the unexpired term, so that an entirely new charter commission will be appointed next year.

Dr. A. J. Braden, of the West End, is the only member of the present charter commission appointed to fill a vacancy. He succeeded E. F. Alford. The present charter commission is composed of Henry F. Greene, Hansel Smith, Oscar Mitchell, Thomas Olafson, Percy S. Annette, H. H. Phelps, T. T. Hudson, J. W. Richardson, Dr. Tuite, N. J. Miller, W. O. Pealer, C. A. Duncan, L. J. Hopkins and Dr. A. J. Braden.

"The Lake Winona Assembly" will be the subject of an address given by MR. JOHN CALLAHAN, at the Y.M.C.A., 18 E. Superior St., 4 p. m. SUNDAY. All men invited.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

Government to Conduct Them and Has Eleven Applicants.

William R. Rushby, of Washington, a United States civil service examiner, is in the city today for the purpose of holding the semi-annual examination in Duluth, which will occur tomorrow morning.

Eleven candidates have signified their intention of trying for the various positions for which examinations are being held.

There are four positions for which an eligible list is sought. They are those of pressman, railroad mail clerk, stenographer and typewriter, and stenographer and typewriter, $60 per year. The examinations are held semi-annually in each state and territory, and from the three candidates obtaining the highest marks any positions which are vacant are filled.

The salaries paid for these positions to beginners are as follows: Pressman, $3.50 per day; railroad mail clerk, $30 per year; stenographer and stenographer and typewriter, $60 per year. These examinations are held semi-annually in each state and territory, and from the three candidates obtaining the highest marks any positions which are vacant are filled.

A new feature to the examination this year is the fact that a special examination will be held to establish an eligible list for the civil service positions in the Philippines. Stenographers and typewriters are paid a salary of $1200 for the first year in the Philippines.

The candidates for these positions, however, must make a contract to remain in the islands at least two years.

"The chances for young men in my opinion," said Mr. Rushby today, "I would not advise married men to go to that country, but for young men without the encumbrance of a family the chances for success are good. The country is just opening up, and an ambitious young man can find plenty of chances for advancement, if he is of the right sort."

The examination will commence tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the court room at the federal building. Mr. Rushby will be in charge, assisted by the members of the local board of civil service examiners, Messrs. E. M. Barker, A. H. Heimbach and Anton Grimbakiewicz.

FAULTLESS FALL CLOTHES FOR WOMEN AND GIRLS.

That's what everybody's looking for—but, there's only one place where they can be found, and that's HERE!

A woman may spend a week with a tailor, and, after all fail to get as good a garment as she would here in half an hour.

"I've bought my clothes of your house for years," said a customer, recently—but I went to so and so, the last time just to see if I really could do better!

It was a pretty good tailored suit that I got, but it hadn't your style, make-up and general appearance!

In fact said she, none of them seem to be able to get that "fashionable appearance" to their clothes that you do—and I haven't been able to see any difference in price between your kind and the other kind, and have about come to the conclusion that it really costs no more to get the best of anything if you know where to go!

Not only is this true of women's clothes—but, of the dozen and one other things that go toward making women's wardrobe complete or the home cheerful and beautiful.

We sell the very best—but, as cheaply as the less particular kind—

FOR INSTANCE, WE SELL BEAUTIFUL TAILORED SUITS AT $19.50.

Suits that are selling today in other houses at from $25 to $35 (without the extra style and workmanship of the ~~other~~ kinds) made of English homespun, chevots, tweeds, panne zibelines and panne chevots in a variety of styles and lengths of coats to choose from! A splendid range of fancy colors—besides the plain blacks, blues and brown—

AT $25—$29.50 AND $35.00.

You can get Tailored Suits that embody every element of style with Fine Workmanship—that are made from fine imported materials lined throughout with best linings and are cut over as good patterns as the higher priced, and finally every suit is tried on a living model to be sure that it has the proper hang and fit to it, these are but two instances of what the immense stock offers—at $39.50—$45—$50—$60 and up to $150.00 for magnificent costumes the stock compares favorably with anything in the land—and as a lady who bought a wrap of us yesterday expressed herself—she said I just came from Chicago where I went to do some shopping—but do you know, after looking through the stocks of the store and some of the other important stores there I came to the conclusion that I can buy just as advantageously at home—and there are really no more beautiful garments in Chicago than I can see in your store. A compliment indeed and one which we truly appreciate, and while the Duluth lady might have been biased toward her own city and store—still, it is only what we have heard many times before. We know the wants of the trade here—and we are in a position to cater to those wants intelligently. We buy from the very best sources of supply—consequently get the best that is to be had. We treat our helpers fairly and get their best work.

We employ the best fitters, tailors and tailoresses and get best results.

We aim to please our customers in every respect. These in short are some of the things that have helped build this business to its present size—the largest dry goods house in this section of the Northwest!

owners have been able to get some new men through the line of pickets, but the latter have succeeded in turning many away.

The mills by weeks of steady grinding have piled up enough flour in storage to fill all orders for some time to come. The strikers have called out the watchmen and firemen, because some new men slipped through their lines under the guise of watchmen. Ten girl packers working for the Washburn-Crosby company quit work today, although their wages had been advanced. The men claim that the mills that are running will be compelled to close when the flour bins are full for lack of millers and packers. The mills are endeavoring to secure a night shift from among the university students.

Mayor Haynes today, in pursuance of his promise to the strikers to seek arbitration, sent a letter to the mill owners requesting their acquiescence in his appointment of an arbitration board of five members. While no answer has yet been sent, it is regarded as certain that the mill owners will refuse.

PROMOTION GIVEN

John E. Caine Appointed Traveling Freight Agent of Northern Pacific.

Headquarters at Duluth
—New Office Created on Great Northern.

John E. Caine, who for the last three years has served as soliciting freight agent of the Northern Pacific road in Duluth, has been appointed traveling freight agent of the company, and beginning Oct. 1, will cover the territory formerly covered by C. R. Lonerger, who was recently appointed agent of the line at Ashland.

This territory embraces the copper country, the iron ranges and that lying north and east of Cloquet. T. E. Blanche, general agent of the company, made the appointment several days ago, but it was not made public as Mr. Caine's successor has not yet been named.

Mr. Caine, although a young man, has proved his ability in freight trade business in his connection with the Minneapolis & St. Louis and Northern Pacific roads. For six years he was with the Minneapolis & St. Louis road at St. Paul as cashier and afterwards as assistant freight agent. He came to Duluth at the request of the Northern Pacific road three years ago and as soliciting freight agent has become well known and well liked by shippers in Duluth.

He will have his headquarters in Mr. Blanche's office and will "make" Duluth about one day a week in his new position.

Creates New Office.

General Superintendent Shale of the Great Northern road has created the office of engineer of maintenance of way for the company, and has appointed S. L. Davis, formerly with the Northern Pacific, to fill the position. Mr. Davis is a little known in the Northwest, and his appointment caused surprise among railroad men, who thought that the office would go to some Great Northern man.

A Strong Story.

A good story comes from Minnesota to the effect that the front trucks of the engine pulling the Great Northern coast train jumped the track ten miles west of Lathrop and that the train ran for a mile before the engineer ascertained the trouble with his engine and brought the train to a standstill. The train arrived in Minneapolis three hours late. If the story has a basis of truth, it is a good advertisement of the character of the road.

To make it better, the report says that the train was running at the rate of sixty miles an hour when the accident happened. An accident of this kind would ordinarily have thrown the whole train in the ditch and made the cars look like a junk heap. The men, therefore, are not too ready to believe it.

Railroad Notes.

Duluth passenger agents today placed on sale tickets to Chicago and return at $11.75 for the round trip, on account of the Chicago centennial celebration. The tickets will be good going up to and including Oct. 5. Agents are expecting a heavy sale on account of the low rate offered.

Contractors who are building the Northern Pacific extension from McKenzie to Linton are within a mile of the Emmons county line, and expect to complete their work Oct. 15.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Great Northern road will be held at 11 o'clock, Oct. 3, at 32 Nassau street, New York. The annual report will be ready for distribution the day of the meeting.

The traffic officials of Western and Eastern roads will meet Oct. 3 in New York to consider the decrease in exports of grain and grain products through Atlantic ports. Those interested do not think it possible to divert shipments from the Montreal route, but think that some may be turned from the gulf ports.

AT WEST DULUTH

The question of the extension of the boulevard drive to West Duluth will be taken up this afternoon by the park board.

The members of the board, in company with the committee appointed by the West Duluth Commercial club, which consists of Messrs. Clark, Scott, Frey, Barnes and Miles, will make a tour of inspection, and look into the matter of securing the right-of-way for the proposed extension. The plan is to extend the drive from its present terminus, in Lincoln park, along the hillside north of West Duluth, to join the Bay View Heights road.

The drive would then give an opportunity of viewing the whole of West Duluth, just as the present drive gives a view of the city proper.

The matter has been discussed for some time by the merchants of West Duluth and by the members of the West Duluth Commercial club, and the trip of inspection, which will be taken this afternoon, is the result of the efforts of that organization.

The cost of the proposed extension will go far toward determining the decision of the board in the matter. It is believed that the right-of-way could be secured at a very reasonable figure, as the drive would greatly increase the value of the property through which it would run. Property owners on the hillside would be warmly in favor of the move.

TO HOLD CELEBRATION.

Commercial Club to Jollify
Over Depot Case.

Tonight will be a gala night in West Duluth. The West Duluth Commercial club is throwing open its doors and inviting all citizens of this portion of the city to join in a smoker and general social good time, in celebration of the restoration of the Northern Pacific train service to West Duluth and the West End.

The victory was an important one for the present and future welfare of this city, and it was deemed fitting that some suitable celebration should be held in commemoration of the event.

No program has been prepared, but the event will simply be an informal gathering of the business men and citizens in general. A few impromptu speeches will doubtless be called for from some of the leaders in the agitation, but this will be left with the chairman and the audience.

It is expected that the event will be the occasion of one of the largest gatherings seen in West Duluth for many months. The regular meeting of the club has been cancelled.

THE CHURCH GOERS.

Rev. E. A. Mirick Takes Census Covering 1290 Families.

Rev. E. A. Mirick, of the Plymouth Congregational church, has during the past few weeks been making a canvass of the families in West Duluth to ascertain their church preferences.

He has canvassed 1290 families, and furnishes the following statistics: Roman Catholic families, 332; Lutherans (foreign), six communions, 381; other foreign, Protestant, five communions, 31; Jewish families, 13; other Protestant, twelve communions, 425. This is a total of twenty-five forms of belief, some merely variants of others, that is the same belief under different languages were noted. These 1290 families, at four to the families, according to the United States census estimate, would mean a population of 5160. This is not quite all of West Duluth.

AT THE SAWMILLS. Work has been resumed at the Clark-Jackson mill, the trouble with the employees having been settled amicably.

The mills in West Duluth are all running on full crews, the nature of the work having day and night shifts.

As a result the demand for labor in West Duluth is fully equal to the supply, and the men who return from the harvest fields have no difficulty in securing work.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS. Samuel Cruthers and Thomas Murphy have returned from a short hunting trip, spent at Jack Schuler's camp at Spirit Lake. They brought back eight-ten fine ducks.

H. R. Patterson will leave this afternoon for a short business trip to Carlton.

E. O. Armstrong, of Scanlon, is in West Duluth today on a business trip.

Mrs. W. B. Anderson is expected home today after spending the summer with relatives in Canada.

On Sept. 30, in Saginaw, Mich., Miss Cecilia Marcotte and James McDonald, of West Duluth, will be united in marriage.

Mr. McDonald left Sunday for Saginaw.

The schools of Proctorville are in a very crowded condition, and it has been found necessary to supply further accommodations. Another room is being finished and decorated and will be ready for occupation, Oct. 5.

Frank Kelly, engineer on the Mesaba railroad, has returned from Marquette, Mich., where he went last week on account of the death of his wife.

The full style of footwear have arrived at Lauer's. Phone 3070.

Only Did His Duty As He Saw It. "I deem it my duty to add a word of praise to the Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says J. Wiley Park, the well known merchant and post master at Wiley, Ky. "I have been selling it for three or four years, and it gives complete satisfaction. Several of my customers tell me they would not be without it for anything. Very often, to my knowledge, one single dose has cured a severe attack of diarrhoea, and I positively know that it will cure the flux (dysentery). You are at liberty to use this testimonial as you please." For sale by all Druggists.

THE STAGE

"The Private Secretary." William Gillette's delightful and very laughable comedy, was produced at the Metropolitan last evening and was well received. Its situations are strikingly funny and the players found fine opportunities for displaying their abilities as fun makers as well as exhibiting their versatility, the jump from "Hold the Enemy" to comedy of "The Private Secretary" sort being considerable. Mr. Forbes had a particularly congenial role and all of the members of the company in fact acquitted themselves with much credit.

This comedy will fill the remainder of the week, playing tonight and tomorrow evening and tomorrow afternoon.

"A Chinese Honeymoon" closed its ing this afternoon. Brooks claims that he bought a meat at the restaurant and handed over a silver dollar. He says that when he asked for his change an altercation followed and the proprietor finally grabbed a revolver and held it under his nose. His suit of $10 was furnished by West End men.

William Crawford, a school boy charged with disorderly conduct, will have a hearing this afternoon.

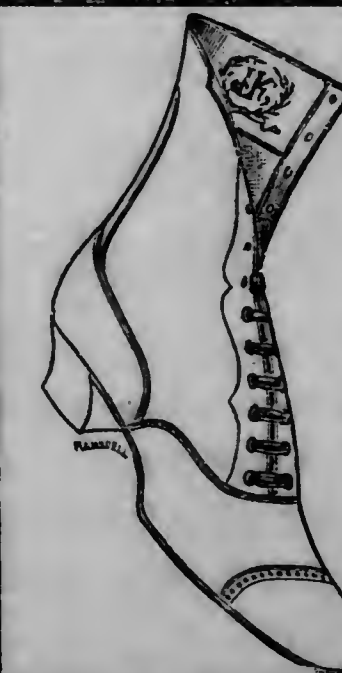

will have a hearing this afternoon as will Edward Grable, the long-haired waiter who is charged with non-support by his wife. Andrew Olson and George Miller did not find the court lenient with their shortcomings and each was given a ten days sentence for drunkenness.

GROWTH OF EXPORTS

Of Agricultural Implements From This Country Is Phenomenal.

Amounted to Twenty-One Million Dollars Last Year.

FROM THE HERALD

Washington, Sept. 25.—(Special to the Herald).—Agricultural implements exported from the United States last year amounted to $21,000,000 in value; in 1902 they amounted to only $16,000,000 in value; in 1901, to less than $14,000,000; in 1900, to $2,500,000; and in 1899, to less than $2,000,000. The growth of exportation of this class of manufactures has been extremely rapid. Prior to 1892 the exportation of agricultural implements had never reached as much as $1,000,000 and during the twenty-five years following that date the growth was slow, the total having reached about $2,500,000 in 1900. From that date forward, however, the growth was rapid. By 1902 the total was $21,000,000 in value, and, as already indicated, in 1903, $21,000,000.

Of this total of $21,000,000 worth of agricultural implements exported last year, nearly $10,000,000 in value went to France, and about an equal sum to Argentina, and $2,500,000 to the United Kingdom, and $1,500,000 to Germany, $1,200,000 to Australia, and over $1,000,000 to Africa. These are the figures for 1902. In 1903 the value of agricultural implements sent to France was but about $6,000,000, as against nearly $10,000,000 in the year just ended. The value of those sent to Germany in 1902 was about $2,500,000, against about $1,500,000 in the year just ended. The value of those sent to Argentina in 1902 was about $2,500,000, against about $1,500,000 in the year just ended.

These facts, presented by the department of commerce and labor, through its bureau of statistics, are especially interesting at the present moment, because of the publication now being made by that department and bureau of a series of reports from consuls in various parts of the world on the sales and opportunities for sales of agricultural implements in the various sections of the world which they represent. These reports were called for by the department of state some months since at the request of the National Association of Agricultural Implement and Vehicle Manufacturers, and are being printed in pamphlet form for the use of that association at its approaching annual meeting.

Few articles show a more rapid growth in exportation than do agricultural implements, or a wider distribution. As already indicated, the total has grown from $2,500,000 in 1899 to over $21,000,000 in 1903, or nearly forty times as much. In 1902 as in 1903, while manufacturers of iron and steel, in which the growth has been looked upon as phenomenal, are only about fifteen times as numerous in value of exports in 1903 as in 1894. The distribution of American agricultural implements has also extended to nearly all parts of the world. The bureau of statistics expert statement shows that, in 1902, and powers were sent in 1902 to over fifty different countries, and plows and cultivators to even a larger list of countries and dependencies. The sound of the American mower and reaper is heard in British, French, and Portuguese Africa, in Japan, in India, in Australia, and in practically all of the South American countries and all of the countries of Europe, while the American plow and cultivator go to practically every country in the world.

The table which follows shows the value of agricultural implements exported to the more important countries in 1902, compared with 1901:

Country	1902	1901
United Kingdom	$6,000,000	$4,200,000
France	$10,000,000	$6,000,000
Germany	$1,200,000	$1,000,000
Other Europe	$2,500,000	$1,500,000
British North America	$400,000	$300,000
Mexico	$100,000	$50,000
Cuba	$100,000	$50,000
Argentina	$1,300,000	$800,000
Brazil	$1,000,000	$500,000
British Australasia	$24,000	$10,000
Africa	$25,000	$10,000
Total	$21,000,000	$16,000,000

The following table shows the value of agricultural implements manufactured in the United States, and value of the exportations from 1890 down to date. The figures of manufacture are those of the United States census.

Year	Manufactures	Exports
1890	$2,500,000	$200,000
1891	$2,500,000	$200,000
1892	$2,500,000	$200,000
1893	$2,500,000	$200,000
1894	$2,500,000	$200,000
1895	$2,500,000	$200,000
1896	$2,500,000	$200,000
1897	$2,500,000	$200,000
1898	$2,500,000	$200,000
1899	$2,500,000	$200,000
1900	$2,500,000	$200,000
1901	$2,500,000	$200,000
1902	$21,000,000	$21,000,000

both of the previous attempts having been frustrated through reasonable discovery by friends. During this investigation it was discovered that another young woman, a friend of Miss Saylor, had lately attempted suicide by taking antiseptic, but recovered, and it was through her that the existence of the club was made known.

The club seems to be regularly organized, with a good strong membership of young women, and of having been meeting at regular intervals. It transpired that at each meeting a new victim is chosen by lot, who is to "lose off" before the time for the next meeting by some one of the usual methods adopted in such cases. The particular mode being optional with the candidate.

It is known that three members have committed suicide, while one or two other members are suspected of having been members of the club. The police are investigating with a view of breaking up the club if possible.

MILLION-DOLLAR MILL
Is to Be Shortly Erected at Keewatin.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 25.—A new flour mill of 200 barrels daily capacity and which will cost $1,000,000, will shortly be erected in Keewatin. The site of the proposed mill will be the spot where the waterpower intended for use at the reduction plant will be used to drive the mill.

Of the million dollars required to float the undertaking, a large amount will, it is said, be subscribed by the Reid estate of Newfoundland, which represents nearly the entire railway holdings of the island colony. The incorporation of the company will be announced in a few weeks.

As $7,000,000 of the sum required has already been subscribed, work on the new mill will be commenced this fall, and it is hoped to have the plant in operation in time to grind next year's harvest. In connection with the mill, arrangements have been made with an elevator company operating in Manitoba, by which the two will work on a co-operative principle.

WASHINGTON DENOUNCED

By a Member of the Alabama Legislature.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 25.—A bill appropriating $200 to a local negro school was passed by the house by a vote of 41 to 39, under a hot debate on the negro question, in which Mr. Wood of Tuskegee, the seat of Booker Washington's school, denounced him bitterly, saying:

"The Rev. Sam Jones has been told by Washington and has printed the statement that not one of Washington's students has been in the penitentiary. A bigger lie than that has never been told. The only two legal hangings in my county were students of Washington's school, and they were charged with rape. Washington himself has prosecuted some of his students in the courts of my city."

"The records of the courts will show that some of Washington's pupils have been convicted of every crime known, and that there is not a student of Washington's school in my county who is now earning an honest living. I am opposed to giving money to educate the negro along industrial lines."

GLOBE TROTTER ILL.

Starts Around the World Without Money.

New York, Sept. 25.—A young man who travels under the name of "Jack A. Saylor" is a patient in the New York hospital. He was taken there in an ambulance yesterday afternoon from Madison Square park, where he fell on the way from an attack of vertigo.

"Saylor" declares that his patients are well to do, and that they are prominent in San Francisco. He says he is a graduate of Stanford university, and that a year ago he made a bet in a San Francisco club that he could travel around the world and make enough money whirling shoes to pay his expenses. According to his own story he has shined 7000 pairs of shoes since he started, including those worn by Senator Mark Hanna. He admits that "Saylor" is an assumed name. He started in shining shoes yesterday when he became ill.

CHILD FOUGHT SNAKE.

Little One Terribly Bitten By Spotted Adder.

Helmet, N. Y., Sept. 25.—While playing in a pile of brush in a field adjoining her father's home yesterday, Helen, the 2-year-old daughter of Hiram Vandusen, had an exciting battle with a deadly reptile. She made a hard fight, but it is terribly bitten and is not expected to survive.

The child was moving some small sticks of wood when a spotted adder, which was lying under the pile, fastened itself upon one of the fingers of the right hand. She shook it off but was bitten in another place. When the child finally succeeded in disengaging the hold of the snake it again grabbed her, this time on the right cheek.

The screams of the terrified child brought her mother to the scene, and the woman wrenched the reptile from the girl's hand and killed it. The snake is the largest seen here for years.

BAILING THE HOP CROP.

Portland, Oregon, Sept. 25.—Bailing of the hop crop is under way and indicates a yield of 8 to 10 million bushels compared with 55,000 bales produced last year. The quality is uneven, 20 per cent being perfect hops, the remainder more or less tainted with mold. The market is firm at 25 cents for choice. Nearly 1000 bales of choice hops sold yesterday at 24 to 25 cents.

FALL STYLES.

California and Oregon hop crops will amount to 25,000 bales, against 139,000 last year. Quality of the former is superior, of the latter medium. California's wine crop is 20 per cent larger than last year.

The most pessimistic opinions as to Indian corn do not place the crop at less than 1,000,000 bushels.

The industrial situation is rather worse than better. Thirty or more pig furnaces will shut down between Oct. 1 and Jan. 1, reducing capacity 75,000 tons weekly. Railways are buying fewer rail cars, and less bridge material. Four anthracite coal companies will mine on half time during the rest of the year. Wire and rails lead in activity in steel.

There is a heavy demand for funds from merchants and manufacturers, which the banks are meeting freely. An unusual number of small banks are being organized throughout the South.

Both Montreal and Toronto report a falling off in demand at the Northwest. Grave fears are experienced over the effects of the consolidated Lake Superior failure on the situation at Sault Ste. Marie. The Dominion will send many thousand dollars abroad for rails if the big Soo Steel company is not revived.

THE STATE OF TRADE

Shown By Reports to the International Mercantile Agency.

New York, Sept. 25.—Telegraphic advices to the International Mercantile Agency from trade centers throughout the United States are summarized as follows: Rain, low temperature and lack of exact knowledge as to the extent of damage to corn and spring wheat have tended to check the retail and jobbing demand for dry goods and other seasonal merchandise at Chicago, St. Paul, St. Louis, Buffalo, Dallas and New Orleans, and collections are interfered with. Loss in this direction is noted at Boston, New York and Baltimore. Some uneasiness has been felt among lenders at Philadelphia owing to present and contemplated restrictions of production of iron, steel and anthracite coal. Leading dealers and financiers state that more conservative dealings in general lines are looked for, with increased costs of doing business, decreased profits compared with last year, with the likelihood of many merchants declining to anticipate requirements as fully as a year ago.

Cotton is now seen to be a month late, with more unfavorable weather reports. Spring wheat in Minnesota and Dakota have been soaked and much will grade lower. The damage so caused in the three states is placed at $15,000,000. Drought has injured the North Carolina tobacco.

POPE PIUS X
May Leave the Vatican For Castel Gandolfo.

Rome, Sept. 25.—A dispatch from Rome to the Leader says: King Victor Emmanuel has written a private letter to the pope, in response to a similar one from his holiness, in which he urges the pontiff to go to Castel Gandolfo. He assured Pius X that the government was prepared to facilitate his movements and convenience in every way.

It was after the receipt of this letter from the king that his holiness sent his sister to stay at Castel Gandolfo and report thereon and eventually ordered that repairs should be made and that the castle be refurnished.

GOLDWIN SMITH SAYS

All Men Should Not Be Rough Riders.

New York, Sept. 25.—"There can be no doubt that a spirit of vengeance is abroad in the world, and is manifesting itself especially in the treatment of the weaker sex; jingoism is in its internal phase," writes Goldwin Smith in this week's Independent. "Is there not some reason for fear?" he asks, "that President Roosevelt, with his influence upon opinion, may be indirectly and unconsciously flatterer this spirit by his constant preaching of a 'strenuous life' and denunciation of what he calls weakness?"

"If strenuous life he no doubt means something noble and heroic—the life, in a word, of a valiant rough rider. By weeklings, we may assume that he means people whose character is weak and contemptible. But men of a nature inferior to his may be left to fancy that submission to moral restraint is weakness, and that strenuousness is shown in hustling your neighbor, and if he demurs, treating him with the water cure, or burning his house."

"Some men have been detailed by nature as rough riders. Let us acknowledge their services and pay them the honor due. But the mass of us are destined to a life of peace, and let us devote to the quiet caring of our bread and butter, and the raising of our children."

"We are not a herd of animals crowding each other, but a co-operative community of men."

GRADE IS FINE

Apples Coming to Market Are of Exceptionally Good Quality.

Potato Crop Is In Better Condition—Eggs Are Higher.

The different varieties of fall apples are now being received on the local market. Like the early apples, they are of an exceptionally high grade. Seldom have larger and finer samples of the fruit been seen in Duluth.

The Michigan street dealers report that prospects are excellent for a good crop of apples this year. The Southern crop has been disappointing, but the yield in Michigan, New York and the Canadian districts has been excellent and there promises to be a plentiful supply of the fruit in the local market this winter.

The winter varieties are not due for several weeks yet, but the early fall apples will continue to come in during the intervening time.

The price remains firm at $3.50 to $3.75 per barrel. The favorable change taken by the weather during the past week will have a very good effect on the potato crop. The long spell of wet weather was causing the potatoes to rot in the ground, and farmers feared a frost, which, with the soggy condition of the soil, would have meant almost a complete ruin of the potato crops.

The warmer and drier weather has allowed the ground to dry out, and the digging of the tubers is well under way. While the change in the weather came in time to save the crop, it did not come in time to prevent a great depreciation in the quality of the tubers. Dealers and housekeepers alike report that the potatoes are this year much more liable to rot than during preceding years, and the greatest difficulty is being experienced in preserving them. Nothing but repeated picking-over will save a stock of the tubers from rotting this year.

The price has been affected considerably by the change in the weather and the increased shipments, and has taken a drop of 5 cents per bushel. Fresh eggs have made a jump of 2 cents in price during the past week, and are now selling at 21 cents. Creamery butter is also slightly higher at 22 cents per pound.

California fruit remains at about the same prices that were quoted last week. Local dealers say that the high price quoted this year is partly due to the heavy shipments that have been made to New York and other Eastern points to supply the European trade, where the fruit crops have been almost a complete failure.

The dealers report a brisk week's trading. In the meat market the prices have remained unchanged, with the exception of pork selling at a slight advance of 12 and 12½ cents, a drop of about a cent from last week.

CIVIL LAW PREVAILS

Colorado Judge Decides Against Military at Cripple Creek.

Cripple Creek, Col., Sept. 25.—Judge William P. Seeds of the district court yesterday decided against the military authorities in the habeas corpus case of Sherman Parker and three others who have been held prisoners by a military force for about two weeks without warrants and with no formal charges against them. Gen. John Chase, in command of the troops, declined to recognize the authority of the court and yesterday refused to issue writs of habeas corpus. Last night it was learned that Governor Peabody has instructed Adj. Gen. Bell, commanding the troops at Cripple Creek, to issue writs of habeas corpus to all prisoners to the civil authorities hereafter.

A strike of the union miners was ordered at Cripple Creek about the middle of August by the Western Federation of Miners, in support of mill men at Colorado City and other points who had for a long time been demanding a night-hour day. The mine owners, alleging that a large percentage of the miners were non-union, refused to accede to the demand. The governor, however, decided that troops were needed, and on Sept. 4 ordered almost the entire National Guard of the state, about 1000 men, to the district, under command of Brig. Gen. Chase. Since that time several prominent members of the miners' union, including all the members of the executive committee, which had the strike in charge, have been arrested without warrants and held in the guard house. Habeas corpus proceedings were begun in their behalf last week. Gen. Chase and his legal advisers held that though martial law had not been formally declared, it was really put in force by the order issued by the governor directing the troops to maintain order, and that therefore the civil court had no jurisdiction.

Denver, Col., Sept. 25.—Governor Peabody said last night that the decision of Judge Seeds in the habeas corpus cases at Cripple Creek, would be respected. He stated that the force of the military would be maintained.

WOMEN WEAR SUSPENDERS?

Never! The West Rebels Against the Eastern Fashion.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Suspenders came near causing a rebellion at the dress-makers' convention. When Miss Eloise Hubert, who is the arbiter of feminine fashions in Boston, announced that the fashionable woman this winter must wear suspenders like a man every woman in the room gasped. Then the discussion came in a torrent.

"Horrible!"

"Absurd!"

"Never! Never!"

Nevertheless, "suspenders" was the question of the hour and after the evening program had been finished knots of women gathered in the corridors of the Lexington hotel and in the parlors and asked each other the question, "Will you?"

Every other topic rated and the attention of every woman was riveted on the new reform. The majority agreed that they would frown on the innovation, but if it became "swagger" and the correct thing to do, those who frowned hardest may be the first to adopt suspenders.

The leading modistes agree that a strong possibility exists that these same sartorial acquisitions to a woman's toilet may become this winter one of the mainstays of the gown, and that the modistes or those designed for evening functions, that the Chicago society woman will wear. At the recent exhibition at the new west in gowns, both imported and domestic dress recently let in the New York fashion show, the idea of adding suspenders to women's wear as an aid in supporting the heavy skirts which the prevailing fashions demand was advanced by a number of the fashionable modistes of the East.

Miss Hubert has designed and manufactured an article of a pair of articles closely resembling the suspenders worn by men and these she exhibited at the convention. The idea in wearing this invention is to use the shoulders in supporting the heavy skirts, thus relieving the waist and hips of all strain. While the idea is not a new one among reformers, the design by Miss Hubert is thought to be the most convenient and the most practical of any thus far introduced.

When a working model of the fashion pattern was sprung on the members of the association and the visitors last night, a mighty murmur of disapproval arose and swelled into a storm of protest. The purpose of the invention, it was explained, was to support the skirt, and the speaker adjusted the new article to a lay figure. It worked well enough and in about the time it took automatically to harness a horse to a fire engine house when a general alarm has been sent in the skirt used in the demonstration was hitched to the lay figure.

Here the murmur of disapproval disappeared entirely and was replaced by looks of incredulity. The good points of the model were presented to the audience and its beneficial results when worn were dilated on. Finally it was announced that any question asked would be answered. A storm of queries followed.

"What shall we do when we want to wear décolleté gowns?" one woman asked.

"When that is the case," the demonstrator replied, "you can so modify the gowns as to meet the requirements of the supporters."

"Wear that thing over our shoulders when in evening dress? Never in the world," concluded the questioner, struggling her own beautifully molded shoulders by way of emphasis.

"Are the suspenders in vogue among eastern women?" ventured one of the timid ones present. "Of course, if it is the correct thing to wear and is as fully supported and hygienic and all that sort of thing, you know, why, why, to be the right sort we'll simply have to adopt and wear the garment, you know."

"Nothing of the kind and certainly not wear such a thing at all if we are in our right mind," said another. "You can't successfully combine the real styles and hygienic view, and we are here for styles and not to discuss hygiene or to take up with any frumpy ideas."

"I should think that if one should wear that sort of garment one sometimes would be greatly embarrassed," said another.

"What if the straps should slip over the shoulders, I know my husband is the most distressing times to keep his—"

In an instant every eye in the room was turned on the little woman. She blushed furiously and did not complete her sentence.

But at this point the demonstrator moved the lay figure from the platform and mingled with the crowd. Another topic was announced for a talk and in formal discussion and the weighty question of radical dress reform was left with the women present.

WEALTHY MAN
Works as Motorman By His Physician's Advice.
New York, Sept. 25.—Dennis R. Creedon, a resident of East Orange, who owns houses, land and other property valued at $50,000, and who receives a large income from it every year, works every day as a motorman on the front platform of an Orange-trolley car, earning a salary of $19.9 a day. Mr. Creedon does not do this because he needs the money, but because his physicians have advised him to take up some occupation in the open air.

Creedon lives with his wife and children in a handsome residence on 84th Clinton street. He is about 40 years old and has a son who is a student at Seton Hall. The car he runs leaves the garage at 6 o'clock in the morning, and he works until the middle of the afternoon.

Before he became a motorman he was manager of his father's estate, to which he subsequently fell heir, and to which he has since made large investments. He has a large property in three wards of the city and a large apartment house at Main and Clinton streets.

MINER GARD ACQUITTED.
Mistromont, Pa., Sept. 25.—William Ronemus, a mine guard, who confessed to the killing of Patrick Sharpe, a striking miner, during the recent coal strike, was acquitted by a jury in the Montgomery county court yesterday.

Harry McElmoyne was first charged with killing Sharpe and it was during the trial of McElmoyne that Ronemus confessed to firing the shot which killed the miner. The killing of Sharpe occurred in Carbon county and the supreme court granted a change of venue.

anal order in the case would be issued from headquarters in the field. He said: "Judge Seeds has decided against the military, and as the National Guard is in the Cripple Creek district for the purpose of aiding the courts and the civil authorities generally, there was nothing left for me to do except to order that the prisoners be turned over to the civil authorities."

Governor Peabody said that this also would apply to all prisoners that may be taken hereafter. He declined to say what course would be pursued in the event that the civil authorities failed to prosecute the men who are charged with crimes.

"While I was there the papers had a violent discussion over the question of public ownership of street railways. My own opinion is that municipal ownership would not be a good thing. The service generally runs down at the heels; the class of men employed is decidedly inferior, and it costs the public just as much in the end."

Just when the conductor thought Pittsburgh was to be his home he lost his position through having ejected from the car an intoxicated man, who afterward proved to be a son of one of the directors of the line. He went to Philadelphia and worked during a strike.

After losing his job through being taken down with rheumatism, which he calls the Nemesis of railroaders, he went to Brooklyn, which he terms "the heaven of the dishonest railroader, where the conductors steal everything but the tracks."

"My last move was to New York," concludes the conductor, "on the Broadway surface line. I like New York. It is a pretty good town. I think I will spend the remainder of my days here."

street car is generally the last resort of a man who has lost everything but industry. I do not say this to belittle conductors or motormen. I consider it high praise. What I mean is that I know of no form of labor, however difficult, that is harder than working on a street car."

After losing his job in Chicago, where he first went on the cars, by reason of a complaint, the conductor went to Pittsburgh.

"There I obtained work easily," he says. "It paid 24 cents an hour for a day of ten hours, the best wages paid street car men in the United States. I remained in Pittsburgh for a year and liked the place."

PHILOSOPHY ON TROLLEY CAR
Seasoned Conductor Writes His Experiences In New York.

New York, Sept. 25.—With a series of interesting observations, which he sums up as platform philosophy, a New York street car conductor gives his experiences in this and other cities of the Union.

"A conductor sees the worst side of human nature," says the genius of the hell rope. "What is there in the atmosphere of a street car that makes men and women, even on Broadway, act with such vulgarity?"

"Why do men send their feet sprawling all over, at the risk of tripping up every newcomer?"

"Why do they spread their newspapers out so as to obstruct the view of their neighbor on each side?"

"Why do they quarrel with the conductor?"

"And the women—why are they so cross and irritable?"

"Working on the back platform of a

COLLIERIES CLOSING.
Many Will Be Shut Down This Week.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 25.—The orders for a restriction of the anthracite coal output has affected nearly all of the collieries in this region. Yesterday orders were issued by the Lehigh Valley Coal company to close down its twenty collieries on Saturday and Monday. The Susquehanna Coal company will place its sixteen collieries idle on Friday and Saturday.

The Delaware and Hudson company has posted notices at its eight collieries in this vicinity that the mines would be worked but five hours a day until further orders. It is said that the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western company will place its collieries on three-quarter time. The Reading Coal company will also restrict the output by shutting down some of its collieries for repairs.

Over 42,000,000 tons of coal have been mined since Jan. 1, which is several million tons more than was ever produced for a like period in the history of the mining industry. The present glut in the market and the efforts to prevent a break in prices is the cause of the restriction.

OBJECT TO THE FEES.
Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 25.—State Factory Inspector August C. Backus is investigating complaints regarding the fees said to be charged by county judges for child labor permits. These permits, according to Inspector Backus, were intended by the legislature to be absolutely free and nothing is charged for them in this city. In some districts the county judges are asking from $1 to $1.50 for the permits, and in districts where there are from 500 to 1000 children working in the factories, this means a large profit to the judges.

CONCEDE A POINT

Northern Pacific Gives Duluth Grain Men
New Deal.

Grain Shipped Here Is Switched to Superior Elevator Free.

Duluth grain handlers received notice today of a concession that has been granted by the Northern Pacific road, whereby the switching charge of $3 per car that has been levied for transferring grain shipped to this market to Superior elevators is done away with. The following notice, signed by J. B. Baird, assistant general freight agent of the Northern Pacific, was posted today on the floor of the Duluth board of trade:

"To grain shippers:
"Changes which have been made in the track facilities of this company at Duluth have made necessary some change in the arrangement for handling grain shipped on consignment to Lake Superior terminals.
"Effective Oct. 1, the following instructions will govern:
"Any grain for which shippers desire to get the benefit of optional delivery at Duluth, Superior or Nettleton avenue, in Superior, should be consigned to Duluth for orders and after inspection at that point, reconsigning orders will be accepted for forwarding to mills or elevators on tracks of this company at Duluth, Superior or Nettleton avenue in Superior, without additional switching charges. Direct consignment to the terminals named is urged when practicable, as any abuse of the reconsigning privilege at Duluth may necessitate its cancellation.

"The grain for the Duluth market is consigned directly to Duluth, regardless of the elevator to which it is despatched, which may be on the Superior side. Hereafter a switching charge of $3 per car has been exacted.
"Under the new deal this transferring will be done without extra charge, after the grain has been inspected. It will be noticed, however, that the company takes occasion to warn against any abuse of the privilege, which might easily creep in after it had been in vogue a short time.
"The rule will affect barely more than any other grain, because the Cuyler Elevator company, the Peavy interests and Nye, Jenks & Co. handle most of the barley, and send much of it to the Superior elevators, and the larger part is consigned to Duluth. Wheat will be affected to some extent, but not so much.

FINE POLICE REVIEW. Duluth Department Presented In Handsome Style.

The 1903 review of the Duluth police department, published by and for the benefit of the Duluth Police Relief Fund association, is now ready for distribution. The publication is a very attractive one of some fifty pages, with fine half tone illustrations and clear print.
The reading matter presents the history of the department dealing with its difficulties and disappointments as well as its successes and the events which have led up to a thoroughly organized and efficient metropolitan police force. The pictures of Mayor Hugo and the municipal court officers occupy a prominent place as well as some views of interesting scenes about the city. The volume is certainly better than any of the former manuals gotten out by the department both in typography and general make-up.

CONVENTION ADJOURNED

President Buchanan Takes This Action to Avoid a Fight.

Kansas City, Sept. 25.—President Buchanan, shortly before noon today, adjourned the annual convention of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers without date, to prevent what promised to be a serious fight, and probably a split, over the seating of Daniel Brophy, a Buchanan supporter, who held a credential from a Scranton, Pa., local. The session was held behind closed doors. Later it was reported that Joseph A. Mullany, a Parks adherent, had declared that the credential held by Brophy had been forged.
A fight had been made on Brophy yesterday by the Parks crowd, and although he was seated, President Buchanan ruled, to prevent endless debate, that anyone wishing to make a protest against any of the delegates might do so in writing. Such a protest against Brophy, declaring him to be a "scab" was presented just before adjournment last evening and became the first business of the convention today.
A threatening move was made at the doors of the hall as Brophy sought entrance to the convention today. He moved as if to draw his revolver. It is said, and declared he would shoot the first man to interfere. Soon after the doors had been closed and the protest against the seating of Brophy had been brought up, a member of the Parks' delegation made the sensational declaration that the credential held by Brophy from Scranton had been forged, and that it originally bore the name of "J. Reed" which had been erased. Instantly there was an uproar and charges and counter charges of fraud being made on all sides. When the scene became threatening, and it seemed impossible to get the convention out of its tangle, President Buchanan summarily declared the gathering adjourned without hour.

After the delegates left the hall Parks and his followers held a conference on the sidewalk.
"Our men," declared Parks, with emphasis, "will not sit in a convention with Brophy, and if the convention insists upon seating him, we will return to New York."

Kansas City, Sept. 25.—Although the election of officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers is several days off, the delegates to the annual convention are beginning to take an active interest in the contest. President Buchanan, while still declining to say whether or not he will be a candidate for re-election, is quoted as saying that he will be able to count on fifty-three of the 102 delegates when the time comes to show his strength. Samuel Parks and his followers, who favor H. F. Donnelly, of Albany, N. Y., for the head of the association, assert that he will be elected without much trouble, while the followers of W. C. French, of San Francisco, whose candidacy has been announced, hope to win out for French.
Before the convention met today, President Buchanan was unable to say when the gathering would be organized. Not until then will he deliver his annual address, and as there still are several points in the credential committee's report to be considered, this may not be before tomorrow.

Former Mayor Ames Has Carried His Case.

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. A. A. Ames, ex-mayor of Minneapolis, has prosecuted his case on appeal from the Hennepin county courts to the supreme court. The appeal was filed today and its contentions are based chiefly on the claim that the crime of bribery, and that under this general indictment a number of specific instances were cited in the indictment which were not specifically covered by the indictment.
The appeal will be heard early in the next term, it is believed, and an opinion will be handed down early in January at the latest.

Brownsville, Pa., Sept. 25.—When J. G. Huginbottom opened a car of lumber on the Monongahela railroad which had been consigned to him from Michigan today, he was horrified to find the dead bodies of two men. It is thought they crawled in to steal a ride and got locked in and starved to death.

FOUR LIVES WERE LOST

In the Burning of Hotel at Rochester,
N. H.

Rochester, N. H., Sept. 25.—At least four lives were lost in a fire which destroyed the Hotel Brunswick early today. The bodies were taken from the third floor and are not identified. About forty guests most of them visitors to the annual county fair held here, were in the building when the fire broke out, about 1 o'clock. It is believed that the remains of other guests not accounted for will be found in the ruins. The register of the hotel was destroyed in the fire and the list of guests could not be secured.

The fire originated in the explosion of a kerosene lamp in the kitchen and by the time the fire companies had arrived the building was in flames. A. B. McCue jumped from the second story window and was seriously injured. He was removed to the hospital. Another man, unidentified, jumped from the third story window and landed on the acetate light wires from which he was removed by the firemen and taken to the hospital. His injuries are serious. The monetary loss is $15,000.

FOUND GUILTY Of Attempting to Defraud Civil Service Commission.

Detroit, Sept. 24.—A verdict of guilty was rendered yesterday against J. M. Carley and J. F. Carley, both prominent in local politics, the latter being a state representative. J. J. Hughes and B. J. Fahy, for conspiracy to defraud the United States civil service commission by impersonating the other two defendants at a civil service examination in December 1902. Sentence was deferred pending an appeal to the United States court of appeals at Washington. The penalty is a fine of from $100 to $5,000 or not more than two years imprisonment. Witness O'Hara gave the most damaging testimony for the government when he said that he had been offered $100 to forget that he had seen the Carleys in the room while he was taking the examination, which was at the time that Fahy and Hughes were declared to have been examined.

FOUND A TREASURE SHIP.
Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 25.—Rumors of the finding of a treasure ship off Miami were confirmed when Captain Jennings and three of the crew of the wrecking schooner Osseo filed a libel against the cargo of a sunken ship in the United States court here yesterday. With the assistance of a chart in his possession, Captain Jennings has been searching for this vessel for some time. It is supposed to have gone ashore in 1835 loaded with ore from the Mexican mines. It was found in five fathoms of water, near Miami. Its cargo, which has only been partly examined, has been found to consist of silver ore.

HAVOC IN TIMBER

Storm of Ten Days Ago Wrought Damage
In Woods.

Immense Loss In Standing Pine as Result of Wind.

It will be a long time before the full effects of the severe storms of Sept. 12, over Northern Minnesota, are realized. It is said that thousands of feet of valuable standing pine were destroyed by the gales, which in many places took an almost cyclonic force and form.

M. D. McEniry, special agent of the general land office of the United States, brings a report showing something of the damage that was done. He has just returned from an extensive cruise over the northern part of the state, according to the Bemidji Pioneer. He captured several timber trespassers, but the most interesting matter that came to his notice was the effects of the storm of Sept. 12.

Reports from the entire timber belt of Northern Minnesota pronounce it the worst storm within the memory of tradition of the white man. Trees lay in a tangled mass over the northern half of the state, and many of them will spoil before they can be turned into logs. Aside from the heavy loss, this is interesting news to men that have to travel the woods. They have experienced in their travels the difficulties of journeying over the windfalls left by previous storms, and now the entire northern part of the state is full of a fresh lot of them, strewn their paths with difficulties innumerable.

The loss is impossible to reckon in money, but it will amount up into many thousands. An idea of the havoc that was wrought can be gained from an occurrence which came under Mr. McEniry's notice while he was traveling by rail between Quilting and Blackduck, a distance of eighteen miles.

Crews of men left Blackduck and Quilting a week ago last Monday morning, well provided with axes and other lumbermen's weapons, to clear the wagonroad between the two towns. They met Thursday afternoon. Each crew had been nearly four days clearing nine miles of road.

ILLINOIS WINS THE TROPHY

Captures Washburn Medal For Third Time In Succession.

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—Illinois' state National Guard team won the Washburn trophy in the interstate rifle contest at Cape Lakeview, Lake City, Minn., yesterday, by their excellent work at side-arm firing. Minnesota led the contest, but by ten points the first day, but yesterday the splendid work of the Illinois boys put them far in the lead, and like the contest for the first American cup, there was really "no second." The weather conditions were excellent; there was but little wind, and the sun was just right for good marksmanship. The trophy which was won is now in the possession of Illinois, having been won by them in 1890, since which time there has not been a contest. It is stated that the Minnesota guardsmen will challenge again next year, and Iowa and possibly Wisconsin, will contest. The scores yesterday, showing the result of the skirmish firing, are as follows:

THE DISEASE OF THE HORSE

New Book Can Be Obtained From the Congressmen.

Washington, Sept. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The "Special Report on Diseases of the Horse" has been revised under a joint resolution of the Fifty-seventh congress, is now in press, and will soon be issued. This report was prepared under the direction of the bureau of animal industry of the United States department of agriculture, and was first issued in 1890 and the limited edition that the department was able to publish was soon exhausted. The demand was then turned on congress, and that body has from time to time ordered reprints for distribution by its own members exclusively, until the number already issued has reached nearly half a million copies.

The resolution under which the present revision was made provides for the printing and binding in cloth of 50,000 copies, the same to be first revised and brought up to date under the supervision of the secretary of agriculture, 15,000 copies for the use of the house of representatives, 6,000 copies for the use of the senate, and 500 copies for the use of the department of agriculture. The allotment to have none for general distribution, and those who may desire copies of the report should apply to members of the last congress (the fifty-seventh) to whom copies of the congressional allotment will be delivered. New members of the present congress will not be entitled to a quota.

The report has been carefully revised by the authors of the several articles or by veterinarians of wide reputation. An entirely new article on "The Examination of a Horse," by Dr. Leonard Pearson, state veterinarian of Pennsylvania, is included; also a chapter on shoeing, written by Dr. J. W. Adams, pro-

TRAGEDY AT OCONOMOWOC. George Dailey Attempts Mur- der and Kills Himself.

Oconomowoc, Wis., Sept. 24.—George Dailey attempted to shoot his wife, shot his brother-in-law, set fire to house and barn and finally committed suicide by blowing his head off in his burning house.

Dailey, with her four children left her husband yesterday morning and went to live with her mother, Mrs. Lucy Kellogg.

Last evening Dailey came to the house of his mother-in-law and shot at his wife through a window. Kellogg, came to the door, Dailey shot him in the foot and then drove his hammer a mile away, where he set fire to the house and barn.

The firemen were ordered away by Dailey on pain of being shot. He kept them at bay for about an hour while the barn burned to the ground and the house was nearly consumed. Then he shot himself with a gun, dying instantly.

FARMERS ARE MODEST.

Will Ask For But Little New Legislation.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The Farmers' National congress closed its annual meeting here last night. The farmers will not urge much new legislation this year, confining themselves with generalities. A set of resolutions favoring the extension of run a free delivery and the parcels post system, a postal telegraph system and a postal saving bank was adopted. The admission of Oklahoma as a state is favored by the congress.

An anti-trust resolution was also put through after much deliberation. This resolution was mild, calling for stricter legislation against combinations known as trusts and the enforcement of existing laws against them. A resolution favoring reciprocity with Canada was finally killed and the question of a ship subsidy found no supporters in the congress this afternoon.

TO CONTEST IN ATHLETICS

Police Department Ready to Challenge Superior Department.

The Duluth police department stands ready to challenge the police department at Superior for an athletic contest of any nature whatever, to be participated in by any number of men on either side. The police department may suggest and the contest to take place either in Duluth or Superior, as may suit the challenged party. For some time past the blue coats on this side of the bay have been doing their best to get the Superior coppers interested in a ball game, a foot race, a football contest, in fact any kind of an athletic contest, but the blue coats across the bay are either afraid or else they are exceedingly bashful. Chief Troyer's men have been interested themselves to no small extent this summer in athletics with the view of increasing the efficiency of the force and the practice has been beneficial, the department now being practically comprised of none but strong active men and all of them athletes. The ball team of the local department has won the honors from the Superior department in every game, except one, played this past season and the locals are now threatening to rob more glory from the Bugville coppers. Challenge after challenge sent across the bay has been disregarded and the guardians of the peace are beginning to think the policemen across the bay are beginning to show a white feather when it comes to athletics.

TEACHERS NEEDED.

The effects of the wedding out caused by the fall examination of teachers in this county is now being felt. At the fall examinations a very small percentage of those who took the examinations got through and secured certificates. The result is that there is a shortage of teachers, and A. T. Park, county superintendent of schools, is at considerable trouble to keep the schools of the county supplied with competent teachers. There are several vacancies now which he wants to fill, and he has nobody at hand to fill them. As schools are open now, vacancies that occur at this time are urgently in need of being filled.

Rheumatism "THE PAIN KING."

Those who have ever felt its keen, cutting pains, or witnessed the intense suffering of others, know that Rheumatism is torture, and that it is rightly called "The King of Pain." All do not suffer alike. Some are suddenly seized with the most excruciating pains, and it seems every muscle and joint in the body was being torn asunder. Others feel only occasional slight pains for weeks or months, when a sudden change in the weather or exposure to damp, chilly winds or night air brings on a fierce attack, lasting for days perhaps, and leaving the patient with a weakened constitution or crippled and deformed for all time.

An acid, polluted condition of the blood is the cause of every form and variety of Rheumatism, Muscular, Articular, Acute, Chronic, Inflammatory and Sciatic, and the blood must be purged and purified before there is any end to your aches and pains. External applications, the use of liniments and plasters, do much toward temporary relief, but such treatment does not reach the real cause or cleanse the diseased blood; but S. S. S., the greatest of all blood purifiers and tonics, does cure Rheumatism by antidoting and neutralizing the poisonous acids and building up the weak and sluggish blood. It is safe and reliable in all forms of Rheumatism. It makes the old acid blood rich, and the pain-tortured muscles and joints are relieved, the shattered nerves are made strong, and the entire system is invigorated and toned up by the use of this great vegetable remedy.

If you have Rheumatism, write us, or our physicians will furnish without charge any information desired, and we will mail free our book on Rheumatism.

GUARANTEED STYLES IN COATS.

History repeats itself!

You will remember that one year ago—the Big Store was the only one at the head of the lakes to show a complete assortment of correct styles in coats. And the same condition of affairs exists today, in fact our triumph is even greater than it was last fall.

Other stores on both sides of the bay bought too early—for several weeks they have been announcing "complete stocks of latest styles!" and they have talked volubly about "loose-back" coats. But—

LOOSE BACK COATS ARE PASSE:

They're "out"—they're "dead"—they're things of the past.

They're not to be thought of by people who would be in style.

We have a few in stock, carried over from last season—take them at half price if you want a loose-back coat—but if you want the brightest, smartest garments of the season—styles radically different and richly exclusive, choose from our stock of new coats—the very latest ideas are here—everything from the ecclesiastical to the military effects—in styles that will suit your face and figure—at prices that will please your purse.

At $22.50—Women's superbly tailored Kersey Jackets, trimmed with self stitched strappings back and front, the new sloping shoulder effect, with extended caplets, military collar, superfine Kersey lined with very heavy satin, a cheap coat at $27.50, our price $22.50

At 20.00—Women's new jackets tight-fitting backs, double-breasted fronts—full military capes—velvet collars, the very newest full sleeves, choice of Zibelines, Chevots and Kerseys, in black, brown, blue and tan. Splendid $25.00 values, our big special at $20.00.

At $13.50—Women's man-tailored jackets, made of Washington Mills Kersey, lined with heavy satin, tight-fitting back, Wellington shoulder capes—trimmed with smart buttons—well worth $17.50, choice of black, navy and tan only $13.50.

At $30.00—Women's Jackets, made of best quality Worumbo Zibeline—some cut Louis XIV shape—others tight fitting, lined with extra good heavy satin—capes over shoulder trimmed with braid—a splendid serviceable and warm coat, cannot be duplicated anywhere in this section—you would expect the price to be $50.00—our price only $30.00.

We guarantee our styles to be positively correct, and will refund the purchase price of any suit or coat bought here at any time within 60 days if the style is not absolutely correct.

AGAIN MORE NEW SUITS

Two more shipments of suits are due tomorrow—they'll be mostly in what Fashion calls "Instep Suits."

They're smartly sensible—the skirt is just the right length—Paris says so—and we agree with Paris. American styles have invaded Paris—for American women tourists in smartly tailored suits have shown Paris the good sense in wearing them for street, for travel, and for general wear. And Paris has taken up the style—Frenchified it a bit—and sends it back across the Atlantic—and our New York makers have in turn Americanized the Paris models—and we'll show you their latest, tomorrow.

Just one hint from the Fashion Show—it is no longer "la mode" to clutch the skirt so that the figure is boldly outlined—instead, lift it so as merely to give a glimpse of the silken petticoat beneath—(we're offering special bargains in silk petticoats tomorrow.)

The long-skirted coat suits are supreme—they vary in length and cut so that all figures may be suited. The Zibelines, the Tweeds and Scotch, mixtures—cheviots and Covert cloths, are used. A few Cravenette suits are here—they're railroad.

New Dress Suits are arriving daily—you'll miss it if you buy without seeing them.

Instep Suit Prices range $14.00 to $40.00—judge the stock by this item.

New Instep Suits $22.50, instead of $28.50.

A spie, span new style that you'll like—only a handful of them—and only one or two alike—we promise to get no more of them—they'll not grow common.

The coat is long, fly front, self strappings (narrow) on front and back—newest three-quarter clip belt—sleeves large and graceful.

The skirt is a very pretty nine-gored model—seams strapped to match jacket—strappings terminate in inverted pleats.

Made in blue or black unfinished chevots—or Scotch homespun in brown, gray or blue mixtures. The coats are lined with heavy satin—the suits are ornamented with handsome silk crocheted buttons.

And instead of $28.50, we mark them $22.50.

HE KILLED A MAN

John Hekkala on Trial For Manslaughter In District Court.

Unusual Number of Serious Charges Are Up This Term.

John Hekkala is on trial in district court on a charge of manslaughter in the first degree.

He killed Matt Rantala at Hibbing July 4 last, by striking him in the head with a rock, and was indicted at this term of court by the grand jury.

The killing seems to have grown out of the holiday relaxation that prevailed on the national birthday, for, according to some of the witnesses, Hekkala, Rantala, the witnesses and a good many spectators, were drunk.

Hekkala had been having a fight with somebody, and there was a crowd around him, into which Rantala, pushed, coming from his boarding house outside of Hibbing, Hekkala's face was covered with blood, and apparently, his rage had taken away his senses, for he accused Rantala of causing the trouble, picked up a rock and threw it at him. The rock, which is an irregular chunk about four inches square, struck Rantala in the head and he dropped, unconscious. He died four days later.

One of the witnesses referred to the scene of the killing as "the battle ground," a phrase which seemed somewhat appropriate from the descriptions of the affair given by the witnesses.

Hekkala is being defended by John Heikman, and county Attorney McCintock is prosecuting.

There have been an unusual number of serious charges brought up in district court this term. One murder case, two for manslaughter in the first degree, two for assault in the first degree and one for robbery in the first degree for man array of crimes seldom grouped in one term.

JUROR DRAWS TON OF COAL

District Court Juror From Hibbing Is a Lucky Man.

In the civil branches of district court today no new cases had made their appearance, both courts being engaged upon the same cases that were on trial yesterday. In Judge Dibell's room the case of Archie Caron against the Powers-Simpson company to recover $20,440 for personal injuries was still on, and the plaintiff had not finished his testimony. The case will not go to the jury before Monday afternoon. In the case of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company against Thomson & Dunlop, the evidence was all in this morning, and the case went to the jury today.

A. E. French, a member of the jury in the latter case, who lives at Hibbing, is the proud possessor of one ton of coal which he won in a drawing at the Metropolitan theater last night. His luck was bringing him the congratulations of his fellow-jurors today, who were also trying to buy him out at cut rates.

MYSTERIOUS TURKISH AFFAIRS AT THE SOO

Authority of Speyer & Co. Is Not Recognized. Access to the Plant and Books Is Refused.

Detroit, Sept. 26.—A special to the Evening News from Sault Ste. Marie says: A deadlock between the officials of the Consolidated Lake Superior company and the representative of the Speyer syndicate has developed, but for what reason cannot be learned here at this time. Mr. Bicknell, a Toronto attorney, arrived here yesterday under orders from Speyer & Co. to take possession of the plant. Before his arrival Mr. Coyne, assistant to the president, had sent a circular through all the offices of the company, ordering heads of departments to keep everything under lock and key and to deny the authority of the Speyer representatives. The heads of departments are ordered that if the Speyer people enter the office and attempt to show their authority, to shut up everything and close the office, giving the new comers nothing to work with. What is the meaning of this the officials of the Consolidated company refuse to state. Mr. Bicknell and Mr. Coyne spent all of yesterday afternoon in conference, but neither would state what had been accomplished.

There was no trouble last night among the woodmen who arrived from the North. They were inclined to be ugly upon their arrival, because of what they termed the double dealing of the company in not having anybody at the train to meet them, as they said they had been promised before leaving the woods. A mass meeting of the woodmen was held in Barnes hall, and Mayor Plummer addressed them. He urged the men to be calm and face the situation in the best manner possible, since it was unavoidable. He urged the men to take the employment offered them in other camps, leaving their time checks with responsible parties to collect the money when payment was made. He also told the men that the company would provide food and shelter for those who needed it, and as a result a large number of them slept in the car bars last night. They were fed at the various restaurants, and although angry over the entire transaction, seem inclined to be peaceable.

REFUGEES REFUSE TO Leave Hiding Places In Mountains.

Snow Causes Them to Turkish Troops Slaughter Them as They Return Home.

Monastir, Macedonia, Tuesday, Sept. 22.—(Via Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 25)—Snow has fallen on the higher mountain ranges and the refugees must either leave their hiding places or suffer the great hardships. The Turkish troops continue to slaughter refugees who refuse to return to their former homes at the invitation of the government, which promised them protection. Near the village of Selan in the neighborhood of Resna, troops found fifteen returned refugees working in the field. They bound their hands, drove them into a ditch and massacred fourteen of the peasants. One of them survived his wounds. The refugees' women subsequently discovered the bodies and carried them to the village. The Turkish troops today from Minister Leshman, at Constantinople, stating that although his advisers from Beirut indicated that the situation is quiet just now, nothing like permanent order has been established. Mr. Leshman says that the state of the country may yet be regarded as uncertain.

WARSHIP IS SENT TO St. Andrews to Look Out For American Interests.

Local Authorities Have Failed to Afford Them Protection.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Additional information obtained at the state department about the trouble near Bluefields, Nicaragua, is to the effect that a number of American citizens have suffered ill treatment on the island of St. Andrews, forty miles from Bluefields, and that the local authorities have failed to afford them protection. The matter was reported to the state department by Edwin W. Trimmer, the American agent at Bluefields, and at his suggestion the navy has been ordered from Pensacola to St. Andrews. The Americans involved are connected with a plantation at St. Andrews. The state department officials say they do not anticipate serious trouble, but the evident inability of local authorities to afford them the protection of an American warship is desirable.

PEACE A LAST BLOW UP

Buchanan and Parks Factions Finally Get Together.

The Iron Workers' Convention Proceeds to Transact Business.

Kansas City, Sept. 26.—Peace was patched up between the Buchanan and Parks factions in the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers at their annual convention this forenoon. President Buchanan had scarcely called the convention to order in regular session when the Parks crowd expressed a desire to ignore the proceedings of their own rump convention yesterday and proceed in a regular way. Then the convention took a formal vote on the motion to reconsider the vote by which Daniel Brophy, a member of local No. 2, and who held a proxy from Scranton, Pa., had been seated. Brophy was unseated by a good majority. As he rose to leave the hall he was seized by a man who had been hiding there, and the searchers left satisfied that the mine was empty.

Exploded Under a Buggy Containing Victims.

Robbery Was the Object of Brutal Murder.

Washington, Pa., Sept. 26.—Up to 11 o'clock today there were no further developments in the crime resulting in the murder and robbery of Contractor Ferguson on the West Middletown road yesterday afternoon. The two men who were apprehended as suspects of the deed are now in the Washington jail. They were identified as Frank Francis and Joseph Huston, former employees at the Ferguson camp. They disclaim any knowledge of the crime and say that on Thursday night they slept in McClay's school house, about four miles northwest of this place and on the main road to West Middletown. They say they can prove that they had nothing to do with the robbery of the tool house, which was entered by means of an electric battery, which was hidden beside the road and was connected to the dynamite with a buried copper wire. The buggy was demolished, both horses were blown to fragments and Martin was thrown two hundred feet. Two men are under arrest in the camp of the construction company.

CHICAGO BEGINS CELEBRATION OF CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY

Will Continue For Six Days and End With a Civic Mass Meeting at Auditorium, at Which Mayors of Several Cities Will Speak.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—The celebration of Chicago's centennial anniversary began today and will continue six days, the exercises to end with a civic mass meeting at the Auditorium, at which the mayors of several of the largest cities in the country will be heard. The program prepared by the executive committee contains many features, and a great number of visitors is anticipated. The Indian show at Lincoln park, where six tribes of Indians will live as their ancestors lived, was the center of great interest, the most prominent feature being the presence among the representatives of the six tribes of Charles Pokagon, descendant of the Chief Pokagon, who once ruled over Chicago. The spectacular event of the opening program will come tonight, when tons of red fire will be burned on twenty-eight corners within the elevated railroad loop, typifying the burning of the city in 1837.

Nine historic tablets were put in place during the afternoon, the ceremony being held in the public library building, Mayor Harrison delivering the address of welcome in behalf of the city. The streets present a holiday appearance, public buildings and business houses being elaborately decorated with flags and bunting, and many bearing pictorial reproductions of old Fort Dearborn and other historical buildings.

London, Sept. 26.—The British foreign office in advising a statement of the Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail that Great Britain and Spain had agreed to the establishment of a French protectorate over Morocco, characterizes the story as "groundless nonsense."

Washington, Sept. 26.—Claude J. Neis, of this city, has a letter from William Van Hodge, of Galveston, Texas, stating that the shipwreck of the steamer "Hawthorne" has been discovered. The ship was found in a position which indicates that it was wrecked on the coast of Texas. The ship was carrying a large amount of cargo, and the crew was saved.

LITTLE GIRL PUBLICLY SPANKED

New York, Sept. 26.—A young girl of nine, named Katie Kantor, 9 years old, has been publicly whipped in court by her father. The latter laid his offspring across his knees and applied fifty lashes with a cut-o-nine-tails, while an audience, which included fifty women, looked on. The victim confessed to having stolen eggs from the grocers, and taught her playmates to help themselves in the Bayonne stores to all sorts of trinkets.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Through an opinion prepared by Assistant Attorney General Campbell, the secretary of the interior has rendered a final decision in the case of Morrow and others against the state of Oregon. The decision is in favor of the state, and the land claimed under the swamp tract of Morrow is to be returned to the state. The case has been pending for twenty years, and the decision is a landmark in the history of the state.

St. Paul, Sept. 26.—A special to the Dispatch from St. Paul, Minn., says: A. Blanchard, of Stillwater, Minn., arrived in Livingston yesterday and served out a warrant for the arrest of Sydney Young, his son-in-law, who had been living in Chicago. Blanchard, who is a well-known figure in the city, is accused of a crime, and the warrant was issued for his arrest.

New York, Sept. 26.—Frederick Adrian Verdu, who died early today from wounds inflicted by an unknown person while he was watching a house in Fifty-eighth street, is said to have been a one-time paymaster in the navy, and was until recently in the employ of a submarine boat company as consulting engineer. Verdu has been well known to many persons, although but little knowledge was possessed by them of his career. It is said he re-entered the navy during the war with Spain, and was in the battle of Manila bay with Admiral Dewey.

INSURGENT GENERAL SURRENDERS

Manila, Sept. 26.—Gen. Ola, leader of the band of insurgents who has been creating considerable trouble in the province of Albay, Luzon, has surrendered to the American troops, with twenty-eight officers and men of his command. He has surrendered a few of his guns, but has crumpled arm and all arms belonging to his band without delay. Governor A. U. Betts, the provincial executive officer of Albay, says that this practically ends all armed resistance in that portion of the island, the rest of the forces of the reconquest having been taken from an Anvil creek. The hemp industry, of which Albay is the main center, has been seriously affected by the insurrection, of which Ola has been the chief support.

A conference for this purpose has already been held at Indianapolis at which the leading officials of several national labor unions were present. Among the organizations which it is proposed to bring into the combine are the Brotherhood of Painters, the Journeymen Bricklayers and Masons' International union, the United Association of Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters and Steam Fitters' Helpers, the Iron Carriage and Building Workers' International union, the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

IMMENSE HOTEL

City of Winnipeg Is to Have One Costing $3,000,000.

M. J. Bryan Talks of Condition in Canadian Northwest.

M. J. Bryan, general agent of the Wisconsin Central road, returned this morning from a week's trip through the Northwest, during which time he visited Winnipeg, Grand Forks and Fargo. In speaking of the conditions as he found them this morning, he said: "I found when I reached Winnipeg that contracts had been let for the Canadian Pacific road for a new hotel which will cost $2,000,000. It will be the most magnificent structure in the Northwest and will be modeled along the lines of the Chateau Frontenac at Quebec and the Place Viger at Montreal."

"For some time the city of Winnipeg has been without a fine hotel and the Canadian Pacific road, with its usual lavishness, will spare no pains to make the hotel one which will be remembered by all who have occasion to visit the city. "The structure will be erected on the site of the present depot and will be built to accommodate the offices of the company and will have the finest appointments possible. The crop conditions in the Northwest are good. There will be no decrease from last year in the amount of the product, although the grade will be somewhat lower. "The flax crop will be about the same as last year. All indications point to the best passenger and freight business they have experienced in years. Settlers are rushing into the country."

HE IS NOT IN IT

Henry Truelsen Says He Is Not a Mayoralty Candidate.

Lignite Coal Business Is Taking Up All His Time.

Henry Truelsen will not be a candidate for mayor at the coming city election, so in that respect at least the campaign will be something of a novelty. In a letter to a Duluth friend he puts a quietus to the reports that he was coming back to enter the contest. He is in the lignite coal business in North Dakota. The lignite coal business in North Dakota is good. The mayoralty business does not look so good as it used to. So, Mr. Truelsen is not a candidate.

Democratic candidates for mayor will therefore put him out of their calculations and govern themselves accordingly.

The report that Mr. Truelsen was coming back to run came from apparently good sources, but the result shows that appearances are sometimes deceiving.

In his letter Mr. Truelsen, referring to the fact that his correspondent informed him of somebody's candidacy for mayor, said: "So he has the majority bee in his bonnet? Well, I know how it is myself. I had several attacks of the same disease, but got thoroughly cured of it, and have no further desire of again occupying the position. Being at present far removed from the field of action, my support of anyone could do but little good, and besides I am so very busy digging and selling coal that my time is fully occupied with the business. Orders for coal are coming in so fast that I am not able to take care of them, and we are behind fifty carloads in shipping. We may have to put in men to supply the demand for coal. "We have a fine quality of coal. Everyone who has used it pronounces it superior to any lignite in North Dakota. It took a lot of money to get started, and it took some more to put electric cutting machines into the mine, but the outlook for success is very encouraging and we shall make money. Some day you will see me back in Duluth, because I cannot resist my charms, but being busy here from morning until night makes me feel quite contented. I have no time to feel homesick."

The advantage of importing gloves direct is of benefit to the merchant as well as the consumer, as it does away with the jobber's profits.

HE IS NOT IN IT

Chief Troyer Confident That Department's Dog Is Genuine.

Many Claims Made That Animal Is Not a Bloodhound.

Will the publication in today's Herald of a picture of "Kit" and her puppies, at police headquarters, settle the controversy that has been started among a number of people as to whether she really is a bloodhound?

Ever since the dogs were shipped here from Kansas there have been rumors current that the department had been taken in, if the dogs were bought for bloodhounds. Chief Troyer, however, is not worrying a bit over the matter and has a confident smile for all unbelievers. He has a guaranty from the proprietor of the Wildwood kennels, Wichita, Kan., that "Kit" is a thoroughbred American bloodhound, subject to register and with a long pedigree.

"Kit" has been guaranteed as a thoroughbred American bloodhound, but the proprietor of the kennels from which she came has promised to send her pedigree as soon as he gets through with an engagement at the Iowa state fair.

"Kit's" puppies are by an English bloodhound, and it is the understanding that the state registrar will register them, too, are subject to register. This will be known more definitely when the papers come.

"Kit" was also guaranteed to be thoroughly "broke" at the time of her purchase, whereas the young dogs that were sent across the bay will require more training, although they have already demonstrated their man-hunting abilities. Mart Adson, local general agent of the South Shore road, who is pretty well acquainted with the characteristics of blooded dogs, says there is no question in his mind but that "Kit" is a full blooded bloodhound. He says that the popular notion that a bloodhound is "chubby" to supply the nose and deeply wrinkled nose is all a fallacy; that a bloodhound is really a small-sized hound, with sharp features and intelligent head. He believes that "Kit" presents a fine picture of a dog of that type.

Recently when in North Dakota Mr. Adson saw two bloodhounds from either the state reformatory or state penitentiary, that had been used for trailing a lost woman, and he says these were small with sharp features and very much resembled the dog belonging to the local police department. Frank E. Berry, another local sportsman, who is also an authority on dogs, says "Kit" is beyond doubt a bloodhound. He says that he has seen a dog at Floodwood that is part bloodhound and part deerhound, and he says that the two species somewhat resemble each other. Mr. Berry says that the wrinkles that some people always look for on bloodhounds' faces are merely for advertising purposes and little seen outside of "Uncle Tom Cabin" shows.

Three Concerts in November
In Duluth in All Probability.

Three concerts in the Lyceum theater of Duluth by the great Theodore Thomas' orchestra, of Duluth, is what the settlers in the vicinity of Duluth are looking forward to, and it will be a feast such as the Duluth people have not had in years.

The great organization may come here in November, playing two evenings of music. It is through the efforts of Milton R. Griffin, of the Bradbury School of Music, and Manager Charles A. Marshall, of the Lyceum, that the booking is being arranged. To bring the orchestra here, however, a large guaranty must be made, the largest probably ever given to any organization in the history of Duluth. Naturally, they are dependent upon the people of Duluth, and must obtain subscriptions that will reimburse them for the amount they must pledge.

There is little doubt, however, that the people of Duluth will not fail to see that the great orchestra, which is admittedly the foremost of this country, is brought here.

MEN COMING EAST.
Camp Young, West Point, Ky., Sept. 25.—The first excitement in this part of Hardin county since 1864, when Gen. Russell placed a small detachment of infantry on Fort Hill, a short distance from West Point, was caused today when the people gathered in astonishment upon the arrival of the soldiers on the train. The detachment is six inches thick over everything and the soldiers are as hard as iron, making the throwing up of ground works a laborious task.

The live stock collection has been enlarged at an expense of $20,000, the walks to the street car have been widened at a cost of $10,000, another annex between the machinery hall and the dome building built, costing $80,000, and other improvements made, aggregating $100,000.

START TWO MORE MILLS
Millers Finding Some Men to Take Strikers' Places.

Minneapolis, Sept. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mill owners have started two more mills and are gradually getting men to take the places of the strikers. The latter sent a delegation to the university this morning to attract students not to take the places offered to them. They also requested the secretary of the University of Minnesota to stop hiring men, but he declined to do so. A boycott has been declared by the strikers against local grocery stores that has been furnished by the strikers. The final and definite refusal of the owners to arbitrate on the ground that they had already made all the concessions possible if the business is to be carried on, has caused the strikers to settle down to a long struggle.

MURDERED BY TOUGHS

The Killing of F. A. Verdue Was Not Pre-meditated.

New York, Sept. 25.—No further arrests have been made in the case of F. A. Verdue, the private detective who was assaulted last night on West Fifty-fifth street, while working on a case in that vicinity, and who died later in the hospital. The police have learned, however, that the man who made the assault was Joseph Hanson, another employee of the detective agency, who was working with Verdue on the case, and who was arrested on the identification of Mary Hamilton, a colored woman, who told the police she had seen him assault Verdue. Hanson was arraigned this morning, the magistrate remanding him to the coroner. Hanson does not accord with the description of the murderer obtained by the police, who described the Hamilton woman's story. Hanson's eye is blackened and his face scratched and the police believe he received these injuries at the time Verdue was assaulted.

Manager Robert Ferns, of the detective agency by which Verdue and Hanson were employed, said today: "There was no contemplated murder in the case. The trouble grew out of a misunderstanding on the part of the toughs in the vicinity of West Fifty-fifth street as to what Verdue and Hanson were doing in the neighborhood. They were sent up by us on Thursday to find a certain person. Their mission was not important, nothing that would furnish a motive to murder them. The two men had excited the suspicion of the toughs by distributing notices among the children and by hanging about the vicinity."

Chicago, Sept. 25.—"Babylonia," not Babylon, is the seat of President Harper's interest in the Orient. John Hokkala Convicted of Manslaughter In Second Degree.
Indictment Charged the First—The Jury Recommends Mercy.

Guilt of manslaughter in the second degree was the verdict of the jury in the case against John Hokkala, charged with manslaughter in the first degree. The case went to the jury yesterday afternoon, and the verdict followed three minutes later. It was accompanied by a recommendation to the mercy of the court.

The crime may be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for one to fifteen years, but Hokkala is but 21 years of age and is likely to be sentenced to the state reformatory at St. Cloud. He is a Finn and cannot talk English.

He killed Matt Rantala at Hibbing, July 4, during a drunken row on the street. Hokkala had been fighting with Matt Berlio, and both had been badly punished. Hokkala's face being covered with blood so that he was perhaps half blind. Rantala pushed into the crowd to see what was going on, and Hokkala hit him in the head with a heavy stone, causing death four days later.

Hokkala said on the stand that he had no recollection of what happened on the afternoon of the Fourth.

Heartlessness.

Edward Giralds, a waiter, arrested Thursday evening charged with non-support of his wife, was convicted in municipal court yesterday afternoon and given a jail sentence in default of a $100 bond that he will hereafter pay his wife $5 per week for her maintenance.

Giralds was very independent yesterday before his trial and threatened the police with all sorts of punishment for the alleged indignity thrust on him. He engaged an attorney to defend himself, but the evidence put in by his wife was conclusive.

Mrs. Giralds testified, and had witnesses to corroborate her evidence, that her husband had neglected her and that when she was ill she might have starved had it not been for the kindness of neighbors, who fed her from the Bethel home.

After Giralds was convicted, his wife pleaded with the court to let her husband's bond. Failing in this, she pleaded with the court to let her husband's bond. Failing in this, she pleaded with the court to let her husband's bond.

SERVICES FOR SUNDAY IN DULUTH CHURCHES

John Callahan to Tell of Lake Winona Bible Assembly at Y. M. C. A.—Harvest Festival at Hope Church—Young People's Services at Second Presbyterian.

The Lake Winona Bible assembly in the last few years has become one of the world's greatest centers for the study of the Bible and the consideration of the vital evangelistic topics that interest the religious world. The conference is held yearly under the supervision of Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, the distinguished evangelist, and many of the leading Bible men and women of the world have places on its program. A great multitude of ministers and laymen find it profitable and restful to spend the vacation at the assembly and while the program is entirely of a religious nature it is well attended as the most successful Chautauqua assembly and the interest and attendance is growing year by year to such an extent that the already extensive accommodations are inadequate to the demand and additional quarters are being continually built.

John Callahan, of the Star of Hope Mission, has been an attendant at the sessions of the assembly for several years and on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. he will give an account of the best things heard there at its last session, which was held in August.

MANY PEOPLE HAVE CATARRH OF STOMACH AND DON'T KNOW IT.

A Beautiful Michigan Belle Cured of Catarrh of the Stomach by Pe-ru-na.

Louise Matt, Battle Creek, Mich., writes:

"I can only say what others have said before me, that Peruna is a most wonderful medicine for catarrh and stomach troubles. I suffered so long with indigestion and dyspepsia, and tried so many things to cure me, without relief, that I made up my mind my case was hopeless. One of my friends advised me to try Peruna for a month, assuring me that I could not fail to find from its use some relief and possibly a cure. So I took new courage and bought a bottle of Peruna, determined to give it a thorough trial, which I did. In just six weeks I was entirely rid of my stomach trouble, and bless the day when Peruna was brought to my notice."—Louise Matt.

No medicine in the world has cured more cases of dyspepsia than Peruna. The reason for this is that dyspepsia is a great majority cases depends upon catarrh of the stomach.

rapid eating, drinking ice water, the use of alcoholic stimulants and many other indiscretions.

Mrs. Camilla Chartier, 5 West Lexington St., Baltimore, Md., writes:

"Late suppers gradually affected my digestion, and made me a miserable dyspeptic suffering intensely at times. I took several kinds of medicine, which were prescribed by different physicians, but still continued to suffer. But the trial of one bottle of Peruna convinced me that it would rid me of this trouble, so I consumed it for several weeks, and I was in excellent health, having gained ten pounds."—Camilla Chartier.

Mrs. Jessie Colton, 423 East 19th St., New York city, writes:

"Through overwork and anxiety in my business I was very much run down. Had loss of appetite, and what was worse than that, loss of sleep at night. I was afraid I would have to consult a physician, when one of my customers advised me to try Peruna, as it had made her well and strong. I began to take it, and in a few days began to feel stronger, and from the first dose I slept at night, without awakening. I took only two bottles, now I am well, but I am never without Peruna in the house."—Mrs. Jessie Colton.

Catarrh of the stomach may have been set up by an extension of the catarrh from the throat or head. It may be induced by late suppers, indigestible diet, practical value to the world of mining and industry.

Adjoining the Miskawib property are the lands of the Union and Federal companies, both of which are being enhanced in value by the Miskawib work. The Union company, which owns the Kearsarge mine, also on the great Kearsarge ledge. Considerable drifting has been done on the first ledge of No. 1, Alameda shaft, and the showing in copper is among the best ever secured in the district. Work has begun on the second ledge, and the prospect is that this property may be confidently relied on to make another successful mine, though several years ago it was considered a barren and refractory conglomerate. The new mine is entirely distinct from the old workings, though being opened by the same shaft.

Another new Keweenaw county property that will profit by the development of the Kearsarge bed, and work will doubtless be started on this property next season. The Centennial is opening, or perhaps it might be more accurate to say, has already opened a big mine on the Kearsarge. The case of the Centennial is even more interesting than that of the Alouez, for two unsuccessful mines were previously opened on this company's lands, and there have been several reorganizations, under the names of the Centennial and Schoolcraft mines.

The first mine, on the Calumet conglomerate and next north of the Calumet and Hecla, was one of the greatest failures ever scored in this district, where both failures and successes are matters of millions. A second mine, opened on the Okeola amygdaloid, about 70 feet westward of and parallel with the original mine, was also a failure. It was not a failure, though it is probable that a limited production can be secured from these shafts, in connection with the working of the new mine on the Kearsarge bed, but the Okeola mine is so lean at this point that it would not pay to work alone.

The Centennial is opening, or perhaps it might be more accurate to say, has already opened a big mine on the Kearsarge. The case of the Centennial is even more interesting than that of the Alouez, for two unsuccessful mines were previously opened on this company's lands, and there have been several reorganizations, under the names of the Centennial and Schoolcraft mines.

The first mine, on the Calumet conglomerate and next north of the Calumet and Hecla, was one of the greatest failures ever scored in this district, where both failures and successes are matters of millions. A second mine, opened on the Okeola amygdaloid, about 70 feet westward of and parallel with the original mine, was also a failure. It was not a failure, though it is probable that a limited production can be secured from these shafts, in connection with the working of the new mine on the Kearsarge bed, but the Okeola mine is so lean at this point that it would not pay to work alone.

THE HUMAN BODY IS A HUMAN MACHINE

Chiropractic is a drugless system and should not be confounded with massage, magnetic or hypnotic treatment as it bears no resemblance to any of them. Chiropractic is not osteopathy, but reaches many diseases that osteopathy cannot reach. Chiropractic is based upon these two principles:

1. Luxation of Bones Causes Pressure on Nerves.
2. Pressure on Nerves Causes Disease.

The Chiropractor's business is to take off the pressure. Our philosophy of taking off the pressure has the most rational claim upon all sufferers. We give a logical reason for the cause of disease and we do not treat effect. We adjust cause. Marvelous results follow our system of body adjustment, and I stand ready to give you abundant testimony of cures—permanent cures—wonderful cures. If you have any of the following ailments, stop taking drugs; go to a competent Chiropractic and have him take off the pressure:

Apoplexy	Catarrh	Deafness	Hay Fever	Lost Manhood	Nervous Debility	Scarlet Fever
Asthma	Childbed Fever	Epilepsy	Heart Disease	Locomotor Ataxia	Ovarian Diseases	Sciatica
Appendicitis	Cancer	Eczema	Hysteria	Leucorrhoea	Palsy	St. Vitus Dance

Cholera Morbus	Dyspepsia	Gall Stones	Liver Diseases	Neuralgia	Rheumatism	Varicose

If your ailment is not on this list, please bear in mind that this advertisement is not as large as a medical dictionary. I make it possible for nature to Cure all Diseases Without Drugs or Knife. This Means Your Disease. With interrupted nerve force, health is impossible. Without nerve force the blood cannot circulate properly. A lack of circulation means strangulation, and strangulation causes many diseases, such as dropsy, tumors; running sores, and the various so-called skin diseases. Chiropractic (nature's method), frees the circulation, thereby permitting the refuse to be thrown out of the body through the natural channels. Pressure upon Nerves causes such diseases as paralysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, asthma, female diseases and the various diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys. As all the motor and sensory powers are derived through the nerves, it is plain to be seen that the nerves should be free from all abnormal pressure. Strange, but true, all the nerves of the body may be acted upon by the hands. If you are interested in this natural, scientific treatment—if it appeals to you, or if you have a friend whom you know has tried medical treatment without avail, call or write for further facts, together with testimonials from leading Duluth citizens.

THE FIRST GAME

High School Football Team Will Play Superior Next Saturday.

Personnel of Team Not Yet Settled—Schedule Not Completed.

Local football enthusiasts will have an opportunity of judging the strength of the local high school eleven next Saturday, when the boys will line up against the eleven from the Blaine high school in Superior.

This will be the first game of the season, and will probably be the first time that the members of the team will line up together.

The personnel of the team is not yet known. Between fifteen and twenty men are working for positions, and it is doubtful if any one outside of Captain Richards, is assured of a place on the team.

The result is that the men are working like beavers and the hopes of the management for a fast winning team are increasing each day.

The men are no longer practicing at Mendota field, but line up at the driving park each afternoon.

The team this year will be of medium weight, but speedy, and Coach Church is endeavoring to make the men take full advantage of their speed, by getting away quickly and playing with the snap and dash that has always been characteristic of the Michigan university eleven.

The schedule of games for the season has not yet been completed but it has been decided to play the St. Paul team. The game will probably be played in St. Paul, as the St. Paul team visited Duluth last season, and the expense of bringing the team here would be rather more than the local association would care to attempt in its present condition.

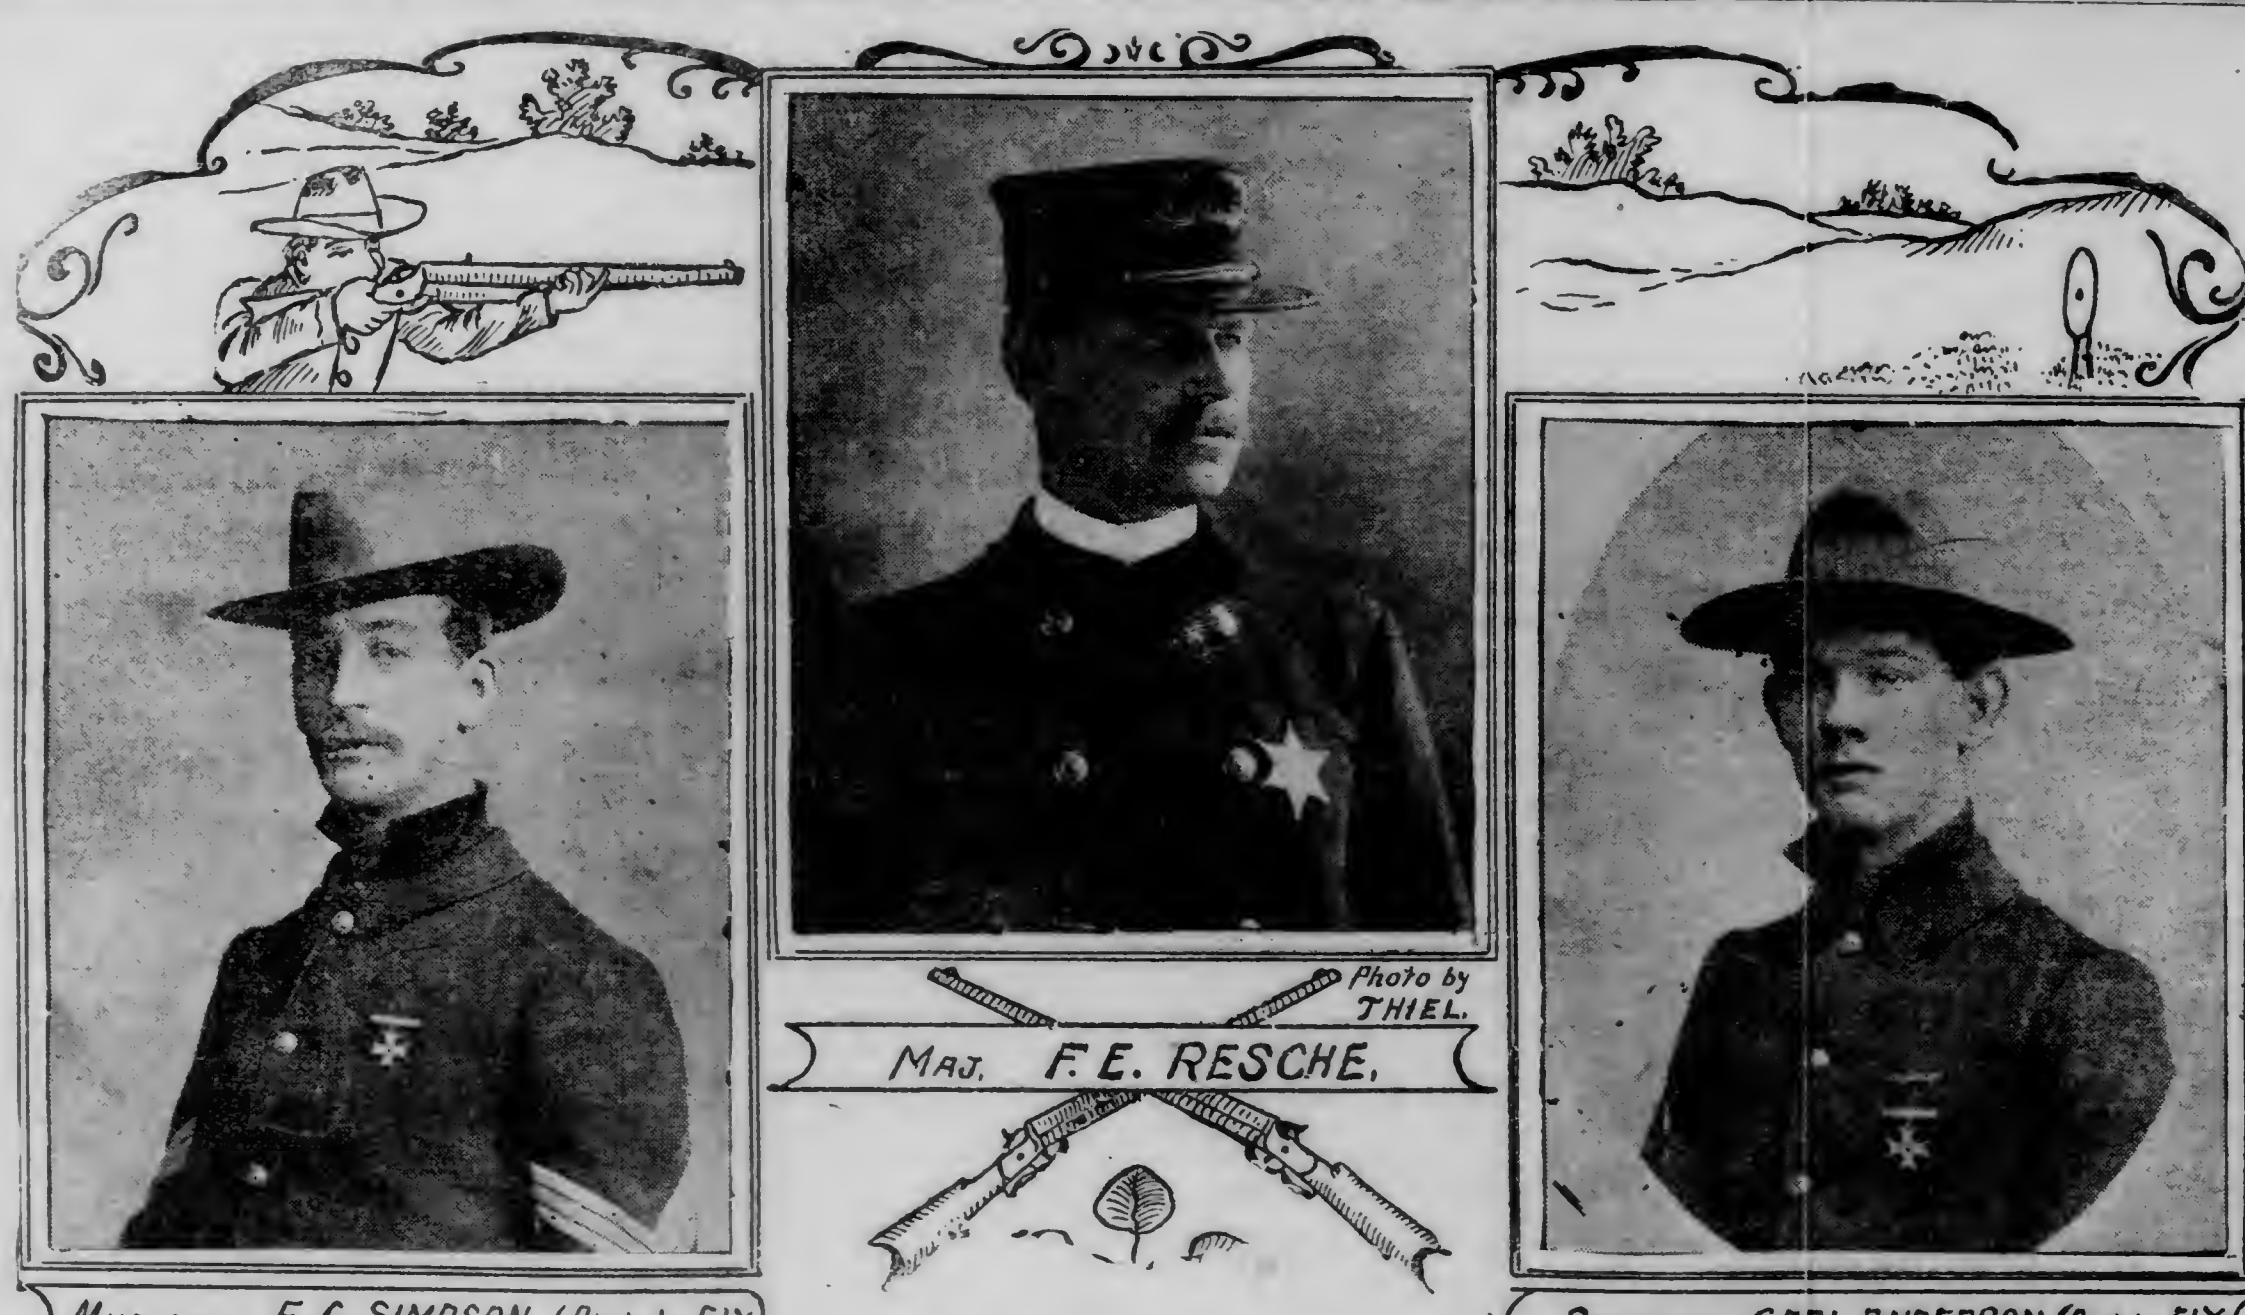

This is about the only game that has been definitely decided upon at present. Several other dates are nearly ready to be closed. St. Cloud Normal school, Ashland and Ironwood high schools, and one or two other teams in the vicinity are being corresponded with, and a full schedule will be completed within a few days.

The squad now consists of from 20 to 25 players, and on the work of the men next week, the team to represent the school Saturday will be picked.

With the coming of autumn and the first cool weather, the innumerable college football teams of this country are getting down to hard practice, and the first big games of the year are no longer distant events.

Duluth athletes and followers of the game are naturally more interested in the prospects of the Minnesota team than in those of the other universities in the West.

Reports from Northrop field during the past week or two have been in the main encouraging.

In practice games against the scrub teams and against the Minneapolis high school teams, the eleven has made a good showing, and the supporters of the team are already beginning to figure on beating Wisconsin again, in the big game of the season.

From these twenty-two men the eleven will doubtless be picked, and a desperate battle is going on between the candidates for positions on the team. Dr. Williams is again coaching the eleven, and the men are rapidly rounding into shape.

The following table gives the net result of the gossip of the sporting world in regard to the chances of the five big western teams, together with the number of veteran players, regulars and subs, that are available:

College.	Regs.	Subs.
Minnesota .....	good .. 7	6
Michigan .....	good .. 6	9
Chicago .....	good .. 12	2
Wisconsin .....	fair .. 5	2
Northwestern .....	fair .. 7	6

the above five teams are as follows:

Michigan: Redden, Yost, Roberts; Minnesota: Rogers, Williams, Bernard; Chicago: Ellsworth, Stagg, Stagg; Wisconsin: Abbott, Curtis, Kilpatrick; Northwestern: Flanagan, McCormack, Butterworth.

Illinois: Purdue, Kansas, Missouri, South Dakota, Knox, Lawrence and Oberlin are reported to stand good chances of placing winning teams in the field, while the chances of Iowa, Indiana, Nebraska, Notre Dame and Deoli, are reported to be but fair.

DELMAR TROTS INTWO MINUTES

Superb Gelding Equals World's Record Held By Lou Dillon.

New York, Sept. 26.—Maj. Delmar, champion gelding, yesterday lowered his record of 2:00 1/4 to 2:00, equalling the world's record held by Lou Dillon, at the Empire City track.

After a preliminary warning up, the major came out for the trial. At the second attempt he went away as steady as a clock and reached the quarter in :30 1/2. He flashed by the half-mile pole in :59. Then the grand stand rose and cheered as the gallant horse flew around the top turn to the three-quarter pole in 1:19 and came home to the wire in 2:00. Major Delmar is a New York animal, bred and foaled, trained and owned in the Empire state.

Two horses hitched to sulkeys were provided as pacer-makers. The sulky provided with the wind-break was driven by George S. Peers, trainer of Major Delmar.

In the 2:11 class Promise was the choice, at even money. He was beaten by a nose in the first heat and won the second by a head. In the third he was a poor third, and the judges were so dissatisfied that they declared all pools off on the race and fined the driver $100.

ROOSEVELT DID NOT KNOW

Trainer of His Horse, "Wyoming," Tells Its History.

St. Louis, Sept. 25.—Had President Roosevelt known what he was bestriding when he mounted his gift horse, Wyoming, for his now famous forty-five mile ride from Laramie to Cheyenne, Wyo., he might have experienced some doubts as to his finish.

According to J. G. Wright, of Cheyenne, who trained the horse, and who is now in St. Louis on business, Wyoming, a few weeks before he was presented to the president, was an unbroken range horse. Although he had never been under saddle, he was 5 years old, and all the tricks of the Western horse in him were set when Wright took him in hand.

In eight weeks he was given over to the president, a thoroughly broken animal, with seven gaits and no bad habits.

"Not many amateur riders care to tackle a horse that has been running wild on the plains two months before," says Wright.

The president, however, knew nothing about Wyoming's rapid education. He saw merely what the people of Wyoming claimed was the finest saddle horse in the state, valued at $500.

Wyoming came off the Douglas ranch, near Cheyenne. He was turned over to Wright, a professional trainer, to break at two months' notice. Wright was offered $500 for the satisfactory performance of his task.

He worked daily with the unintelligent animal and in a short time had cured all his tricks. June 2 the horse was presented to the president and shortly after the record ride from Laramie to Cheyenne was made on him.

Wyoming is now at Oyster Bay, and though his wild range freedom has been a matter of history but six months, he is so tractable that Mrs. Roosevelt and the president's children have frequently ridden him.

THE INDOOR LEAGUE

Schedule of Games For First Half of the Season.

All Star Games With a Fast Team to Be Arranged.

The executive board of the Indoor Baseball association held a meeting last evening at the Armory, and transacted considerable business of importance.

The most important matter to come before the meeting was the schedule for the coming year.

The team which entered under the name of the Athletics has been changed to the Universal Millers, and will play under that name this season.

The following is the schedule adopted for the fall series:

Freimuth's vs. Big Duluth, Oct. 23.
Company A vs. Company I, Oct. 29.
Universal Millers vs. Freimuth's, Nov. 6.
Big Duluth vs. Company A, Nov. 12.
Company I vs. Universal Millers, Nov. 20.

Freimuth's vs. Company A, Nov. 26.
Big Duluth vs. Company I, Dec. 4.
Universal Millers vs. Company A, Dec. 12.
Freimuth's vs. Company I, Dec. 18.
Big Duluth vs. Universal Millers, Dec. 25.

Extra date, Dec. 31.
Some time during the season an exhibition game between an all-star aggregation from Duluth and either the university of Minnesota team or the team from the Amateur Athletic association of St. Paul will be played. This game will be played on one of the above dates, and all the games that remain unplayed at that time will be moved forward one peg, making the last game between the Big Duluth and Universal Millers come on Dec. 31.

After the first of the year a new schedule for the winter months will be drawn up.

The umpires, David Padlock and Elmer Whyte, and an official scorer were also chosen at the meeting last evening.

The Spalding rules, the Reach ball and bat and the constitution and by-laws of the National association, with a few minor exceptions to meet local conditions, were adopted. Some changes in the ground rules are under consideration, but the final adoption of a set of ground rules was left over until the next meeting, next Friday evening.

VISIT FROM GERMAN SHIPS.
Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 26.—The German cruiser Falke, Capt. Musculus, arrived in port yesterday, firing the national salute as she passed the forts and navy yard. The vessel will remain until Oct. 2, when it will sail for Kingston. The vessel was shown the courtesies of the port by the government officials, who together with the city officers, paid a call this afternoon when the health of the kaiser was drunk. The Germans toasted President Roosevelt. The Falke was recently in the blockade off Venezuela.

OFFICIALS INDICTED

Six Indictments Are Returned By Grand Jury at Detroit.

Detroit, Sept. 26.—Six indictments were returned yesterday afternoon by the grand jury which has been investigating municipal affairs, and particularly the department of public works, for the last two months. Five of them were made public in court late this afternoon, and they name the following persons:

D. H. Moreland, former commissioner of public works, recently removed from office by the council; Herman Wartell and T. J. White, former employees of the public works department under Moreland; John Heck, a former department of works employee and contractor; Henry Meridian, a contractor, and his associate, Robert Conway. Moreland is named in each of the five indictments read in court yesterday afternoon. Two of the indictments charge him with conspiracy to defraud, and the other three with misappropriation and conspiracy to defraud the city to the use of others. In the first of the indictments alleging conspiracy it is charged that Moreland, Meridian, Conway, Wartell and White conspired in March, 1902, to defraud the city of $1000 through the payrolls of the department of works for street sweeping and teaming; and in the second, that Moreland, with Wartell, White and Heck, conspired in the same month to defraud the city out of $1000 through street sweeping and teaming bills. The other three indictments charge Moreland, under a special statute, with converting 1785 feet of Medina curbstone, valued at $899, to Thomas J. Kennedy; with converting 1022 cubic yards of sand, worth $500, to Henry Meridian & Co., and with converting 400 yards of crushed stone, worth $400, to John Archer and John Heck. The sixth indictment was not read in court, and Prosecutor Hunt declined to state last night whether or not it named any persons mentioned in the other five.

Mr. Moreland came into court early last evening, and when asked to plead stood mute, on advice of his attorney. The judge, accordingly, entered a plea of not guilty and fixed Mr. Moreland's bail on all five indictments at $6000. It was given.

John Heck was also in court and gave bail. Warrants for the arrest of the other indicted men were issued and placed in the hands of the sheriff. Henry Meridian is ill at his home and will be unable to be arraigned in court. A certificate to this effect was presented yesterday afternoon, signed by his physician.

After the first of the year a new schedule for the winter months will be drawn up.

The umpires, David Padlock and Elmer Whyte, and an official scorer were also chosen at the meeting last evening.

AT WEST DULUTH

"Jubilee night" at the West Duluth Commercial club proved to be even a greater success than the members hoped for.

The Republican club headquarters was filled to its capacity by the members of the club and their friends, and the affair proved to be one of the most enjoyable events held in West Duluth in many months.

After the regular business of the meeting had been transacted, the members of the club settled back to listen to the speeches and stories, and enjoy their cigars.

Among the speakers were H. H. Phelps,
Rev. Father Feehely, Alderman
Barnes, M. M. Clark, W. H. Sweet, G.
J. Mallory and C. E. Martin.
The occasion for the gathering was the restoration of the Northern Pacific train service to West Duluth, but other achievements accomplished by the club during the past few months came in for their share of notice.

C. O. Nelson, of the West End, who was largely responsible for the agitation for the restoration of the old service, was a guest of honor and made a brief address, which was listened to with deep interest. The members, on motion of I. Burnside, passed a formal vote of thanks to Mr. Nelson for his efforts in the cause.

A short business session of the club was also held, in which several matters of importance to West Duluth came up.

H. H. Phelps made a report of the committee appointed to meet with the park board and told of what it had accomplished.

A motion was also passed asking for an additional water main to West Duluth. The subject was brought up on account of recent breaks in the only main that runs to this section of the city, which supply cut off the water supply from the western section and left the town open to great danger from fire.

It was recommended to the board of water and light commissioners that the extra main be laid at the same time the proposed gas main is put in.

A motion was also passed asking that W. C. Sargent be instructed to lay the block of slate paving which he proposed to put down as an experiment on Fifty-fifth avenue at the railroad crossing.

The meeting adjourned shortly after 11 o'clock.

EXTENDING BOULEVARD.

Reason to Believe That Duluth Will Get It Soon.

The members of the park board and the committee from the West Duluth Commercial club inspected the proposed route to the extension of the boulevard drive yesterday afternoon.

The party consisted of Mayor Hugo, Alderman Barnes, Secretary Hein, Hishon McGrover, L. Macdonald, F. A.
Clarkson and Dr. I. Burnside. City Engineer Patton, Mr. M. Clark, J. A. Scott,
H. H. Phelps and Andrew Miles.

The party drove through Lincoln park and along the drive to the proposed extension as far as Sixty-fifth avenue west.

A prominent member of the park board, in speaking of the matter of the extension, expressed himself as favorable to the plan. He reported that the part of the boulevard between Lincoln park and Fortieth avenue had been already graded and could be put in good condition for a very small sum of money, and it is not unlikely that this will be done in the near future. A connection will also be made with Fortieth avenue west, which will give access to the boulevard from West Duluth.

The plan of extending the boulevard further west of the city with the Bay View Heights road was also looked upon favorably by the members of the board, and it is likely that the plan will be taken toward extending a right-of-way as soon as the finances of the city permit of the extension.

The members of the committee of the West Duluth Commercial club expressed themselves as much pleased at the manner in which the park board had looked at the matter, and they have hoped that their efforts will be crowned with success.

MACHEN'S TRIAL

To Be Taken Up at Washington Next Month.

Washington, Sept. 26.—A. W. Machen will be the first person involved in the postal frauds to be tried, a practical agreement between the attorneys representing both sides to begin the trials in October having been reached. The trial of the district supreme court, in which the trials will occur begins in October, and when court opens a motion will be made to set the date for the trial. It is believed that the last Monday will be the day decided upon.

Machen will be tried with J. A. Scott, Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz for conspiracy to defraud the government.
Attorneys representing both sides included in the indictments Thursday conferred with District Attorney Beach, and an agreement was reached. Machen's trial will be with great interest, as he is expected to make some disclosures involving prominent persons who have not yet become entangled in the meshes of the law.

SHORTEST MAN IN G. A. R.

John Brown, Four Feet
Eleven, Claims Distinction.

Lake City, Iowa, Sept. 26.—John Brown, of this city, is the shortest member of the Grand Army of the Republic. His height is 4 feet 11 1/2 inches.
He made his claim to this distinction when the San Francisco Chronicle during the recent national G. A. R. encampment there published a picture of him. John E. Godfrey and Thomas F. Hayes as the shortest member of the G. A. R.
Meisterstein is 5 feet 2 inches tall. Both these men are under the regulation for United States army soldiers, but got in when the demand for men exceeded the supply.

Conrad Brown was born April 11, 1856, at Glasgow, Scotland. He served in the war of the rebellion as a private in Company H, Ninety-fourth Illinois infantry. He is now a member of Lander post No. 156, G. A. R., of this city.

WEALTHY BEGGARS.

Two That Possess Good-Sized Bank Accounts.

New York, Sept. 26.—"Blinkie" and
"Dear Friends," two of the wealthiest and most troublesome professional beggars in the country, were arrested by John E. Godfrey and Thomas F. Hayes of the charity organization society yesterday. It is known the two men are worth at least $50,000, the fruit of nearly forty years of shrewd sales getting.

"Dear Friends," who is 56 years old, and whose right name is William Vaughn, has more than $40,000 in Brooklyn banks and in real estate, and "Blinkie," who is about the same age as Vaughn, is known to be at least as rich.

"Blinkie" has been a beggar in the Wall street financial district for twenty years. Ten years ago he collected three sums of money by going about among wealthy men, telling a sad story of the loss of an eye. Among those who were touched by "Blinkie's" appeals are E. Prentice Parmelee, John D.
Rockefeller's son-in-law, Adrian King,
Raymond M. Lowrey and Richard
Dwight, of Jersey City.

MINES ARE INCORPORATED.
Trenton, N. J., Sept. 26.—The Cornupia mines of Oregon, capitalized at $1,000,000, were incorporated here today.
The object of the company is to purchase and acquire all the mines in Union county, near Baker City, Ore., known as the Cornucopia mines. The incorporators are Charles M. King,
Raymond M. Lowrey and Richard
Dwight, of Jersey City.

Southern Minnesota People Marvel at Products of This Section.

Fine Exhibit Made at Carver County Fair
at Chaska.

St. Louis and Carlton county products were represented a few days ago at the Carver county fair at Chaska, Minn., and the county papers have had many nice things to say about the possibilities of the Northern counties in consequence.

A Carver, Minn., local paper says:
"All the exhibits gave a very creditable appearance. Probably the most prominent was the display of George Knoblauch, representing the products of Carlton county, and also St. Louis county. Something like forty varieties of grain with a splendid assortment of vegetables and fruit was arranged with exquisite taste. Everything in the display was a product of Northern Minnesota, and it was a significant testimonial of the complete returns that are being secured from these counties.

There were four varieties of potatoes, all of which have been yielding 400 bushels to the acre and selling for $1 per bushel. The curly cabbage was unique and the rutabagas and the beets were of unusual size. Prominent among the fruit displays were three varieties of grapes, the variegated apples and some excellent specimens of musk melons."

The Chaska paper says: "We will first tell you about George Knoblauch's exhibit. It consisted mostly of Carlton county products, but also included grasses. It was superb in its line and attracted much attention. The wheat, barley, oats, rye and clover were simply immense and among the finest we have ever had the pleasure of viewing. Talk about the success of the exhibit, it inhibited some that could and would carry away the blue ribbon at any fair.

The vegetables were of the most also very fine, especially an ordinary red radish which measured about four inches in diameter and weighed about a rock. This exhibit speaks volumes for the land in Carlton and St. Louis counties, which Mr. Knoblauch is agent for. Mr. Hazen, of Duluth, ably assisted Mr. Knoblauch."

The exhibits also referred to are those which the Horton & Duluth Farm Land company had at the state fair this fall.

THE STAGE

Popular refined melodrama held the boards at the Lyceum last evening.

"The Convict's Daughter" was the bill and it was a success. The play, which opened last evening, was a melodrama of the most refined and refined type.
The grand climax of the play comes in the fourth act, when the hero, who escapes from the prison by leaping over a wall, is rescued by the heroine, who was a grand success, but it is indescribable.

Some of the actors in the play deserve a better fate. Miss Marguerite Blake was a wonderful success. Her part made a very charming household.
The play was a success, and the includes the names of the actors: Robert Graham, convict 1234 and William Woodford, Lou M. Searl scored a big success with her part. She was a most villainous villain, and Edward
S. Miller, a most heroic hero.

The play was repeated this afternoon and will be given again this evening.

Had Large Family.

In a letter to The Herald, Mrs. Olaf
A. Anderson, of 2326 West Second street, states that her husband, who was a dock of the Stevens' tug line Monday evening, states that the deceased leaves behind five sons and three daughters.
Instead of one son, as the papers first stated, Mrs. Anderson says six of the children are now living. She does not believe that her husband committed suicide, that nothing was further from the commission of such a deed.

FRESHMAN TOO FRESH.

Is Sat Upon By Muscular Young Women.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 26.—Four young women, sophomores at the Cleveland medical college, led their class in a victorious defense of their colors Thursday. The contending forces met at the college, there being twenty in each class.

One of the freshmen attacked Miss Horn, a young woman from Michigan.
She fought desperately, until both sleeves had been torn from her arms, but she did not give up. Three other women students came to her assistance, and between them they put the freshman on his back and upon his prostrate body. The hostilities terminated at sundown with the sophomore flag still flying at full mast.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all our friends for their many kind and sympathetic and their kindness and assistance rendered us in our recent bereavement.
MRS. O. S. ANDERSON AND CHILD-

READY FOR A DEAL.

Nicaraguans Are Anxious to Secure the Canal.

Washington, Sept. 26.—If President Roosevelt gives the word the state department can conclude the Nicaragua canal treaty within a week. Diplomatic representatives of Nicaragua and Costa Rica are in the city and are ready to ratification by the congress of each country.

A skeleton of the Nicaragua treaty has already been drawn. Only a day or two more will be required to have the treaty ready for signature. Senator Carter, of Nicaragua, is in the city and is ready to sign the treaty. The state department has received from Colombia, which was sufficiently definite to enable any one to say that the construction of the canal would be obliged to insure the Panama canal.
The Panama canal. Senator Carter and Nicaragua stand ready to conclude as reasonable a treaty as will be before the United States turned from the Nicaraguan route.

HAPPENINGS IN DAKOTAS

Farmer Struck By Train, Miraculously Escapes Death.

NORTH DAKOTA.
Mayville, N. D., Sept. 25.—A farmer, had a narrow escape from being killed by a Great Northern passenger train. He was driving home from Hutton on the track. The south-bound train struck him, threw the wagon off the track, and dumped its owner between the rails, and that he was not killed is miraculous, for the engine was stopped within a few inches of his head.

The Hyndman company, whose flax tow mill was burned, is negotiating with the Hyndman company for the rebuilding of the mill. It is not likely that an agreement will be reached as long as the company holds to its present conditions. The company wants a location nearer town and also a better site, but the company was not satisfied.

The Methodist church will close its doors, as there are not enough members to keep it going.

The state convention of the W. C. T. U. begins its sessions on Friday, the 27th.
In this city there will be three meetings a day for three days.

the meeting and of the hospitality extended the visitors.

Fargo—Reports of a strenuous time were made by the people of Fargo and his wife attended a dance at Galtchut.
It is said Guinness disliked the dance and his wife by a young man there and made a gun play. After their return home they spent some time in shooting, which resulted in Mrs. Guinness being taken to an Abercrombie hospital for treatment.
The wound in the mouth was said to have been caused by a bullet. She said the injury was caused by an accident, however, and there will be no prosecution. Guinness is a veteran of the Philippine service.

The official of the local land office decided in favor of Ludwig Johnson in his suit against the state. The land office against his entry to a quarter section in LaMoine township, which was made entry and it was announced that he had abandoned the claim. The contest was between his farm in Barnes county.
Johnson had moved his family upon the land, but the state had not yet there. He asserted that he had not abandoned the claim and did not take the family there because he heard of the contest.

Dismark—State Superintendent Stockwell has returned after a trip of several purpose has been in conference with educators of Minnesota at St. Paul and Minneapolis.

THE BABY IS AN ANOMALY
Should Have Died Within Three Days After Arrival.

St. Louis, Sept. 25.—A baby so small that its outspread hand does not cover the tip of a man's fore finger, that takes its food from a "teat dropper," that at the age of two weeks weighs only two pounds and five ounces, whose loud cry is not louder than the squeak of a field mouse, who is a senile-looking as a man of 90, is living at the St. Louis Female hospital.

The baby is an anomaly in medical annals. It is known as "a seven-month child," and was born in the hospital.
Medical authorities are unanimous in saying that such a child cannot live longer than three days and usually lives only a few hours. Yet this baby is alive after two weeks, with every prospect of continuing to live and to grow.

It is due to the unremitting care of Dr. A. H. Ehrlich, superintendent of the female hospital, and a baby incubator.

The baby weighed two pounds at birth, and is the child of a healthy woman, mother of two thriving children, one of whom weighed eight pounds at birth. As soon as it was born, Dr. E. brecht determined to save it, if possible, in the face of contradictory authorities.
He caused an incubator to be improved, and the baby was placed in it.

The incubator is like a small bathtub, with hollow walls five inches thick, and a curved bottom like a bowl. The walls are heated with hot water, and are enough to maintain the temperature at 100 degrees Fahrenheit, blood heat.

In this incubator the baby lies swathed in cotton. Once a day it is bathed in diluted alcohol, and rubbed with the forefinger of the physician. It means it absorbs stimulation and nourishment.
Once every two hours it takes barely an ounce of mother's milk from a half-ounce bottle furnished with a nipple.
From the time of its birth up to its fourth day it was kept in the incubator by drop from an

REALTY DEALERS HAVE MORE INQUIRY

Many Purchasers Are In the Market, Though the Record of Sales Is Not Large—Fairly Good Activity In Building Matters.

With the advent of better weather the local realty offices have had a busy week looking after inquiries and showing properties to intending purchasers. The transfer record of the week shows that little selling has been accomplished this week, but the market has a good tone and there are evidences everywhere of something doing. The real estate brokers are anticipating a good fall business from the inquiry now being made and without exception characterize the local situation as very satisfactory.

The largest sale reported this week is that of the property at 615 West Superior street, from Mary A. Hanning to S. L. Levin, of this city. The consideration is said to have been about $25,000. The property lies in the middle of the block on the upper side of the street, has a 50-foot frontage, runs back 140 feet to the alley, and contains a residence and some land. It is a desirable location for a business property, and is likely to be used for that purpose in the near future.

Among the sales of C. H. Graves & Co. this week was a lot at Nineteenth avenue east and Dugway street to E. J. Duffies. The lot is to be improved the coming season. Mr. Niles reports a good inquiry with a number of trades now pending.

Mr. Lyons, of William Frindle & Co., reports a very busy week but few deals far enough closed for publication. Among the firm's sales of late is a residence property at 13 West Fourth street, from George Shultz to E. M. Freeman, for $2000. The property is described as the west half of lot 11, West Fourth street, Duluth proper.

Another fair-sized sale of the week is that of H. S. Smith to Mary Leifeld, of the property at 25 feet of lot 25 and all of lot 3, block 2, Industrial division. The property is located at the corner of Clark avenue and Fifth street and contains a number of buildings. The purchase price was $2000.

A. Elger has passed from Mary J. Crosby, for $5000, 80 acres of land in section 20-55-19. The land is located not far from Virginia.

T. G. Vaughn reports a fairly active week. He has sold two houses and lots on Fourth street, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth avenues west.

W. C. Sargent has disposed of several Lakeside houses and lots. He reports a good inquiry for Park Point and West Duluth properties, looking for a new house and lot in both localities next spring. Mr. Sargent considers the outlook very good for an active realty market.

J. A. Wharton, of Little & Nolte, says the firm has been very busy this week, and among its sales already closed had one of a house and lot on Eighth street and a lot on Jefferson street.

Mr. Brown, of Stryker, Manley & Buck, says the local market is fairly good for the season of the year, and that inquiries are coming in steadily for both improved and unimproved properties. The firm has a number of houses and lots for sale, and is looking for a new house and lot in the West Third street for an Eastern client.

Hill & Bray, architects, report the contract for the addition to 323 West Superior street, between Nineteenth and Twentieth streets, to be completed this week. The consideration was $4750. The firm is also placing some houses.

Young & Nystrom, architects, have plans prepared ready for the contractors of a warehouse to be erected on Fifth street, between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues west, for the National Candy company, of the city. The structure will be a frame building, two stories high, 24 by 70 feet, and is to be finished by Oct. 15.

The firm is also getting out the plans for a new store building for Lundmark & Franson, grocers, to be erected by Nov. 15, on the northeast corner of Tenth avenue east and Second street. The building will be of brick, one story high with a basement, and 40 by 35 feet in dimensions. The bids will be in the contractors' hands today.

Property owners at Duluth Heights are very anxious that Alderman McEwen's project for a water plant in that suburb be carried out. They claim that it will be a powerful incentive toward bringing other home builders into that locality, and that a water system would surely be followed by a sewer system. Duluth Heights people claim that the principal objection raised to the Heights by home builders in past years has been the absence of a water system, and with one in operation they predict a rapid growth of that section of the city within the next few years.

Among the visitors of the past week were Gen. R. M. Newport, of St. Paul, state correspondent of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company, and Jacob H. Green, secretary. They were looking over the company's investments, which amount to about $2,000,000, with the local agent, F. J. Salter. Gen. Newport reported the company as well pleased with the Duluth holdings, and regards the city as one of the most prosperous and substantial in the Northwest.

George H. Lounsbury began this week the foundation work for the new $25,000 children's home at Fifteenth avenue east and Fifth street. Mr.

Otto Erickson et ux to Edward Maere: 1/2 lot 3, block 15, Town of Grant.

THE NORTHERN MINNESOTA METHODIST CONFERENCE

Ninth Session Will Be Held In Duluth This Year.Deliberations to Be Presided Over By Bishop Fitzgerald.Dr. Robert Forbes an Interesting Figure at the Conference.

The ninth session of the Northern Minnesota conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held in Duluth this year. The sessions will be formally opened on the morning of Thursday, Oct. 1, but on the evening previous the welcome to the visitors will be extended and a reception extended to the members of the conference.

The meeting of this conference will bring to the city ministers and their wives to the number of about 250. There will be about sixty-five women in attendance, which makes the number of clergymen a little short of 200. Upon the members of the church the entertainment of these visitors will fall for it has always been customary for the members of the church in whose city the conference meets to entertain the ministers and their wives.

In addition to the clergy, there will be 150 delegates to the lay electoral conference. These lay delegates are not entertained by the members of the church, however.

The deliberations of the conference will be presided over by Bishop James N. Fitzgerald, of St. Louis, Mo., who for four years was resident bishop at Minneapolis in this state.

The work devolving upon the conference is considerable. There are delegates to be elected to the general conference which will meet in the city of Los Angeles, Cal., in May next. The general conference is made up of delegates from the different conferences of the country, each being entitled to one delegate for each forty-five members or major part thereof. Under this apportionment the Northern Minnesota conference is entitled to four delegates.

Every minister within the conference boundaries is a member of the conference, but no layman is a member, although they are in the general conference.

It is also provided that an equal number of laymen shall be elected delegates to the general conference, and hence once in four years the laymen meet at the time of the annual conference to elect delegates. One layman from each charge is entitled to attend. In this case four delegates will be chosen by the laymen, who will assemble. Their sessions will be held on Friday and they will be addressed by the bishop.

Another great feature of the conference is the stationing of the pastors and this is, perhaps, of greater interest to the members than any other branch of the work. The assignments are made by the bishop.

One of the strong men who will be at the conference will be Dr. Marcus D. Buell, dean of the school of theology of the Boston university, and one of the brightest men in Methodism in this country. He comes by special invitation to attend the conference and will deliver a series of addresses on theological subjects of keen interest to the ministers.

This will afford to many ministers an opportunity to come into contact with the mind of one of the great seminarists of the country. For most of them it is difficult to go to the seminary and in this instance the seminarist is coming to them. He will speak on each of the three first days of the conference at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and comes from the East especially for this meeting, returning at once upon the conclusion of his lectures here.

Dr. Jabez B. Brooks, who has been professor of Greek in the university of Minnesota since 1872 has been invited to preach the opening sermon of the conference and has accepted. It will also be his semi-centennial sermon. His sermon will be delivered at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, and will be followed by the serving of the sacrament of the Lord's supper, after which the business of the conference will be on.

Bishop James N. Fitzgerald, who comes here from St. Louis, Mo., where he makes his residence, to preside over the deliberations of this conference, is regarded as one of the strong men of Methodism in the United States. He was born in Newark, N. J., July 27, 1837. His first intention was to follow the law as a profession, and he was admitted to the bar in New Jersey in 1858, being then but 21 years of age. Four years later he joined the Newark conference, and was a pastor and presiding elder there for a number of years. From 1860 to 1888 he was the recording secretary of the Missionary society of the M. E. church. He was a member of the general conference of the years 1876, 1880, 1884 and 1888, and in 1888 was elected a bishop of the church. He was at Minneapolis for several years. He received the degree of D.D. from Wesleyan university in 1880, and LL.D. from Hamilton university in 1883.

Bishop Fitzgerald is noted for his fine and executive parliamentary ability, and as a presiding officer is said to be exceptionally gifted.

He is a debater of wonderful power, though in the capacity of bishop he does not now have opportunity to display his talents in that direction. It was through this gift that he first came into the conspicuous notice of the church. Dr. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate, is always one of the features of the general conference, being a man whom few can cope with in debate, and who does not hesitate to raise his voice upon almost any subject. Naturally he has always been much feared and respected by those who held views opposite to his. In one of the conferences he ran counter to the ideas of Rev. Fitzgerald. The result was that the hitherto invincible Buckley was completely demolished and with an ease, swiftness and overwhelming force that was astonishing to all and was the delight of everyone who had ever felt the lash of the belligerent Buckley's tongue.

Bishop Fitzgerald will be heard a number of times during the conference, and as a speaker he always commands attention. The address which he will deliver to the class of new ministers Saturday morning in all probability will be one of the most important and most interesting of the session. He is also to make one of the responses to the address of welcome from the Methodists of Duluth, and will preach at the First Methodist church Sunday morning.

Dr. Robert Forbes will be an interesting figure of the conference. Since the last one was held he was elected assistant secretary of the board of church extension of the M. E. church, and though always popular and a conspicuous man in all of the conferences, this has brought him more closely to the minds of Methodists.

In all probability he will be selected for a marked honor from the conference, and one that will doubtless be a matter of great pride to him. This conference will have the selection of four ministers as delegates to the general conference. It is generally conceded that Dr. Forbes will be one of these and will be chosen to head the delegation.

Thursday evening of the conference will be given over to an address by Dr. Forbes, it being the anniversary of the board of church extension. On that occasion Rev. William Fielder, D.D., will preside.

An address of much interest will doubtless be that of Rev. W. P. Thirkield, D.D., secretary of the Freedman's Aid and Southern Educational society. He will take for his subject "The Leopard's Spots Changed," which indicates that he will have something to say contradictory to the novel by Rev. Thomas Dixon, "The Leopard's Spots," which discusses the race problem from a radical standpoint. At any rate his subject is without doubt suggested by the novel.

Missionary meetings are a feature of the conference. Thursday afternoon the anniversary of the Women's Home Missionary will be celebrated and an address will be delivered by Miss Mary Mahon, a woman well known in that field of work.

At 2 o'clock on Saturday the anniversary of the Women's Foreign Missionary society will be observed. To these meetings all of the women are welcome, there being no delegates.

A missionary sermon will be preached by Rev. W. H. Rider, D.D., Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and in the evening of that day the missionary anniversary will be celebrated with an address by Rev. J. W. Robinson, of Lucknow, India, one of the foremost workers of foreign missionary fields and who comes with the reputation of being a pulpit orator of fine powers.

Another service of much interest will be that of Sunday evening when the clergymen upon the generosity of the conference will be spoken for. These are the superannuated ministers, the men who have worn out their strength and endurance in the battle for their church and are dependent upon it for the remainder of their existence.

MONDAY, OCT. 5.
8:30 a. m.—Conference session.

It should be understood that all sessions of the conference are open to the general public and their presence is invited and desired.

The social features of the conference will be two in number. The first will be the reception and welcome to the visitors on the evening of Sept. 23, and the second the reception for the wives of the ministers on Thursday afternoon.

At the reception on Wednesday evening H. M. Bradley will be the chairman. He may be said to be the dean of the congregation of the First Methodist church and it is regarded as singularly fitting that he should be selected for this honor. He will deliver one of the addresses of welcome.

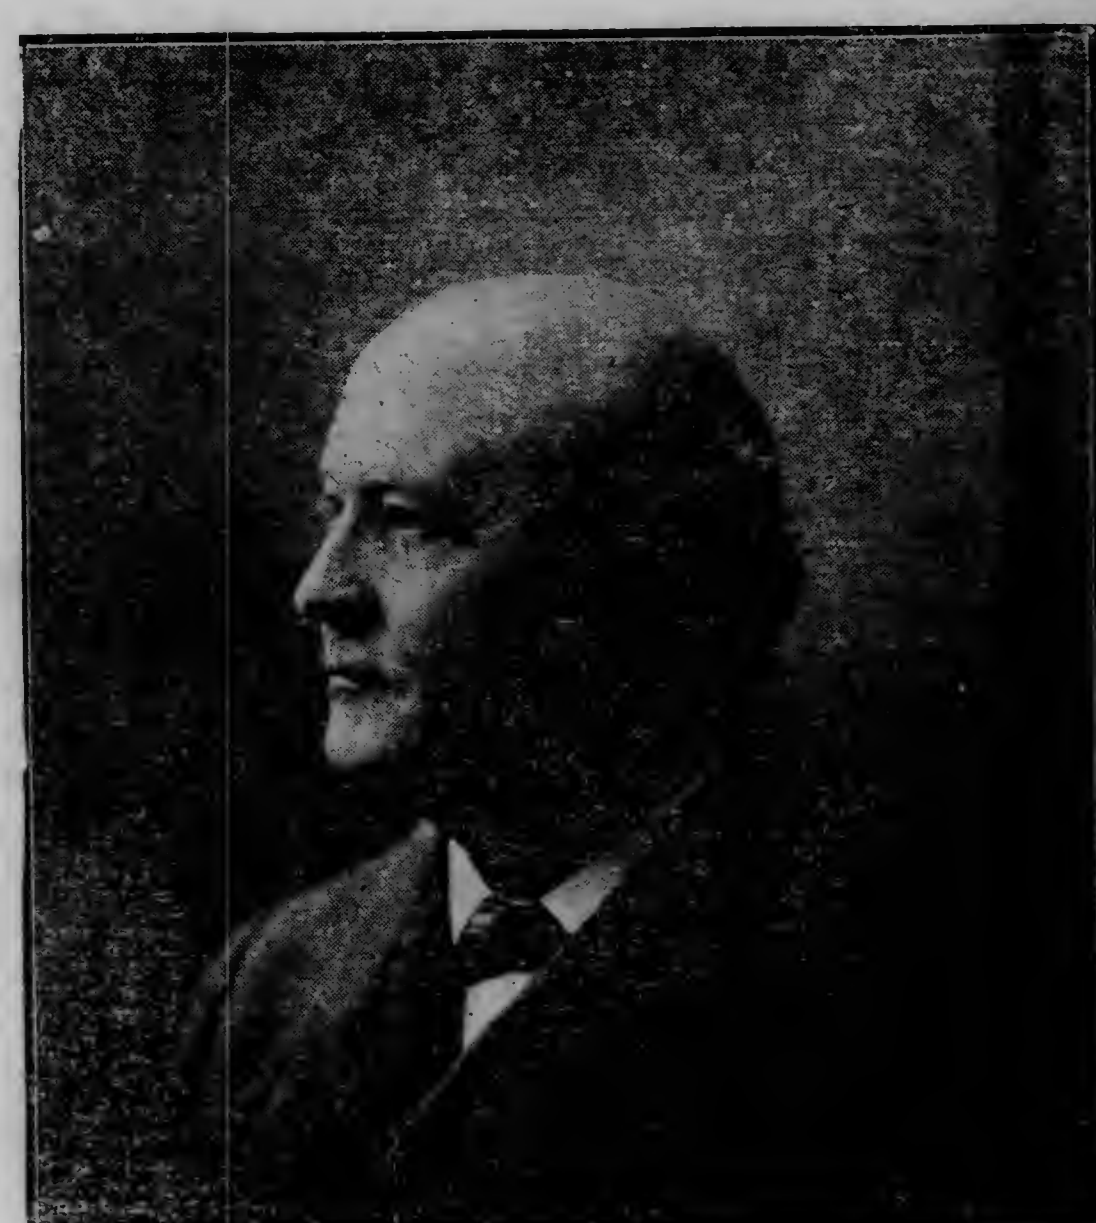

Watson S. Moore will also address the members of the conference extending the welcome of the Duluth Methodists. Mr. Moore has been a tireless worker in the interests of the church and the cause in which he is held by the members of the faith in the city is shown by the fact that he has been selected as the Duluth candidate for election as lay delegate to the general conference.

The responses of the addresses of welcome will be made by Rev. W. H. Rider, of Minneapolis, and Bishop James N. Fitzgerald.

Following these formal exercises there will be a general reception. The reception for the wives of the visiting ministers will be held from 4 to 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon and will be given by Mrs. Samuel P. Long, wife of the pastor of the church, assisted by the wives of the members of the official board of the church.

The task of arranging for the care of the visitors has been a very heavy one and has fallen largely upon Dr. Long, the pastor, but he has succeeded well. It has been no small matter to secure places for 250 guests, especially with the city so well filled as it is now with actual residents. In this work he has received excellent co-operation from Rev. E. G. Copper, of the Oneta church, and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. LeFournier, of Lester Park. The result of their labors is found in a complete assignment of all visitors to the places where they are to go. In the issue of The Methodist, published this week is an alphabetical list of every visitor who is coming and the house at which he is to stay and to add to the convenience an alphabetical list of all the people who are to house visitors and the visitors whom they are to made of the end in a grayish blue. The brim is covered with deep hyacinth blue velvet, drawn up in cords, laid in beads, and fastened with a row of buttons. Each couple of cords being about an inch distant from the other. The velvet is of a fine middle of the blue, and has only one set of shirrings and cords near its edge, the rest of the lining being of a pale blue. The skirt is of a guipure lace, laid on flat, its base hidden by a folded band of white velvet. On the inside of the skirt is a row of hyacinth blue taffeta ribbon, folded around the crown and knotted on the back. The skirt is fastened with three long loops of the folded ribbon banded twice round the middle, and of the same color. The skirt is lined with blue to white, fastened on the left side rather forward. The second plume is made of the same material as the first, of the three feathers composing it is reversed. That is to say, they are arranged in a plume, the middle of the blue tipped with white.

The pleatu form, slightly domed in the center, is adopted for a broad brimmed hat of deep champagne colored velvet applique, with cream color guipure lace, and interlet with embroidery to match the lace. Folds of the velvet are made in the order that these are joined an interlet band of the embroidery, then comes a plain band of velvet, on which is laid Vandyked guipure edging, then a band of folds and another one of interlet insertion, surrounding a round piece of velvet applique, with this the crown of the hat is raised at the back on a cachepain made of a quantity of loops of inch wide ribbon velvet. The outside is further trimmed with a flat low of the satin ribbon matching the velvet. The outside is further trimmed with a flat bow of soft satin ribbon. The center of the bow is decorated with the center of each loop, and each loop passing through a small gold-colored ring.

Velvet of a medium tint of drab is used to cover a broad-brimmed hat. The material is cut in the usual manner, is stretched smooth over the latter, which has a long, chased gilt buckle. A piece of taffeta ribbon of the same color as the velvet is worked in and under the loops of the velvet, and a row of short loops on either side. The crown is, moreover, encircled by a "marquise" band of the same color, and the sides of these tips in as many graduated shades of drab, and they all curve symmetrically over the crown of the hat, and are smooth with the velvet, a double padding of the same encircling the edge, an arrangement which is repeated on the velvet on the under side of the brim. This curves up on the left, where a plume of white white tips is placed, and curves forward.

Another of the same shape is covered with sage green, yellow and blue, the blue being in the form of small, irregular spots. The under side is a pale blue, the dorsal a band of blue chertile between the eyes. Around the crown is a folded band of yellow, green and blue, the green being of greenish glaucous metal, studded with small black blue dots. The crown itself consists of two long ostrich tufts shaded from sage green to palest blue, the dorsal one being the longer and more curving forward and the other towards the rear.

Among the very dressy hat made of other materials than velvet are those that are made of feathers. In my last letter, I although most abundant in demand in white, cream and buff, but also in blue, green and other colors, such as the lighter shades of plum and the deep shades of brown and black. The feathers are made into pinks and skies. The plum tint is made of the feathers of the quail, edged with a double puffing of deeper plum colored velvet and trimmed with a two edged band of blue. The two shades are blended, one placed outside and the other underneath the to look very smart. There is one of the plateau form of a nut-brown hue mounted on a shape, the edge and underside of which is draped with cream-colored velvet. A large, brown bird covers the center of the plateau. It has right wing like flat, whereas its left is drawn up, its full crest, and its tail feathers down over the upturned side of the brim, beneath which is a large wreath made of half-inch wide cream ribbon velvet.

Another of these felt plateaus is tied in so as to form a small beret crown.

A black and white illustration of a stylized, ornate object, possibly a piece of furniture or a decorative element. The object features intricate scrollwork and a textured, wavy pattern. The design is highly decorative and appears to be a detail from a larger work.

The new neckwear is quite pronounced. The new Fall vesting, thick warm linen, such as the one shown, is of black silk, bound with white and front to the back, one on the brim, the other underneath it.

There are also many elegant hats covered entirely with heavy guilpue lace. One of these, made of champagne colored silk lace, is mounted on a shape covered with several layers of moss-green tulle edged with ostrich feather trimming, which forms a sort of fringe under the scalloped border of the lace. The piece of lace covering the crown is separate, its edge deeply vandyked, and a little tufts of green ostrich appear between the points, which hang down the sides of the crown, a moderately high one on the top and rather wider at the top than at the base. On each side of the crown

An elegant theater hat designed by Lenthier has a flat brim slightly raised at the left side and a straight high crown. The brim is covered flat with white moire antique interwoven with a little gold. The crown is of dull gold gauze. Around the crown the gold moire is arranged in unstudied folds passing in front through a large square buckle of chased gilt metal. A long

The new neckwear is quite pronounced, certain styles to be worn with certain new waists. This waist is of the new F&F design, warm lined, such as is used for gentlemen's vests, with pretty patterns woven in colors. The tie is of black silk, bound with white and black, over a stock of white silk with black silk folds.

Behind each of these rosettes and fastened to the returned brim are two pieces of dark blue velvet with one pointed end each.

A bretonnet in rough brown felt turned up at the back is trimmed with a circle of rosettes made of loops of Bordeaux colored ribbon velvet. Another made of biscuit-tinted Louiseine braid has for trimming a broad, black velvet drapery, twisted into a knot in front, through which are stuck two broad black rouseaus spotted irregularly with white.

The new Amazon shawl is the one generally chosen for silk hats, about the maintenance of which the women are very particular. For winter there is considerable hesitation. Since the date of my last letter I have seen some of the new styles, but have not yet seen the first in the field. These have not shown the sleek, glossy aspect of the modern styles, but have been made up by being carefully smoothed down, as brushed back the wrong way, which removes the gloss. The texture is not so unusual to the ordinary silk hat. In different shades of tan and beige they look very chic and stylish. Both these styles are made up with a crown of high crowns, generally widening at the top. Frequently the brim is somewhat like an onyx, and is made up of one or less. Some have one wide folded band of velvet around the crown with a broad buckle in front. Others have two narrow, parallel bands, secured by small oblong buckles at the side. Moreover, the upturned brim on the left receives a certain amount of trimming. The simplest have a silk or velvet cockade, the more elegant a plume of ostrich tips or coque feathers.

Felted hats this season are not only of their usual importance for autumn wear and general service in cool and cold weather, but appear in elegant finish and trimming for high dress of the street, carriage and visiting wear.

varying to smooth treatment, many of the felt hats of this season's manufacture are of a soft, downy texture, lined or hairy surface, and are known as mohair and camel's hair felts; while in favor for these in production has been the use of the beaver hair, which is a heavy nap beaver. Many of the most charming models in fine hats imported from Europe, have been of felt and beaver, special regard seeming to have been given to the latter material. The styles which will have a strong possibility of being popular during the coming season, are the toilettes disported at the autumn races. The blocked felted hats are very numerous, and are made in a variety of shapes and the reliable colors. Some of those of plain surface are finished with an elegant and simple band of velvet or close linen, a new fancy in the finish of beaver hats is bordering of a con-

I sent me a nice letter in reply giving me full instructions how to treat myself, and in accordance with your directions I took your Vegetable Compound, and followed your kind advice faithfully in every respect, and now I have a little girl, the joy of our home. I never would have had my little girl if not been for your advice and medicine.

"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for what it has done for me. I hope other childless women will let me tell them of it."

A PARISIAN COSTUME.

This is an elegant tailored costume of dark green broadcloth. The doges are laid in deep plaits, graduated of course, and stitched to the kn. The long basqued coat is fitted to the figure by many shaped pieces, which in deep plaits from below the waist. The sleeve also is shaped from artistic cut pieces. The collar is of dark green velvet, the buttons are in bright g. The coat is lined only to below the waist.

Many of the novelties produced in the course of the last month are chiefly interesting as furnishing an insight into every day fashioning for the future. For example, many of the firms whose principle business lies with Parisians. Such firms are not in the habit of showing smart winter models so early in the year; what their customers demand of them at the present date are not of hats, but of hats such as they would wear in the autumn and early winter—during which there is little doing and, therefore few occasions for donning the smartest apparel.

One of the reasons why the Parisienne has been reckoned the best dressed woman in the world is that she is not swayed by her attire to circumstances. Undoubtedly it would be a good thing if her example were followed, but the smart hats worn for hats would be increased and the profit likewise. It is more to the advantage of the milliner to make a hat that will sell for a small price than to make a hat that will sell for a large price. The smart hats do not necessarily have a wider margin of profit than more simple hats. The milliner's competition is the case; more often than not what is charged for is the style and novelty, and it is not always possible to raise the price of a hat without raising the value of the trimmings and materials employed. Many milliners here have a serious objection to the milliner's price is a high one and between this and the maximum there is not so great a difference as there is in the United States.

The hats intended for wear during the next three months are small in comparison with the broad-brimmed smart winter models I have just been describing. Speaking generally, they may be divided into sailors, bretons, plateaus and blocked Amazons. But by variations in trimming, and the way in which these hats, saving the last, are mounted on the invariable black, smooth, shining, efficient hat produced. Sailors are still made with crowns wider than the openings for the head. Some are flat in the brim, while others have an upward inclination.

Bretton are sometimes arranged so as to tilt forward, the brim being turned up at the back. They are also sometimes combined with a small plateau which entirely conceals the crown, extending as far as the upward curve of the brim. The latter is then, this shag is also used to convert into toques by turning the brim all the way round, the furling necessary to accomplish this being concealed by the trimming. A few low turban hats are to be seen. They have wide sailor crowns, and the brim turns up straight all the way round to the same height as the crown. Here are some instances of the way these hats are combined and trimmed:

The brim has a low wide crown covered with red liberty satin, fluted into the center, and a flat brim covered and lined with velvet to match. Between the crown and lining a fold of the velvet is introduced, so as to give the brim a certain thickness. Loops of inch-wide velvet ribbon are caught on each side of the brim and fastened by a tiny jet of black tulle to the center of the crown. There are also bunches of velvet loops underneath the brim at the back.

Another sailor, with the same low crown, is built of wide braided made of strips of fawn colored felt, platted with chocolate-brown chenille. Round the crown is a band of brown velvet, to which are fastened two fawn-colored wings with little touches of black. The high-crowned cloche turban hat is trimmed with two large rosettes, set symmetrically on the after part of the crown. These are made out of small pieces of satin rolled into a point and much resembling double dahlias, the points or petals being shaded gradually from light to brightest golden yellow.

SMART PEEDE

Here is a good suit to withstand wind and weather; a stylish, warm, useful costume. It is in dark and light grey Scotch mixture wool; the fine gore skin clears the ground, the deep plaits being left free from the knees down. The smart, long basque coat is semi-fitting, and is lined throughout with grey silk. The collar and belt are of dark grey velvet. The simple, new hat is of black velvet folds, with a plaque of white beaver felt, embroidered in black chevrons.

trasting tone of color, or of a contrast ing color, the border generally of sombre effect and about two inches wide. Fel horts many of these, this being varied in ready-to-trim models, by covering or drapery formed of strips of thin soft felt braided, chenille cord some times entering into the braiding. It is thought that this season beaver hat will not be relegated as extensively as usually to misses and small girls, but will be worn by fashionable mamma and grown-up young ladies. The wit of the mode from Paris indicates it.

The most popular are the chenille-faced fabrics, to be used in the covering of the hats. The hats are to be made of the same material as the dress, so as to bear witness to the kindness of the donor. The designs with which they are regarded in a special way are the following: There must be noted models in plush, from the shoulders to the hem, or, as now said, of "Angora" surface, with the hair of the animal as they appear in plain and ribbed weaves, and besides of the plaid colorings, the coloring of the plaids and the fancy mottling referred to in our survey of the fashions. There may come out in fancy plaid colorings, in mottling of the skin of the animal, in the coloring of the creature's skin; in ermine spotting; in speckled ombre striping in black and white; in the coloring of the animal's skin coloring and effect; in small black dots on white, pale gray and white dots on black, in the coloring and in other fancies in printed relief. A boucle must be noted in the coloring of the groundings, chenille-faced net, and a warm-surfaced materials will have place in the elegant headwear designed for the winter.

The Young Girl's School

This is an anxious season for mothers of young daughters between fifteen and nineteen years of age. The private boarding schools, young ladies' seminaries, academies of accomplishments and finishing schools of the country open their doors early in October. Between doing fathers who assert that "nothing is too good for my child" and the strict regulations set forth in circulars from the lady principals, a mother without decision of character is thrown into a whirlpool of troubled waters when it comes to shopping for the young woman's wardrobe. To her rescue comes the experienced "Madame," just returned from her annual visit to Paris, a modiste who is a treasure, and who has fitted out innumerable young ladies for the famous schools of New York, New England, Philadelphia and Washington. She knows the exact shades of difference between this young woman's requirements and the outfit desirable for the debutante. Her mission is largely one of repression, and she is seconded in this by the experienced English tailor to whom she turns the young person over in her mother's care.

"I want 'dead oodles' of clothes," cries the spoiled child woman. "I want to go to school if I have to go like a beggar. Mary Brown had gorgeous things, and heaps and heaps. I saw them myself."

"But they sent back whole trunksful of her things from the school," explains Madame. "She wasn't allowed to keep a quarter of them. When you come out you won't have pleasure in pretty things if you take the edge off now."

And the English tailor more gravely and emphatically takes up the protest.

"Decidedly, keep her things simple, madam. I do not approve of her choice. She must wear youthful things. Absolute simplicity is the best of taste."

But in spite of what sounds like very doleful talk to the gushing young thing with the wilful mind to be grown up, she secures some very pretty and charming things to go away to school with. And though simplicity is the watchword, it costs quite a penny to get up this first list of the first list of that breathless time when she shall begin to prepare her trousseau.

The requirements of this outfit may be simply stated. A best tailor made dress of time for church or matinee, a second best tailored dress for traveling and for the daily "constitutional" shopping excursion, the rainy day dress, the dress for study hours and two or three dinner gowns, these are the clothes she will require.

The best tailor made dress is a cross between the art of the modiste and the tailor. It must be smart and well fitting, but its severity should be relaxed with touches of softness. An imported gown of this description is made of pure broad cloth, with trimmings of Oriental braid and edgings of white baby lamb cloth. It is made with a blouse coat, with long skirts to the knee. The upper part of the coat blouses in back as well as front very slightly, which adds to the youthful effect, and this part of the garment is lined with white satin. The skirts of the coat are fluted with silk to tone with the color of the fluting. The trimming spoken of faces the collar and the front of the blouse, and also is let into the back in a V. When the blouse is closed over the bodice it shows buttons of gun metal and brass. The sleeves are very wide at the wrists, and in addition to the band of trimming, they have a double ruffle of plumed milled edged with lace. The skirt to this beautiful gown has a slight train, which is allowable for the young woman of eighteen.

A gown being made by a fashionable tailor for an extremely wealthy girl to wear to school is a very blue broad cloth, with a wide band of trimming, they have a double ruffle of plumed milled edged with lace. The skirt to this beautiful gown has a slight however, strictly new.

The most useful sort of dress for the school girl, the one which she will incessantly fall into wearing most frequently when she settles down in her new environment, will be the short walking suit, with its loose jacket, to wear with shirt waists, either of heavy washable fabrics or bright wools. This walking suit is a regulation at some of the most fashionable schools and is described tersely—"A sailor suit, or a golf skirt, worn with a Norfolk jacket, of which all things should be of cambric rather than silk, the skirt to swing clear of the floor two inches and the belt to be of the material of the skirt and attached to it, fastening with buttons and eyes. No leather belts, metal clasps, slides or buckles allowed, for the correct is laid aside during study hours and under no consideration will tight girdles be allowed." This is the dictum of a school which has furnished the wealthiest young women of America.

This costume is very attractive. It may be made of the covert or of blue serge. A girl's individuality will show itself in the dainty shirt waists worn with it, with the

and the jolly, if circumspet, chaperon.

Perhaps the hardest thing to getle is the number and quality of the house gowns. There will be little or no going out, you argue. But the literaries, the theatricals, the dances which the girls enjoy among themselves require pretty clothes. It is almost unnecessary to say that no school girl requires a low cut gown. A beautiful importation which a young woman is taking away with her for her last year near Philadelphia is of pale rose prunella cloth trimmed with silk. Clasp lace and bands of Persian embroidery. This dress is fetching, because of the soft harmony of the coloring and the simple lines of its girlish effect. It has a blouse front to the bodice, the sleeves are gracefully full, he low the chow, and the skirt, after fitting moderately snug to the knee, falls in a full trailing rounce upon the floor. The lace is laid on between the bands of Oriental trimmings on the blouse waist, and also finishes the sleeves. It just the dated part of the skirt and is set in just above the hem of the blouse.

Simple dinner and evening gowns are coat of this sort lined with satin and interlaced with flannel is very comfortable. None of the cloaks this year have collars; it is left for the fun to finish the effect. In fact the real chinchilla is always attractively youthful looking. Mole skin is the new fur, very soft and pretty and certain to be much worn this year.

Besides her overcoat, the young miss will need a raincoat. Some very pretty new styles are shown in the olive cravenette and the cravenette mixed tweeds. Those with the short military capes will appeal to the school girl, without doubt.

Perhaps as important as any part of the shopping is the time devoted to shoes. The school girl should be liberally supplied with heavy, low heeled walking shoes, and a pair of lightweight house shoes, with bedroom slippers of the most comfortable kind. But she should not be indulged with high heeled shoes of any variety, for obvious hygienic reasons. She will not be permitted to wear them at any good school, nor jewelry beyond the simplest of ornaments.

Lingerie for the young girl is kept quite cigarette smokers never do—and he is a gambler, too. I know for a fact that he lost fifty dollars on the Derby. Now, I never made a bet in my life, and I have my opinion of men who play the races."

"But, father," Elinor ventured, "Really he was her closest friend, and a really splendid fellow, but she was afraid of being trapped herself by saying too much. Elinor was not a girl who wore her heart on her sleeve, but she wondered if the pecking of claws could be harder to bear than what she secretly suffered."

"What kind of tea is this?" the Judge broke in. "How many times will I have to caution the cook about not letting it boil? The proportions aren't right, either. There should be four parts of Oolong to one part green." * * * I have sent Madame

"There is a note from Mrs. Van Garde," vouchsafed Judge Caldwell, as he finished perusing the mail. "She invites us to a dinner in honor of that East Indian, Swami something-or-other."

"Delightful!" Elinor exclaimed with enthusiasm. "I have heard all about him. He is very poor, and often lives on wild flowers and—"

"Do you think he will eat the floral cereals?" her father inquired, sarcastically. "You may go if you choose," he went on, "but I prefer to decline. Mrs. Van Garde is a woman that I cannot tolerate—the sort who won't take a seat in the car when it is offered to her—in short, she is thoroughly tasteless. He would have continued his diatribe had not the butter changed just then to say that Mr. Ramsey wished to speak with Miss Elinor at the telephone."

"Goodness!" ejaculated Judge Caldwell, frowning. His daughter's color heightened, and if her father had noticed her expression as she left the room he would not have thought her meek.

On the way down town his conscience pricked him, and he resolved not to be venial in the future. He thought of a morning twenty years before when, after a severe cold, he had gone down town and returned in the evening to find that his young wife's life had flickered out, leaving to his care a tiny daughter. At the time he had reproached himself bitterly for not having been more tender, but now he found himself repeating his mistake. No father ever loved his daughter more devotedly than he loved Elinor, but often he was less gentle than he should have been. "How can I be expected to be amiable?" he asked himself, "when I am so giddy that I can almost chalk billiard cues with my fingers." But in his heart he owned to himself that he did wrong not to be less fault-finding, and he made up his mind that he would try to be pleasant at home. "Elinor, poor child, must feel the lack of a mother keenly," he soliloquized. She really has no one to pet her and play confidante. I am such a gruff, unromantic man, and he gravely shook his head.

Late in the afternoon he was sitting in the lounge room at the club, when young Ramsey sauntered toward him and inauspiciously encroached himself in the armchair opposite.

"I would like very much to know," Ramsey began, with an air of extreme nonchalance—"I would like very much to know if you have any objections to my marrying your daughter."

"I am particularly interested," Ramsey went on, as he lazily blew a smoke wreath. "For the fact is that Elinor and I were married this afternoon."

DENIES THE MARRIAGE.

At the Same Time Lieutenant Asks for Annulment.

Leavenworth, Kas., Sept. 25.—First Lieut. Sidney S. Burbank, 6th Infantry, stationed at Fort Leavenworth, filed suit in the district court yesterday to annul a pretended marriage with Mrs. Concepcion Vasquez, a Filipino woman. The filing of this suit is the outcome of a charge made by Mrs. Vasquez to the war department last spring that Lieut. Burbank had married her while in the Philippine islands and that she was his lawful wife and wanted him to support her. The first notice of this alleged marriage was made public after the announcement of the betrothal of Lieut. Burbank to a society girl of Leavenworth.

The story of the Filipino marriage of Lieut. Burbank, which he says is a fraud, comes from Valladolid province, where Lieut. Burbank was in command of a garrison of United States troops in 1901. Mrs. Vasquez, who was a widow with three small children, lived in the village where the garrison was situated.

Lieut. Burbank came to Fort Leavenworth a year ago and a report followed him that he was married to a Filipino woman and was the father of a born baby. The Filipino widow followed this by filing copies of documents, pretending to be a marriage contract with Lieut. Burbank.

It is said that Lieut. Burbank's solution of the affair is that a justice of the peace and president of the village where he commanded troops, was imprisoned for six months for insubordination; that the justice had charge of the records and that in his eagerness to get even with Burbank, he permitted the woman to apply and make out a marriage certificate.

Minneapolis, Sept. 26.—The Minneapolis flour millers refuse to arbitrate the strike question. Replying to Mayor Haynes' offer to arbitrate, the millers address the mayor thus: "We beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter asking for our approval of your appointing a committee of five representative citizens to arbitrate the labor question of our former employees. In reply, would say that a request was made early in the week by a committee of employees to arbitrate this question. We declined to entertain this proposition. The question was fully canvassed at that time, and our reply was distinct enough to be thoroughly understood."

"We have no hesitation in saying, further, that we prefer to shut down mills if we cannot find men willing to work at the present scale of hours and wages. Minneapolis flour manufacturing is already carrying as great a handicap as it can possibly stand."

"We have in the past made concessions and sacrifices to our men, raised their wages, shortened their hours and at times run the mills at a loss to ourselves."

"You probably understand that the scale of wages and hours of men working in the Minneapolis flour mills is already more favorable to them than is the scale to men similarly placed at other points in the country with which we must compete. We should be

The story of the Filipino marriage of Lieut. Burbank, which he says is a fraud, comes from Valladolid province, where Lieut. Burbank was in command of a garrison of United States troops in 1901. Mrs. Vasquez, who was a widow with three small children, lived in the village where the garrison was situated.

Lieut. Burbank came to Fort Leavenworth a year ago and a report followed him that he was married to a Filipino woman and was the father of a born baby. The Filipino widow followed this by filing copies of documents, pretending to be a marriage contract with Lieut. Burbank.

It is said that Lieut. Burbank's solution of the affair is that a justice of the peace and president of the village where he commanded troops, was imprisoned for six months for insubordination; that the justice had charge of the records and that in his eagerness to get even with Burbank, he permitted the woman to apply and make out a marriage certificate.

INCREASING VALUATIONS

The State Board of Equalization Is Still Boosting.

St. Paul, Sept. 26.—Dogs, goods and merchandise and miscellaneous articles were boosted $1,562,323 today by the state board of equalization. Of this amount $673,011 was added to the valuation of goods and merchandise of the last twenty-two counties, from Redwood to Yellow Medicine, which, together with the raise made in this class last Wednesday aggregates $1,050,000. Dogs were raised $31,244, and miscellaneous articles $52,055.

The board made a flat increase of 10 per cent in the miscellaneous column, which includes everything, from street car franchises to oats and rattlesnakes. The total returns in this column amount to $5,250,687, as compared with $4,755,333 in 1902. Ramsey county returned $1,254,140, as against $1,746,491 last year. Hennepin county's assessment is $2,165,919 and $1,104,545 in 1902. St. Louis county returned $117,275 in 1902 and $487,739 in 1903.

Although the principal items in this column is public franchises, the action of the board in raising the total 10 per cent does not mean that the franchisees will be raised only that much. The board will consider each public service corporation separately, and on the increase and credit each company with the 10 per cent raise made in the miscellaneous column.

The board decided on $5 as the minimum assessment for dogs, and all counts reporting a dog less than this sum were proportionately raised. The returns show that there are 106,983 dogs in the state, as compared with 103,790 a year ago.

REFUSE TO ARBITRATE

Minneapolis Millers Make Reply to Mayor's Proposition.

Minneapolis, Sept. 26.—The Minneapolis flour millers refuse to arbitrate the strike question. Replying to Mayor Haynes' offer to arbitrate, the millers address the mayor thus:

"We beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter asking for our approval of your appointing a committee of five representative citizens to arbitrate the labor question of our former employees. In reply, would say that a request was made early in the week by a committee of employees to arbitrate this question. We declined to entertain this proposition. The question was fully canvassed at that time, and our reply was distinct enough to be thoroughly understood."

"We have no hesitation in saying, further, that we prefer to shut down mills if we cannot find men willing to work at the present scale of hours and wages. Minneapolis flour manufacturing is already carrying as great a handicap as it can possibly stand."

"We have in the past made concessions and sacrifices to our men, raised their wages, shortened their hours and at times run the mills at a loss to ourselves."

"You probably understand that the scale of wages and hours of men working in the Minneapolis flour mills is already more favorable to them than is the scale to men similarly placed at other points in the country with which we must compete. We should be

LIGHTBODY'S NEWS.

Saturday, Sept. 26, 1903.

There is no better place in the Northwest for stock raising than in that part of Douglas county immediately adjoining Superior.

Every store sells ladies' neckwear made in factories. The Lightbody store sells much made by its own employees. That's why it's so different from any you find anywhere else. And it's why no two pieces are exactly alike and why they are sure to be in correct style, because they are made every day and every little style change is taken into consideration. Handmade collars, 50 cents to $1.75 each.

On one of our dress goods tables are some very striking hairy zibelines at $1.50 a yard. They are 52 inches wide and come in three different color combinations: blue ground with white dots, brown ground with green dots and dark brown ground with blue dots.

Our very complete stock of zibelines was bettered today by the addition of a 52-inch quality at $1.25 a yard. All the staple colors.

People who carry thin purses appreciate the exceptional values we offer in chevots, zibelines, granites and novelties at from 39 cents to $1 a yard.

Those who have the fat purses find satisfaction in the higher priced plain and novelty zibelines, the imported Scotch plaids and mixtures, and in the rich broadcloths and other staple weaves, which sell from $1.50 to $5 a yard.

We have all kinds of trimming to go with the dress goods. The kinds are so many and the designs and colorings so many that it is an impossibility to describe them here. They must be seen.

Interstate cars pass the store.

INDIANS AND MILLIONAIRES

Chief Joseph Guest of Honor at Waldorf-Astoria Reception.

New York, Sept. 26.—The parlors and drawing rooms of the Waldorf-Astoria were the scene yesterday of a queer gathering of Indians and millionaires. Harry Lehr and wife were responsible for the gathering. Chief Joseph, the leader of the band, was the especial pet of the women. Despite his 50 years, the venerable chieftain is as straight as an arrow. He was at his best, having been told that he was to cross one of the "grandest ladies in all New York."

He wore the distinguishing marks of his rank on his cheeks, six blue spots on each, with an extra dab of yellow on his chin and crimson at his temples. He crowded all the extra feathers available into his head dress and set the fashion for the Waldorf with his broad flannel shirt flapping over his breeches.

Chief Joseph was led into the room on the arm of Col. Cummins. In the group which greeted him were Mr. Edwin and Mrs. Howard Gould and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, and together they escorted him to the nearest sofa. There the old chief drew a levee and recounted to his admirers how he led the American soldiers a 200-mile pursuit over the broken chain of the Rocky mountains.

The Indians were treated in a cup of tea, and after their final salutations were permitted to depart. They did not leave the room, however, until they had shed nearly all the feathers that had decorated their clothes when they entered, and each of the women in the hotel who could get near them went away flourishing a souvenir.

Before they left the Indians were escorted on an inspection tour through the hotel. They all made a bee line for the bar the instant they left the reception room and the old chief drank a couple of high balls to bring back his exhausted strength.

The Indians have two more engagements to fill in Fifth avenue in the next few days. They have been invited to night to the home of a prominent millionaire whose name was not divulged.

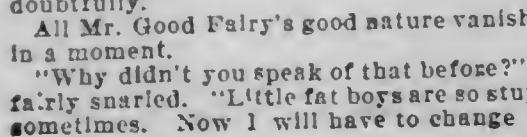

WILL CAUSE DISEASE. Boston, Sept. 26.—As the result of a series of experiments, conducted several weeks, Dr. Samuel E. Bennett, in charge of the local United States bureau of animal industry, is reported to have demonstrated that vaccine virus is capable of producing a cattle disease which cannot be distinguished from the foot and mouth disease, which recently caused so much trouble among New England herds.

Just above these hunters is a group of stars, something like a pocket in shape, which the Indians looked upon as the bear den from which bruin emerged in the spring after a whole winter's sleep.

Late in the spring Mrs. Bear (for it is a female) awakes from her long sleep, ravenously hungry, and looks out of her den.

The sharp eyed Chickadee instantly catches sight of her, and, being hungry also, decides

END OF THE SEASON

Romance At Newport Is Reported Engagement of May Van Alen.

Remarkable Young Man Who Comes From Holyoke, Mass.

New York, Sept. 26.—Almost at hand is the end of the summer season. With it the end of the romance of Newport. And the last of the Newport romances is by no means the least of them. True, when Miss May Golet wed the duke of Roxburghe more millions will be involved. And when young V. de Lancy Rountz marries Miss Martha Johnston it means that the Vanderbilt feud will be well on the way of dying a natural death.

But here is another engagement, charged with far more real romance than anybody could well expect at conventional Newport—the forthcoming alliance which may be formally announced and day of Miss May Van Alen and Ralph Ranlet, of Holyoke, Mass.

This young man has perhaps achieved more in a single season than any other young man who has ever spent a summer in Newport. Indeed, in two short months he has accomplished three things.

Convinced Mrs. Astor of his fitness to marry into the family.

Proved to James J. Van Alen that he would make a suitable son-in-law.

Achieved a premier position in the "550."

Wood Miss Van Alen from the weeds worn in memory of her father, R. K. Remington, who killed himself here at the reading room last summer.

Distance P. V. V. brother of Harry Lehr, and a rival suitor.

Eight weeks ago few in Newport had ever heard of Ralph Ranlet, this young man who, it is reported, is to marry the granddaughter of Mrs. Astor, and by the mere fact of this achievement will take a leading place in the "550."

Who is Ralph Ranlet?

Newport thinks itself asking this question of itself twenty times a day. Longfellow follows him whenever he appears at Bailey's Beach or on Bellview avenue. Scores seek to meet him whenever there is an important function. It is by no means out of the way to be on good terms with a young man who some day may be James J. Van Alen's son-in-law.

Harry Lehr is responsible for Ralph Ranlet.

In the days when Mr. Lehr was social arbiter of everything he met Mr. Ranlet aboard ship. Others of the jeunesse d'aujourd'hui Mr. Lehr knew vouched for Mr. Ranlet.

"Daddy good chap" was his recommendation, and so Mr. Lehr felt privileged to add Mr. Ranlet's name to some of the lists for dances and dinners with which he was intrusted. The result was that this summer Mr. Ranlet came to Newport in serious manner. But long before this he had met Miss Van Alen.

Everybody knows Miss Van Alen. Everybody knows how she abhors the conventional. She met Mr. Ranlet at a function in London and their interest in each other was immediate. Miss Charlotte Pole, who has just gone away from here after a most brilliant time at Wakehurst, the Van Alen mansion, advised Mr. Ranlet immensely. The two young women were chums. What a surprise it to them if Mr. Ranlet did come from Holyoke, Mass., and didn't belong to a single New York club and had never spent a day in Newport? They found him clever and all for fun. He was good company at all times, and so when Miss Van Alen returned home why shouldn't Mr. Ranlet be greeted on the steamer with a hearty "Did you know you were coming?"

"Now, all this time Mr. Remington was alive. He had been paying court before Mr. Ranlet ever allowed himself to think of such a thing as courtship. But Mr. Remington wasn't on the steamer, and there was no reason why Mr. Ranlet should not be politely attentive to Miss Van Alen. He got a very frank and pleasant invitation to call. After the voyage for the time being the acquaintance ended.

How could Mr. Ranlet call?

He had never essayed Newport in his life.

Then suddenly came that sad contrition.

TWO RUGGEDLY BEAUTIFUL SPOTS ON MILLER CREEK IN LINCOLN PARK.

Lincoln park might well be called the West-Enders' park.

In the seventy blocks between Lake avenue and Seventieth avenue west there is no other popular pleasure ground.

In all the western half of the city which contains the residences of fully one-half of the population and the homes of nearly all the better class of workingmen, there is no other public garden or picnic ground. Cascade park is the nearest public garden to the east end and Fairmount park in West Duluth, the nearest to the west.

Lincoln park, however, size, accessibility and beauty supplies all the needs of the people in the way of an ideal city park.

It is situated at Twenty-fifth avenue west, directly adjoining the car line, and is readily accessible from all parts of the city.

In variety of scenery it is unsurpassed by any of the city parks. Stretching north from Third street, far up on the hillside, it contains within its limits glimpses of nature in her wildest moods, and again stretches of green lawn and carefully kept driveways.

As a popular resort for picnic parties during the summer months it is unsurpassed. There are numerous level stretches of ground suitable for the spreading of the festal cloth, and the woods and the rocky bed of the stream offer a wealth of nature's most beautiful pictures.

The little stream that flows through the park is marked by a succession of falls and rapids, alternated with deep, rocky canyons, each seemingly more beautiful than the last.

Lincoln park has been growing in popularity each year with the people of the West End and the city at large. Every fine afternoon during the summer months it is thronged with children and older people, who desire a short rest and change from the rush of city life. On Saturday and Sunday afternoons the park is the Mecca for picnickers, and the habit of taking the evening meal in the park is growing on the residents of the West End who live within easy distance of the grounds.

At the present season of the year the park is at its prettiest. The leaves are just commencing to turn with the first frosts of autumn and the stream is running full. The grass has not yet lost its greenness, and to a true lover of nature a trip through the park on one of Duluth's perfect fall days is a genuine treat.

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

SMITH WAS ASLEEP,

But Awoke In Time to Win a Wife.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 26.—Miss Anabel Mitchell, of Rochester, Ind., became Mrs. Perry C. Smith, of Indianapolis, Wednesday. Two months ago she and her mother boarded a train on which Smith was returning from a business trip to Chicago.

The car was crowded. Mrs. Mitchell found a seat, but the best the daughter could do was to take a nap beside Mr. Smith, who was sleeping. Miss Mitchell was careful not to disturb him, but Smith awoke finally to find a very pretty young woman at his elbow. He rubbed his eyes to see if he was dreaming, and a few glances at the fair maiden, and before he knew it was deeply in love with her.

Smith soon learned from her card that his companion was Miss Anabel Mitchell, of Rochester. In another part of the car Miss Mitchell's mother was an interested spectator, but she did not realize the progress of events.

The journey ended all too soon for Smith and the girl, but he lost no time in becoming a regular caller at her home, and they were married by Rev. J. N. Canfield, of this city. They left here for the East to spend their honeymoon in Europe.

THE WORK OF CIVILIZING THE CHIPPEWA INDIANS

What Has Been Accomplished at the Leech Lake Agency.

Over Three Hundred Boys and Girls Attending the Schools.

A Good Home For Indigent, Crippled and Sickly Indians.

By Rev. John T. Brabner Smith.

Maj. G. L. Scott, acting Indian agent at Onigum, has recently made his report to Indian Commissioner Jones, from which we gather that the Leech Lake Indian agency was established by act of congress approved March 1, 1899, and in this act was appropriated the sum of $15,000 for the erection of suitable buildings, etc. Capt. W. A. Mercer was detailed for duty as acting Indian agent, and knowing that the agency was to be established he began they have an average attendance of seventy-five or eighty pupils, all well fed and clothed by the government, and the school supplied with all modern conveniences for the comfort and health of the pupils.

Since these special appropriations were made some $10,000 or $15,000 have been furnished by the department for other buildings and improvements at the agency and the school, and the place now taken altogether is one of the most beautiful spots in the state. There have also been erected on other reservations under this agency four more large boarding schools and taken altogether there are now over 300 pupils in regular attendance, and their progress towards civilization is all and more than one would expect from this race of people after once having seen and known the old Indians that inhabited the country. Besides these pupils in attendance at the reservation schools, there are at least 100 more Chippewa children under the Leech Lake agency, who are attending non-reservation schools, receiving all the benefits of a higher education than could be given them at the reservation boarding schools, which compare with the public schools of our town.

As a general rule the boys and girls thus educated do not return to the habits of their forefathers, and the teaching and the associations at the schools are the beginning of a new and better and broader life for the Chippewas. Here and there one sees a boy who has gone back a little to the habits of his ancestors, but he is always a higher type than the Indian who has not attended school. The school and its attendant influences are a mighty factor in the civilization of the Chippewas. Education very fairly reaches the old people and when it does it must be through the association with the children, the school or the agencies. A sawmill is established at the new offenders at the last term of the United States court in Duluth, that it is not likely there will ever be any recrudescence of this abominable traffic to any great extent. From all accounts it is believed that there never was such successful warfare waged against vice. One of the best institutions connected with the Indian service is the home established at the site of the old Leech Lake agency for indigent, crippled and sickly Indians. This institution is maintained by the government, is managed by a competent matron, who is assisted by an Indian cook and laundress, and the old people are not only well fed, but are comfortably housed and clothed. The healthy Indians have to hustle for themselves as the ration system has been abolished.

There is no doubt of the progress being made by the government in civilizing these Indians, though, as a matter of course, it is slow.

Over 1,000,000 feet of timber will be sold next December from the reservations under the Leech Lake agency and preference will be shown Indians in the work connected with the logging operations.

A fact worth mentioning in connection with the civilization of these Indians is that Maj. G. L. Scott, who is now acting agent, has gained their implicit, unqualified confidence, and as he is a man of strong character and undoubted integrity, there is no doubt that the advancement of the Indians under the Leech Lake agency will be more rapid and of a higher order than is expected by the public.

The Indians know that whatever he says he will do, and even the trouble makers are keeping quiet. It is a well-known fact that although he has been here less than two years, the Indians accept his suggestions, and will not undertake any matter of importance without first consulting him.

The Leech Lake agency is comprised of five reservations, including Leech Lake, Cass Lake, Winnepigoshish, White Oak Point and Red Lake. At each of these places is a sub-agent in charge of the sub-agency, according to White Oak Point, the business of which is done by the sub-agent at Bemis. These sub-agents are helpful to the Indians, who consult the agents on all things pertaining to their welfare and receive able advice. At Leech Lake there is a fine and commodious Episcopal chapel, which seats about 100 persons, has leaded windows and is heated by hot air. There is stationed at the agency an Indian clergyman and also lady missionary. Both Rev. Mr. Wright and Miss Colby are doing excellent work in the development of the Indian, for the Indian has a deep religious feeling, and the clergyman being a full-blooded Indian, knows their inherent desires and beliefs and appeals to them in Chippewa and English and not without result. The Rev. Archdeacon Appleby, of Duluth, is in charge of the missionary work. On the old battle ground, near Cass Lake, is built an Episcopal church and the minister in charge, Rev. Mr. Morgan, is also a full-blooded Chippewa and doing great good. The teacher at Cass Lake school is a Chippewa and a credit to any public school. That the civilization of the Indian is being gradually accomplished and the marked influence of the schools, the churches and the agents is very evident, by simply pointing to the Chippewa clergy, the Chippewa teachers and the Chippewa who are in the employ of the government. Leech Lake agency has one of its best office men and school agents, who is a full-blooded Chippewa. In Cass Lake, Walker, Bemis and other places are Chippewa men equal to many white men in mental caliber, in business genius and in social standing. And if one adds those who have intermarried, he can find fine and worthy citizens a credit to his country.

No better proof of the development and improvement of these Indians can be found than in the case of Mrs. Nellie Lydick and her children, claimants to that part of Cass Lake known as section 16, and a most valuable piece of property, on which reside about 400 persons. Mrs. Lydick was born at White Oak Point, on the Chippewa reservation, and when a nursing child, her mother married Chris Burris, now county commissioner of Cass Lake. She attended an Indian school and received her education at the Indian schools, where three of her boys now are. She is bright and educated, a musician and a fine housekeeper. She is a member of the Episcopal church, and her children attend the Methodist Episcopal school. The children are exceptionally bright and clever. There are men also whom we could mention who are holding such positions as only very capable and strong mental men could hold. In their social habits they are improving. The chief leads in this, in that he is proud of his Prince Albert coat, with brass buttons, and rarely is he ever seen as of yore in feathers and the old garb of his early days. The boys and girls are stylish in dress, and the coming generation will have much improvement on this.

An Indian woman owns and controls the sailing or steaming boat Columbia, which plys on Cass Lake for pleasure to place with tourists and others. The Chippewas live in frame buildings, they built their own houses, they saw and sell wood and lumber, they decorate their homes, cultivate their gardens and allotments and are fast assimilating the ideas, the religious conviction of those around and are thus being Christianized, which is another word for civilization.

The Rev. Mr. Michael gives some interesting facts as regards Indian pay day at Walker, Minn., the nearest town to the Leech Lake agency at Onigum. The Indians received $24.50 each, and a total of $20,000. The following is a list of the principal things bought: About 500 trunks, from $5 to $10 each; 60 valises, over 200 neckties, 75 men's suits, 46 beds with mattresses and springs; 125 chairs, 30 rockers, 10 fur coats, from $15 to $25 each; 50 coats and overcoats, 500 blankets, 200 shawls, 42 ladies' cloaks, 4 chiffoniers, 7 bureaus or dressers with active operations on the very day of the passage of the act. A town sprang up in a short time in the wilderness on the point known as Pine Point, and there the new agency stands today in marked contrast with the old sub-agency, which stands across the bay (an arm of Leech lake) the old place being separated by this expanse of water two miles wide. The old sub-agency can also be reached by a drive on the peninsula two and one-half miles long. The new agency is about two and one-half miles from Walker, and can only be reached by boat.

At the old agency, the Leech Lake school had been in operation for years with an average attendance of about forty pupils in old dilapidated buildings that had really become unfit for any purpose whatever.

In addition to the appropriation of $15,000 for agency purposes, the sum of $20,000 was allowed for a new school building, and the same is now located right at the Leech Lake agency, where agency which gives work to a number of Indians during the summer months. The capacity is about 8000 feet per day. The lumber is cut out of logs cut in the vicinity of the agency and most of it is issued to deserving Indians. Some of it is used in making repairs at the agency and at the Leech Lake school, and in constructing new buildings for employes, building bridges, barns and other things.

The most serious obstacle in the way of civilizing these Indians is their total disregard of all rules, regulations and customs of civilized people pertaining to the marriage relation. This matter will be taken up at an early date by Maj. Scott and it is believed that within the next few years conditions will be different in that line.

Heretofore the greatest trouble experienced by government officials in dealing with the Indians was the unrestricted sale of liquor to them by whites in adjacent towns, but so vigorous was the prosecution of these large mirrors, 25 men's white shirts, 85 to 100 handkerchiefs, 500 calicoes from one store alone, 75 brooms, 87 comforters, 12 bed spreads, 36 shirt waists, about 300 suits of underwear, 25 ladies' coats, 80 ladies' skirts, from $2 to $6 each; 15 straps of bells for ponies, 30 capes and cloaks for women, scores of mackinaw and duck coats, lined with lamb's wool, 100 woolen hoods and fasciators, 8 jackets for ladies, from $4.50 to $15. Also dishes, knives and forks, silverware, fancy glass sets, boots, shoes, etc., and numerous dolls and toys and dishes for children. The above list might be extended, for I have not named the groceries, hay, feed, flour, etc., which was bought in large quantities. The above list speaks for itself. Evidently here are encouraging signs of advancing civilization.

Cat. Mercer, acting Indian agent at Leech Lake agency in Aug. 15, 1899, reported the population of the Chippewas at this agency as follows:

Cass Lake and Winnepigoshish	873
Pillager Chippewas	446
White Oak Point Chippewas	639
Total	1958
Maj. G. L. Scott reports in June the above-named tribes	1945
Decrease	12

Thus, in case of an increase there is a decrease of twelve since August, 1899. Maj. G. L. Scott also reports that there are 600 Indians who can read and 625 who can speak sufficient English to be understood. There are 515 children at school. They have 250 dwelling houses. Forty families live on allotments, and the Chippewas grew 450 bushels of corn, 700 bushels of potatoes and of turnips 500. They cut 2000 tons of hay and sawed 106,065 feet of lumber, sawed 186 cords of wood, earned by

CONSTITUTION DID NOT FOLLOW The Flag to Guam According to the Attorney General.

Washington, Sept. 26.—According to the attorney general the constitution did not follow the flag in the case of the establishment of the United States government in the island of Guam. When the American colony was originally established in Guam, with Admiral, then Capt. Leary, as the supreme power, one of his assistants, Lieut. W. E. Safford, obtained one of the very few good dwelling houses on the island by purchase from the owner, and improved it to such an extent that it became practically the most desirable residence there. Governor Leary finally concluded that Lieut. Safford's house was needed by the government as an executive mansion, and opened negotiations for its purchase. The price asked, however, the government thought excessive, and when he and Lieut. Safford could not agree, Governor Leary finally condemned the premises for government purposes and took possession. Lieut. Safford made a vigorous protest against this summary proceeding and appealed to Washington for redress, financial and otherwise. Ever since then the case has been under consideration, and finally became so complicated that it was referred to the attorney general for an opinion on the legal principles involved. The attorney general has now sustained the action of Governor Leary as being legal under the peculiar circumstances of the case. In his opinion the attorney general holds that the constitution has not been extended to Guam by congressional enactment, and the sole powers of government of the island has been necessarily and properly committed by the president to the naval governor, and that in appropriating the property of Lieut. Safford he was entirely within his authority, in the exercise of the right of eminent domain, and that the United States has a clear and valid title to the property in dispute. Admiral Leary died and Lieut. Safford has resigned from the navy to accept a position under the agricultural department,

New Things Strange and Curious

ODD BEAUTY OF THE ARCHING YUCCA.

In the Antelope Valley of California grows the strangest yucca tree of all the Western desert. The yucca is a tree not given to whiteness. It has been described by Van Dyke as having "a tall stalk, rising like a shaft from a bowl, and capped at the top by nodding creamy flowers."

But the strange arching yucca has made itself famous by its curious form. Nobody watched it grow; all that is known about it is that it has two roots, its great stalk or trunk descending a graceful arch, rooted firmly into the ground at each end.

At the top of the arch a great branch, like an extended arm, shoots forth as if pointing out the way. The arch is so high that a tall coach could easily pass under it.

"Turk" Root.

There's no telling just where the "Terrible Turk" is going to turn up. Here he is, as fierce of aspect as ever faithful painter conceived him or timid poet dreamed him in his most fearful nightmares. Yet it was a mild, harmless turnip that gave him being. He is one of the physically evolved vagaries of a former century turnip, which happened to fall ill from a disease known in certain agricultural sections as the "bugger-and-too."

This vegetable mainly causes swellings and superficial growths, which frequently take odd and comical shapes.

Norway's coast line—17,000 miles in a straight line—becomes 12,000 miles if followed round the fjords. In these fjords are over 150,000 islands.

FIFTY YEAR OLD GOOSE AND OWNER.

Priscilla is a goose, and she's proud of the fact and takes great delight in her age. More than half a century old, she is the property of Thomas R. Drowie, of Foster, R. I., who marked her fifty-first birthday, not long ago, with a unique entertainment. Fifty-one puns were presented. The refreshments were frozen pudding in the shape of Priscilla, little candy geese and codlings of angel cake. Priscilla strutted around from guest to guest preening her neck indignantly.

In 1852 Priscilla was born. Her "hatch-day" is established beyond dispute, for she burst from her shell on the same day that a baby girl arrived in the Drowie family. Priscilla was hatched when geese were good property. She was one of a brood of three, the others being a goose and a gander, brought into the world beneath the warm feathers of a hen. The three became known as "Aunt Sarah's cack geese," the adjective indicating that they were raised by hand.

Priscilla grew up into a handsome gray bird of the old-fashioned New England type, shorter of neck and of leg than the geese of today, when goose culture has produced many varieties, but sturdy and amiable. When she reached maturity she was plucked for her down, and this operation was repeated for forty-five years.

She learned by experience just what to do when plucking time came around and would settle down in the plucker's lap without a movement or struggle while her breast feathers were being removed. A few years ago Mr. Drowie ceased to pluck Priscilla's feathers, preferring that she should retain all her strength and live as long as possible. She now possesses an elegant covering as any goose in the country, her feathers being of a pure white and very smooth and even.

She has witnessed the decline of the goose industry, having attended all the time to her own duties, bringing up a flock now and then and laying eggs until within about five years ago. Her brother and sister passed into the goose hereafter a few years ago, and Mr. Drowie got another goose and gander to keep Priscilla from feeling lonesome. The three may be seen any day on the Foster farm.

Unlike some geese, Priscilla is amiable and of equable temper. How long she will live it is impossible to say, but all appearances are as strong, active and healthy now as in her salad days, two score years ago.

SAMBO IN PARADISE: A STUDY.

Georgia gets the credit of watermelon glory because its supply "reaches the market first," as David Harum would say. The banner state, however, is Arkansas, which as an area of production has no equal in the world. The illustration is intended to emphasize the fact.

The large city takes its watermelon on ice as an afternoon cooler. Your Southerner, however, takes his plain, with a big one from the garden before breakfast as a starter. During the day he invades the field with a knife, and dabbles potatoes while comfortably squatting on a projecting mound, bill of beans, leg or fence.

It takes three years to paint the Forth Bridge, and as soon as the work is done it is immediately begun again. As many as thirty-five men are usually at work.

Clam's Characteristics.

Persons who have seen soft-shelled clams as they lay in a pen in the kitchen preparatory to being cooked scarcely recognize them in their natural state. Many of us who have seen clams know that they have "necks," but are ignorant of the purpose and characteristics of this attachment. As they lie on the ground they are far from close mouthed. In fact, they are seldom to be seen with the shell closed. From one end projects the "neck," which may be three times as long as the shell when fully extended. This fact, in case the "neck" is stretched out, makes one wonder how such a length can be contracted into so small a space, and how much remains in the shell after the "neck" has been extended. This is the astonishing characteristic of the soft-shelled clam, and the one which makes him unrecognizable to so many people. One of the clams, for instance, is three inches long. His "neck" when extended is possibly eight or nine inches long and as large around as a man's middle finger.

As every one knows, the clam, when in his native haunts, is to be found several inches below the surface in the sand. He has to be dug up, when discovered by the little spurs of water which the clam beneath throws up when disturbed.

This "neck" connects the clam with his food supply in the water above. In it are parallel tubes. Through one tube the clam sucks in a quantity of water. From the water he absorbs whatever nourishment it may contain, and then expels the water through the other tube.

One may wonder how the clam gets into the sand or mud. At the end opposite the "neck" may be seen an appendage resembling a turtle's tail in shape and called a foot. It is with this foot that he digs his way downward.

Postal Cards Popular.

Interesting statistics in regard to the use of postal cards have just been published by the International Bureau of Berne. They show that during a year more postal cards are used in Germany than in any other country, the figures being: Germany, 1,135,000,000; United States, 670,000,000; Japan, 430,000,000; Australia, 250,000,000; Russia, 200,000,000; Belgium, 55,000,000; and Switzerland only 45,000,000.

But, blessed, and Almsworth, who had run, sideways, made a mighty backward spring, returning the "jab" with a terrific smash and won the point.

"I squeezed the bulb of my camera," says E. O. Sawyer, of Los Angeles, who took the

CHINAMAN STUDIES NAVIGATION.

Among the students in the New York Nautical Academy is a Chinese boy, who represents the first of his countrymen to study navigation after foreign methods. The Chinese were the first to invent the compass, but are almost the last to make practical use of it, for at the present time, aside from the small coasters along the shores of China, there are no Chinese captains.

There are Chinese sailors and ships which—Twelve years ago there were 2,000 Japanese in the United States. Today there are 24,000.

by the dragon flag, but each one is captained by a foreign master.

Lee Sney Hong, better known as William S. Lee, is working to revolutionize all that, however. He says there is no reason in the world why China should not have her own captains and underwriters as well. With this idea, in view, he has entered the New York Nautical Academy and is making such rapid progress that he is already looked upon as one of the star pupils.

LANDSCAPE ON A FISH'S SNOOT.

This is the saw of a sawfish, and one of the biggest ever seen; but the most remarkable thing about it is the picture that is painted on it. It represents the house and plantation of the United States Consul, Mr. Eugene Plummer, of Maracaibo, Venezuela. He forwarded the saw with its strange painting to the Masonic Library, in Washington, the other day, where it was photographed.

A sawfish wears its teeth in a different way from any other known animal. They are true teeth, but are distributed at regular intervals along the sides of the saw. The way the sawfish uses them is by wagging his nose from side to side rapidly in the mid of a school of smaller fishes, disabling them, and thus making them his easy prey.

Wall Paper Psychology.

White dining and drawing rooms, which have been so popular during the last few years, are fast losing favor. Women have discovered that pure white is not at all restful to the eyes, and voluntarily visitors in a country house drift out of the pretty white room to one painted or papered in some other tint. This does not apply to a white paper only, but to a room in which all the walls are white.

For instance, a very old house, with oak flooring, oak doors and beams across the ceiling, lends itself perfectly to a white or very pale paper, and yet keeps a homely and comfortable aspect. Sensitive women often dislike or feel uncomfortable in a room, and cannot explain the reason. It is a psychological one, for certain colors have a distinct effect on the nerves.

The largest spider in the world has been found in Sumatra. Its body is nine inches in circumference and its legs spread seventeen inches.

Dog Patient.

"Seips" is a well-bred Spitz owned by Mr. C. P. Fletcher, of Alameda, a town on the shores of San Francisco Bay. On a day in January of this year he was unfortunate enough to have the bone of his left leg broken by an automobile. His master took him home in a carriage and called in a doctor, who set the bone, hanging the injured leg around the dog's neck in a sling. The photograph was taken by Mr. M. C. P. Magagnoli, of Alameda, and was sent by Mr. Arthur Inkersley, of San Francisco.

Dog Pianist.

Turk is the name of the dog shown in the accompanying picture, and the reason why he has been photographed is because he is the only dog in the world who is able to play the piano. A handsome white dog he is, about eight years old, and ever since he was a puppy he has been in the hands of a trainer, who has taught him to do some notable things.

An Odd Chair.

Quite an oddly in its way is a rocking chair that furnishes a breeze to the occupant while he rocks in it. Beneath the seat are two pairs of bellows which are actuated by the rocking, so as to force air upward through a metal pipe and to eject the cooling current in front of one's face.

TWO TENNIS PLAYERS IN THE AIR.

This is a snapshot of two Southern California's expert tennis players in action. They are C. Almsworth and J. Donnell, and the play was to return a high "lob."

Both men were playing net and the ball came over Donnell's side. He leaped for it, but missed, and Almsworth, who had run, sideways, made a mighty backward spring, returning the "lob" with a terrific smash and won the point.

"I squeezed the bulb of my camera," says E. O. Sawyer, of Los Angeles, who took the picture. "Just as Donnell rose from the ground and the instant between then and the operation of the shutter gave Almsworth time to jump."

Thus I obtained this unique photo of two tennis players in the air at the same time."

THE MECHANICAL JACKASS.

The "mechanical jackass" is a patented device for making the most horrible noises imaginable, and is sometimes used at "charivari" or on other occasions where fun-makers are anxious to create as much disturbance as possible in a limited time. One may describe it as a combination of two whistles, a tin horn, with a reed pipe inside of it, and a double flat circular diaphragm.

It is worked by a sort of piston pump, the handle of which is jerked in one hand while the instrument itself is held in the other, and the mixture of shriek and bellow that it sends forth is too horrible for words to give a notion of. Originally it was intended for a fog alarm, but it seems never to have been applied to that use.

Blank verse was first introduced into English poetry by Henry Howard, Earl of Surrey, in a translation of Virgil's "Aeneid," in 1547.

PRESIDENT RETURNS TO THE WHITE HOUSE TROOPS ARE ORDERED OUT TO CONTROL RIOTERS AT THE SOO

The Executive and Family Leave Oyster Bay. Have Been Absent a Little Over Thirteen Weeks.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 25.—President Roosevelt's summer sojourn at Sagamore Hill was concluded today when, at 8:30 o'clock, he boarded a train en route to Washington. He has been absent from the capital for thirteen weeks and two days and returned in the expectation of remaining there practically uninterruptedly until next June.

When the president, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and their children, Archie and Quentin, arrived at the Oyster Bay station, he was greeted with cheers from a great crowd of townsfolk, who had gathered to say farewell. The president acknowledged the greeting by tipping his hat and bowing as he passed across the platform to his train, a "special" of two cars. The president and his family occupied the private car of President Baldwin of the Long Island railroad. In addition to the president and family the party included Secretary and Mrs. Loeb, members of the executive staff, representatives of the Press Association and several service officers. As the train pulled out at 8:30 it was followed by the cheers of the crowd, while the president stood on the rear platform of his car bowing acknowledgments.

In the event of his nomination for the presidency, he will remain here throughout the summer and autumn until after the November elections. As yet he has perfected no plans for the presidential campaign. He has no intention of participating actively in it. It is likely, however, that he will deliver some addresses here.

New York, Sept. 25.—On arrival at New York the president and party were met by a large crowd of mounted police. They crossed the ferry, arriving at Jersey City at 10:30, where President Roosevelt was joined by his daughter, Alice, who accompanied the party to Washington.

Philadelphia, Sept. 25.—The train bearing President Roosevelt to Washington arrived at the West Philadelphia station at 1:04 p. m., and after changing engines, left four minutes later. President Roosevelt alighted from his car and was approached by about twenty-five people who had gathered on the platform. He smiled and said: "I am glad to see you. The crowd is so small I guess I can shake hands with you."

One of the newspaper men asked the president if he had enjoyed his vacation. He replied: "I did. I had a busy time and I never felt better in my life. I am now ready for thirteen months more of hard work."

VICTORIOUS OVER ALL.

Discouraged Employees Are in a Very Ugly Mood. Smash Every Window In Magnificent Offices.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—A News special from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., says: A mob of the discharged employees of the Consolidated Lake Superior company, after being put off with promises when they demanded their promised wages, this morning broke away from all restraint that a large force of special police could exert, and smashed every window in the magnificent office building of the company in the Canadian Soo, charged upon the street cars and demanded that the conductors and motormen join them, and were only prevented from doing further damage by a clever ruse of one of the company's officials, who turned in the fire alarm to divert attention.

Almost every man in the crowd was armed and in the ugliest kind of a mood. A determined assault was made upon one of the entrances of the building, but the door was defended strenuously by those inside, who fired a large number of shots, none of which, however, took any effect. The hard-ware store of W. H. Plumber & Co. was broken into last night and every gun and revolver in stock was stolen, together with all the ammunition that could be found. The authorities have called out the local company of militia and have telegraphed an urgent request to Toronto for both the regulars and more militia. The local militia company is small and totally incapable of coping with the situation.

Orders have been issued to close all the bars in the Canadian Soo, but up to noon today none of the saloons had been closed. A mob is now marching down upon a saloon operated near the company's works, whose owner engaged the men by offering to cash their checks for 10 cents on the dollar.

A RECEIVER IS APPOINTED FOR LAKE SUPERIOR COMPANY

At Request of Stockholders and With Consent of Company, Court Names John F. Carruth to Take Charge of the Affairs of Corporation.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 28.—John F. Carruth, of Philadelphia, president of the International Title and Trust company, was today appointed receiver for the Consolidated Lake Superior company by Judge Platt in the United States district court. His bond was placed at $10,000. Judge Harrison of this city, counsel for the company, said in a written statement which, at his request, was read by Judge Noyes, saying that the company admits the truth of the allegations contained in the complaint, and consents to the appointment of a temporary receiver and to the issuance of an injunction to prevent the sale of the property under foreclosure proceedings. Judge Lynde Harrison, counsel for the company, presented a written statement which, at his request, was read by Judge Noyes, saying that the company admits the truth of the allegations contained in the complaint, and consents to the appointment of a temporary receiver and to the issuance of an injunction to prevent the sale of the property under foreclosure proceedings.

A receiver was, therefore, asked for, and also a temporary injunction to prevent the sale of the property under foreclosure proceedings. ## DANGERS OF IMMIGRATION AS VIEWED BY THE CLERGY

Rev. Robert MacArthur Preaches on the Problems Presented by the Immense Influx of Foreigners to the Shores of the United States.

New York, Sept. 28.—The Rev. Dr. Robert S. MacArthur has preached at Calvary Baptist church on the problems arising from the arrival here week after week of thousands of immigrants, his topic being "The Americanization of Foreigners."

He said in part: "Tidal waves of immigration are breaking upon our shores. During the fiscal year recently closed the number of immigrants pushed up well toward 1,000,000. Every steamer coming into our port brings great numbers. Prosperous times in America invariably greatly increase the number of immigrants. Our country has shown a marvelous capacity for assimilating and absorbing the heterogeneous elements of the world in America. A providential chemistry has largely neutralized the toxic features and greatly stimulated the tonic qualities in enormous immigrations of past years. At times it seemed as if it would be impossible for us to digest the dangerous immigrants who by their numbers and their ignorance threaten every life of the American republic. These fears led patriotic Americans as early as 1842 to aim for stringent naturalization laws so as to reduce the political power of ignorant immigrants."

"The recent marvelous expansion in American life has given cosmopolitan character, socially, racially, politically and religiously, altogether unknown in our country's history. We must, however, teach the old world that it cannot empty its poor houses and prisons by dumping its paupers, anarchists and other criminals on American soil. We need to send missionaries to foreign lands; now many of the people of these lands are coming to America. We now can do the work of foreign missions at our own doors."

"The impulses of a common humanity, the duty of American patriotism and the promptings of our holy religion should lead us to Americanize and religiousize the swarms of foreigners seeking a home and a nobler life and a grander future under the American flag."

CHOW CHIN WILL INVESTIGATE CASE

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—Chow Chin, first secretary of the Chinese legation in Washington has arrived here. He says he has come to this coast to thoroughly investigate the charge made by the police against Tom Kim Yung, late secretary of the local consulate. The family of the secretary is said to be greatly incensed at the treatment accorded him by the police officers who placed him under arrest. Secretary Chow says that he is not in a position to state what action will be taken by the minister in Washington when he receives the complete report of the affair. He is convinced, however, that the minister will demand that a searching inquiry be made both by the Chinese and white authorities in this city.

FLAT HOUSES FIRED AT HARLEM

New York, Sept. 25.—Five fires were started in the cellars of as many flat houses in Harlem during Sunday by incendiaries. In each case it was found upon investigation kerosene had been used. Hundreds of lives were imperiled and property worth thousands of dollars endangered. The burning early Sunday morning of the church of the Archangel in St. Nicholas avenue is also believed to have been the work of firebugs.

When the rumor of fire bugs spread through the eastern section of Harlem where all the fires occurred, the police were alerted among the flat dwellers. Scores of policemen in citizens' dress are now at work in the district but no trace of the incendiaries has yet been secured. In some cases it was found that oil mattresses had been dragged into the basement of a building, soaked with kerosene and fired. Robbery is the only possible explanation.

THREATEN TO DYNAMITE THE JAIL

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—A special to the Dispatch from Helena, Mont., says: In addition to the threats which have been made against the Northern Pacific railroad by a gang of dynamiters, who demand $50,000, Chief of Police Travis has received notification from what is believed to be the same gang, that unless the two men arrested in connection with the first dynamite outrage at Livingston are not released, the city jail will also be dynamited. Both the railroad and the city have decided not to yield. Every available man is now scouring the country trying to locate the gang and the ton of dynamite stolen from a warehouse in this city a week ago.

The last ultimatum to the railroad expires Oct. 4 and the one to Chief Travis expires today. The railroad tracks are being carefully guarded against further outrages.

CARFAMINE OVERRULES CERTAIN THEM

No Doubt There Will Be One When Grain Starts.

Last Day of the Centennial Celebration Rate to Chicago.

Although many freight traffic men in Duluth will not admit that such is the fact, the annual car famine in the Northwest is just about to begin, and already the various roads are beginning to feel the effects of a lack of cars and consequent congestion of freight. While the representatives of the different lines here say that there is no especial cause for worry, it has been given out by the officials of the roads in St. Paul that before the week is ended there will be a great shortage, and that they anticipate more or less trouble for a month or more.

The Northern Pacific road has issued a copy of the circular of the railroad and warehouse commission, in which attention is called to the rights of shippers in ordering rates. Minnesota roads are compelled to keep a book in which orders are kept, so that small shippers may not be discriminated against.

Duluth elevators are now in good shape to handle shipments, but it is thought that there will be considerable congestion here when the grain movement gets fairly under way.

THE FINAL DAY

No More Cheap Railroad Rates to Chicago.

Today is the last day in which the rate of $11.75 to Chicago and return, on account of the Chicago centennial celebration is in effect going to Chicago, and during the last four days the Chicago trains on all roads have been crowded.

The local offices have done a good business and many have gone from Duluth. After having been in effect for several months the rate of $8 one way between Chicago and the Twin Cities will be canceled Oct. 8 and the old rate of $12.50 will be put in effect. The old Chicago-Duluth rate will also go into effect.

An effort was made to have the old rate canceled before the Chicago centennial rate went into effect, but the Wisconsin central would not agree to such a move until it was too late. The Wisconsin central road was the originator of the 35 rate between Chicago and St. Paul during the summer months, and the other lines had to fall in line to protect themselves.

It is now thought that there will be no further war between the roads for some time.

FOR SAFETY OF TRAINS

Committee to Recommend Orders on Double Track Roads.

In the expectation that the safety of trains will be greatly enhanced, the train rules committee of the American Railway association, which is in session in New York, will probably recommend that trains on all double track roads be operated with the old system of train orders.

The recommendation will probably carry with it a provision for the adoption of the block system of signaling. At present the Burlington road is the only line on which the block system is used exclusively on a great part of the road.

Under the block system, which has been in use in England for several years, the train dispatcher starts the train from the home station just as he did under the old system. The train then proceeds to the first signal tower and no trains are allowed to be on the same section of the line at the same time.

The block system will be a great help to train crews as it will do away with train orders and, to a great degree, errors.

Trainmaster Leaves.

M. McKernan, trainmaster on the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific road, has tendered his resignation and will leave in a few days to take a similar position at Trenton, Mo., with C. W. Vanderveile, formerly with the Northern Pacific road. Mr. McKernan's successor has not yet been chosen.

Kidnapping Charged.

J. A. Gates, a farmer living in the vicinity of Shakopee, was arrested yesterday by Marshall Murray of Proctor, on the charge of kidnapping Chester Lewis, the nine-year-old son of Clark Lewis of West Duluth.

The lad, whose father is a widower, was placed in the home of a milkman named Johnson living in West Duluth. It is alleged that Gates enticed the lad away from his home and took him to Proctor, and Lewis feared that he was about to take the lad away with him to his home near Shakopee.

Gates is the child's grandfather, being the father of the lad's mother, who is dead. The defendant has given a cash bond of $50 for his appearance before the justice.

THE MILLINERY OPENING TOMORROW—FUR OPENING CONTINUES—

Both join hands tomorrow and the event will bring out Duluth's most critical women.

Critical women—for the uppermost thought in every woman's mind just now is of fashions for fall. Most of the questions arising are authoritatively answered by new things already here—but each succeeding day reveals something not seen before—to keep posted one must come often—the dress goods section is ready with fall things and quite busy too—so is the silk department on the 2nd floor—the walking suits, separate skirts, dress suits and separate skirts, costumes, demi-costumes and dresses—fall waists, rain coats, and misses' and children's suits, coats and dresses are being freely chosen—There's no doubt as to the styles in these lines.

INTRODUCING THE NEW MILLINERY FROM PARIS AND NEW YORK AND OUR OWN DESIGNERS.

A man was once taken into a gallery of rare paintings and shown a masterpiece.

"What do you think of it?" he was asked.

"What a magnificent frame!" was all that he said.

Not every one with eyes can see.

But change that man into a woman.

Transform the picture into a lovely hat, and you may surround it with a bower of the finest flowers, or frame it in gold, yet a woman's instinct will make her exclaim: "What a beautiful hat!"

The Paris millinery that we will show for the first time tomorrow is art indeed. Each hat a masterpiece, in its way.

The keynote this year is beauty—and simplicity—the same thing.

What period is it? A period of beautiful hats. That's all. A little of every style. Inspiration came from many quarters, but each hat is original, distinctive.

You might as well try to frame every picture with the same frame as to place the same style hat on every woman's head.

There is free play for individualism. Wear the hat that most becomes you, and you are in style.

Yet there are some general tendencies: Hats are more off the face. Crowns are higher. The picture hats are broader, instead of long from front and back. Turbans are three-cornered, often.

Toggles are higher.

Nature's own colors are used. Violet, grape, plum, shading even darker than the dahlia—the French call it "aubergine"—egg plant. Then peach and shrimp, toning down to rosewood. Bordeaux shades, from the old-rose to a dark wine color with a bluish tinge. Brown is coming into favor again, and navy-blue is always good. In lighter shades the tendency is towards light blue rather than turquoise. Some hats show the variegated tints of sweet peas; others are trimmed with nasturtium blossoms and American Beauty roses; still others are made beautiful with rich autumn leaves in glowing reds and warm browns.

Ostrich plumes and tips are every where—and what can't a French woman do with a feather!

Wool lace is much used, and velvet and fur.

That you may not miss any part of the exhibition let us catalogue the various groups of hats.

First, the French models, including every kind.

Then our own—picture hats, carriage hats, reception hats, turbans, toques, bonnets.

Next the stiff walking hats, where "line" is everything.

Special hats for growing girls.

Finally the children's hats and bonnets—quaint and beautiful.

All these on the second floor, where, in addition to the finer hats, we are making a special show of those at $10 and $12.

And right here the $5 and $6 hats which vie with their more aristocratic rivals. And right by the untrimmed hats and new garnitures and trimmings. All waiting to be admired—what vain creatures they are—tomorrow and Wednesday—opening days. Come!

"Much noise—like big battle: no smoke," he remarked to Chief Popotollic as he was introduced to the press-room in the basement, where the role of the big press almost drowned the sound of his voice.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

Commission Listens to Opening of Counsel For Canada.

London, Sept. 28.—The opening of the third week of the sessions of the Alaskan boundary commission found D. T. Watson continuing his presentation of the American case. He concluded at 12:25 p. m., after speaking since Wednesday afternoon. Lord Chief Justice Alverstone expressed the appreciation of the commissioners, saying:

"Thank you for your very powerful argument." Then, at a nod from the lord chief justice, Christopher Robinson, K. C., arose and commenced his speech in behalf of the Canadian claims.

Mr. Watson left the hall looking greatly fatigued after his prolonged effort. Some interest was aroused by Lord Alverstone asking Mr. Robinson if he could prove that the coast mentioned in article 7, referred exclusively to the Lisier (or strip which Russia was to obtain by treaty). Lord Alverstone confessed that he did not know, but Robinson said that if Robinson could add a convincing argument on that point he would greatly strengthen the Canadian case. Mr. Robinson promised to deal with the matter at a later stage.

Whether the council will reconsider its action in passing a resolution requesting the charter commission to submit an amendment to the charter giving the council control of the salaries paid in the water and light department is a mooted question. An answer to this query, which is uppermost in the minds of most citizens, will be forthcoming at tonight's meeting of the council.

To make predictions on the probable action of the council on the question would be futile. A motion to reconsider city hall few were inclined to make any forecast. Some seem to think the aldermen will refuse to hedge on the proposal, despite the pressure that has been brought to bear on them through public opinion. The meeting this evening will tell the story.

Next in importance to come before the council tonight is the proposed amendment to the telephone ordinance. This was considered by the council at its last meeting, but was referred to the committee because it was a substitute to the

It is not necessary that you should think of buying to come to the opening—this formal way of asking you here is simply to have you see what lovely furs we have—and a little ahead of time, so that when you are ready—you'll keep the store well in mind. We believe that we have today a stock that compares favorably with any in this country—and we've planned for the largest fur business in our history. Not only have we planned well for the women, but for the miss and the little tot as well. Neck pieces, muffs, coats, and novelties. The opening continues tomorrow and the invitation to come is just as hearty as it was today.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF FINE ALASKA SEAL JACKETS

to measure or from stock—as you wish—but the best in either case. Buying a seal-skin coat is no trifling matter these days—the raw skins are very high, and there is a tendency on the part of most makers to put in a somewhat inferior stock—the customer won't know the difference, and the profit is greater—but the house that has a reputation to uphold will be careful of all this—will not under any circumstances put in inferior stock and workmanship. The moral is plain—Go to a safe store—lean on us, if you wish—you take no chances whatever—and you can feel safe in knowing that there is as much value in your coat in ten years as there is today.

We will make to measure the finest selected Alaska Seal Coat—of guaranteed high grade skins—each skin selected personally by our firm, and carried in our house—from which you can choose at $350—or we can give you a slightly lower grade Alaska Seal at $310—and another grade at $285. We invite those who are figuring on a sealskin to come and have a talk with our fur man—who will give you some very valuable suggestions on fur garments—whether you desire to purchase or not.

MARKET IS DULL

Not Much Doing In Lumber at the Present Time.

Logging Contractors and Companies Preparing For Logging Operations.

The local lumber market continues dull and the report from other Northwestern lumber manufacturing points indicates that the same condition of affairs seems to prevail elsewhere. Some of the lumbermen predict that the dull market at this period of the year is likely to cause some of the manufacturers to curtail some of their next season's cut, but that is hardly accepted in lumber circles. Even if lumber is not selling briskly at the present time, the prices remain quite firm and all grades are selling for better prices than a year ago this time.

A good share of the early logging operations have been stopped by wet weather, especially on low ground, but with clear, cool weather from now on to the freeze-up, as many of the loggers anticipate there will be the prospect is considered good for a lively opening of the fall and early winter logging operations.

Not a few of the logging contractors lost money last year on their contracts, and most of these are looking forward to the coming season to recompense them for their former losses. All they ask for is plenty of cold weather, with snow, and wages at a reasonable figure.

Predictions may continue to be made of a curtailed lumber production in Northern Minnesota next year, but the indications do not point to a decreased log output.

The heavy rains of late have brought down the rear of all the drives. The rear of the last drive to be made on the Nemadji river, about 1,000,000 feet, came down and brought the dam with it. Portions of the dam have been left standing on end in the river bed. The Shovel, Carpenter & Co. of Minneapolis, have started their camps for the winter in townships 52-23 and 53-23 and will take out about 30,000,000 feet of logs. The Itaska Lumber company has ceased hauling logs from Smith's lake and will soon begin operations in the woods with fourteen camps running.

North of Virginia logging operations will be very heavy this winter. O'Neil & Nelson, of Keokuk, are making preparations for the winter and will have over 500 men in their camps. The firm will get out about 15,000,000 feet of logs.

The Scott-Craft company has brought to its mill about 2,000,000 feet of logs from near Mesaba station. A large portion of the lot were old logs that had been lying about the choppings for some years, and until recent times were not regarded as worth cutting up. The Scott-Craft company has installed a small saw mill on its farm about ten miles out of the city. The mill operates a circular saw planer and will have a shingle machine. The company last year purchased its lumber in the city and hauled it out to the farm while out there it was burning a large quantity of the old logs scattered on the cut over lands within the confines of its 8,500 acres. With the new mill in operation not only is the company now securing a small quantity of fairly good lumber as well as a little pine. The mill and planer are producing enough to supply the wants of the company for its new buildings and the company is also likely to have some hardwood lumber for sale.

Alger, Smith & Company and the Red Cliff Lumber company are loading a large lot of ties for the Northern Pacific company. The latter company takes over a hundred thousand ties annually along the line of the Alger-Smith road.

Only of this city and W. T. Addis of Kansas City, have purchased about 350,000,000 feet of Oregon timber, consisting mainly of fir, cedar and spruce near the Pacific coast. They expect to put in a new mill on the Coquille river with a capacity of from 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 feet per year and will do considerable foreign trade. The timber was purchased from Col. William Cochrane, of Houghton, Mich., the preconsideration being in the neighborhood of $500,000.

Assessments on logs and lumber in Minneapolis and Duluth were not touched by the state board of equalization. The St. Louis county assessment which includes Duluth showed an increase from $1,284,883 to $2,784,724. The increase amounted to ten per cent at Cloquet and Brainerd and to twenty per cent at Stillwater.

Interest is manifest in the approaching state timber sale October 21. The estimates for the state have estimated the amount to be sold at 75,000,000 feet from which the state may realize as high as $500,000. The timber is scattered through St. Louis, Cook, Lake, Itasca and Beltrami counties. The timber is estimated worth from $2 to $10 per acre. The purchaser must pay in advance 25 per cent of the cost of the timber as appraised by the board. The proceeds of the sale will go to the funds for school, university, state institutions, revenue etc.

A DEATHBED CONFESSION

An Indiana Woman Clears Up Old Murder Mystery.

Jasper, Ind., Sept. 23.—Mrs. Nellie Andrews, formerly Miss Nellie Conrad, made a sensational confession just before her death Saturday, that clears up the mystery of a tragedy that caused great excitement in Southern Indiana in 1885.

On the night before Stanford Freeman, a well-known young farmer of this county was to have been married, two men and two women rode up to his house on horseback and called him to the gate. He had a conversation with the visitors, but a moment later, when a scuffle ensued, his intended bride, whom he had left on the porch, heard him groan. When she hastened to him, two men mounted their horses and with two women, rode rapidly away. Freeman had received wounds from a knife and his head was bruised and battered. He died without revealing the identity of his slayers, and not even the slightest clue was ever obtained to them.

Mrs. Andrews said that she was one of the party that visited Freeman that night, that one of the men who was present died six years ago, and that the other is now in the Tennessee state prison. She said the woman who was with her, and who disappeared several years ago, was murdered and buried in the grave with her mother, the crime resulting from fear that she would betray the murderers of Stanford Freeman. Mrs. Andrews said that she was in love with Freeman, and that one of the men was in love with Freeman's intended wife, and when Freeman was called to the gate that night, a proposal was made that he marry her (Mrs. Andrews) at once. When he refused, he was stabbed. The four had kept the deed secret.

REVIEWS WORK

Dr. Samuel P. Long Concludes Fifth Year of His Pastorate.

Tells Briefly What Has Been Done During That Time.

Dr. Samuel P. Long, of the First Methodist church, preached the final sermon of the fifth year of his pastorate at the church yesterday. In the evening he reviewed the work of his pastorate, saying:

"When I became pastor of this church five years ago there were 562 members and 36 probationers, a total of 598. There have been 379 added since that time. The church has had 174, a total of 533. If there had been no loss our membership would now be 1151. But 25 probationers have been removed without letters, or been discontinued, 22 members and probationers have died, 204 members have been given letters of transfer, leaving at present a total membership of 883, or 815 full members and 73 probationers.

"It is difficult to give satisfactory statistics in regard to pastoral labor, but the following may be of interest. I have married 233 couples, buried 141 persons and baptized 135. I have made between 5000 and 9000 pastoral calls, and the church has raised during this time for all purposes over $100,000. I have been assisted greatly in this work by Mrs. Wesley Freeman, who for more than four years was an effective assistant, and this last summer by Mr. Charles Dabbs, who has been zealous in every good work and has been to me all that any assistant pastor could be to a pastor of a church of this size.

"I wish to gratefully acknowledge the cordial co-operation on behalf of the official board in every undertaking or plan in which I have been interested. The pulpits during the summer and the winter with your personal approval or not, have always been cordially endorsed, as far as I know, by the officials of the church.

"I have become deeply attached to the members of this church, and especially to those of you who have from time to time met with me to discuss the interests of the church in general, and in closing as we do this year, our fifth year's work together, I can only pray that the blessing of the Master may abide with you all."

Mr. S. Trosh, whom Dr. Long referred to, has been assistant to Dr. Long during the summer, and the latter parts from him with much regret. He will return to a theological school at Nashville, Pa., where he is pursuing his studies for the ministry. Thursday evening a reception was given for him at the church.

LITTLE ONES BEREFT.

Lose Father and Mother at Same Time.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—While detectives were on their way to a home at 3213 Wallace street Saturday, where they were to tell four children that their father had been slain, another messenger started for the house to tell of the death of their mother.

The children who were made orphans were those of Mrs. Charles Dabbs, of Chicago. When the detectives reached the Dabbs home they found four children there. The detective performed their mission, and just as they were leaving the house a messenger arrived from the Providence hospital, where he brought news of the death of Mrs. Dabbs. The husband and wife had died about the same time.

UNITED WORKMEN DIVIDED.

The Grand Lodge of Illinois May Secede.

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 23.—A proposition to cut loose entirely from the supreme body of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, so far as the insurance feature is concerned, will be submitted at the special meeting of the grand lodge to be held in Chicago, Sept. 30. The plan of the secedents of the state to attend to its own finances. The object of the Chicago session of the grand lodge is to discuss the proposed increase in rates, which will affect the members about 55 years of age. The new figure being $8.40 per month instead of $7.45. Grand Over-seer J. A. Swimmer of Quincy, an ex-member of the grand lodge finance committee, he prepared what he thinks is a solution of the problem and has sent a copy to Alexander McLean of Macomb, who is the grand recorder.

Under the Swimmer plan the old members, those of 55 years and over, would be required to pay $4.54 for the full rate, while the grand lodge proposes $5.40. The Swimmer plan, as it is, will create a fund of $10,705 from the full-rate members, which, with dues, would swell the amount to $148,240 for the year. Add to this the $476,312 received under the present schedule of rates and there would be created a fund of $628,552, which, according to Mr. Swimmer, would more than pay every death claim.

CAVE FULL OF SKELETONS

Found By Explorers of Once Famous Abode of Outlaws.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 23.—Prominent among the many landmarks in this state is what is known far and near as the Bandits' cave, situated in a desolate spot on the south rim of Randolph county. This was once the abode of the fiercest band of outlaws that ever infested the Southern states. The history of the place is well known to the inhabitants of the neighborhood, but it was not fully explored until recently, when several men who had no faith in the wild stories circulated, went into it.

Surrounding the cave, which begins with a hole probably twenty feet in diameter, besides long metal pipes, chains, copper vessels of various shapes and other implements suggestive of the wild life of those who once inhabited the cave. On entering, which they did by means of a cable ladder, the explorers found themselves in a long hall which led to different apartments. It was decided to send two men of the party to follow each message and make what discoveries they could, and it was agreed to meet at the entrance after exploration. They reasoned that the cave extended for several hundred feet in every direction.

Then came startling discoveries. Skeletons of human beings were found, some in the position they occupied when death claimed them. On some of the withered bones hung bits of clothing not yet rotted from them or torn away by the wild beasts. No further discoveries were made as the men, terrified by the awful sight, fled with one accord from the sickening scenes. They returned later with the implements found were piled in a heap and taken to a crossroad trading point some twenty miles south of the cave.

Many theories are advanced as to how the inhabitants of the cave met their death. The position of their skeletons would indicate that the entire band died white as sleep and it is conjectured by some that a prisoner in their hands managed in some way to secure a poisonous herb and murdered the rest by placing it in their food and thus escaped the terrific cruelties to which he was subjected. Another theory is that the skeletons were those of prisoners taken by the gang and left alone to die of starvation.

These discoveries bring to mind the many stories told of the lawless gang and their abode. As early as 1810 cattlemen who were crossing the mountains with their herds, found for the Western settlements, were seized and carried away by a band of outlaws whose haunts could never be ascertained. The outlaws were in the region. This process of robbery was carried on for years and at intervals raids would be made on the settlements. Disguised as Indians, the outlaws would rob the homes of the people and often carried women and children away to their secret caverns. It was not until the outbreak of the war of 1812, when most of the men of the region were on the battlefield.

INCREASED TRADE

Between the United States and Mexico During Past Year.

Greater In Both Exports and Imports Than In 1922.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Sept. 23.—(Special to the Herald.)—Trade with our next-door neighbor on the south continues to expand all records. Figures compiled by the department of commerce and labor, through the bureau of statistics, show that during the last fiscal year our Mexican commerce was greater in both the export and import business than in 1922, although that year made a new high water mark in our trade with Mexico.

During the year ending June 30, 1923, the value of goods imported from Mexico amounted to $1,337,711, while, on the other hand, she purchased from our merchants $2,251,196 worth. According to the latest available Mexican statistics, the total value of the total value of goods imported by that country in the fiscal year 1923 came from the United States, as compared with a little over 50 per cent in 1922. Of the goods exported from Mexico, we took about 30 per cent in 1922 and about 68 per cent in 1923.

The following table shows the value of our exports to and imports from Mexico at decennial periods from 1890 to 1920, and annually from that date:

Exports to Mexico.		Imports from Mexico.
1890	$2,023,827	$ 575,249	1890
1900	$2,824,713	$ 1,041,421	1900
1910	$3,839,760	$ 1,715,065	1910

1932	$3,454,541	$2,846,663	1932
1933	$3,454,541	$2,846,663	1933
1934	$3,454,541	$2,846,663	1934
1935	$3,454,541	$2,846,663	1935
1936	$3,454,541	$2,846,663	1936
1937	$3,454,541	$2,846,663	1937

1939	$3,454,541	$2,846,663	1939
1940	$3,454,541	$2,846,663	1940

This table shows that while our commerce with Mexico varies considerably from year to year, the trade in both directions has more than maintained its satisfactory volume.

Copper and vegetable fibers form the principal individual items of our imports from Mexico, and iron and steel products constitute our largest exports to that country. Detailed statistics for 1923 are not yet available, but in 1922 our imports of copper ore and regulus were almost $100,000,000, as compared with less than $100,000 in 1921; our imports of pig iron, ingots, etc., of copper increased in the same time from $4,000 to nearly $1,000,000. In 1922 nearly $100,000 worth was so exported. Of unmanufactured vegetable fibers (mainly steel grass) our imports increased from $250,000 to over $125,000, while of the manufactures of the materials our imports increased from $6,000 to

SENTENCE IS SUSPENDED

Mother's Plea Succeeds
In Getting Clemency
For Judson Sorrell.

After Judson D. Sorrell, the young man from Staples, Minn., pleaded guilty to the charge of forgery in the second degree, Judge Ensign suspended sentence, Saturday afternoon, and young Sorrell was taken back to his home by Humane Agent H. C. Withrow. Sorrell has been employed in a local restaurant since last spring, and recently went to work in McCullough's saloon. He had access to the proprietor's desk and made out several forged checks, passing one in F. E. Berry's saloon and another on J. D. Campbell, bartender at the St. James. After getting the money he returned to his home and was there arrested. The grand jury returned two indictments against him and he pleaded guilty to both. His mother has been in Duluth and has pleaded so hard with the court to give her son another chance that Judge Ensign suspended sentence.

Paper Is Sold.

N. I. Bandz, a well-known Scandinavian newspaper man of Superior, has purchased the Northwestern Handelsidning, a Swedish publication of this city, from the Northwestern Commercial News company. The Nordvesterns Handelsidning was first published less than two years, when it started as a four-page paper. It has since been increasing in size until its present publication consists of ten pages. The new owner, it is claimed, will endeavor to keep Mr. Longren at the head of the editorial staff. The size of the paper is to be increased to twelve pages.

CABLE CAR RUNAWAY.

Ten Persons Injured In Mishap at Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Ten persons were injured, two seriously, in an accident today on the Halsted street cable line. A train ran away and for two blocks, from sixteenth street to eighteenth street, imperiled the lives of many persons.

It is said the train was in charge of a new gripman. Two wagons were struck by the train before it came to a stop.

ESCAPED LION SPREADS PANIC

Coney Island Folk Flee From Beast That Fights Elephant.

New York, Sept. 28.—Coney Island's winning season received a stimulus Saturday afternoon when a lion escaped from Luna park and for two hours ran at liberty through the streets, causing a panic, while a posse of keepers and the police reserves followed in nervous pursuit. The lion was Duke, which has been performing at the lagoon in Luna park.

The animal escaped from the inclosure after wrecking the big bar room near the entrance and frightening the bartenders into hysterics. Then he ran about through the streets, dodging pursuers, leaping over fences, flashing through the pavilions and scaring thousands of pleasure seekers into frantic flight to points of safety.

Scores of women and children had narrow escapes from encountering the lion, and at least fifty men took part in his capture by barricading him in Christie's hotel bar room and then forcing him into a cage.

Before his escape the lion was performing with the big elephant, Colombo, and a crowd of several thousand persons watched the performance. Without warning the lion became savage and sank his claws deep into the elephant's neck. The two beasts were at once engaged in a fight. The keepers were helpless and the spectators fled screaming from the scene. For a few seconds while the lion bit and tore at the elephant's hide, the larger beast ran about madly, waving his trunk and trumpeting. Finally, however, he secured the lion with his trunk, and tearing him from his back, hurled him into the lagoon.

The lion disappeared under the water, and when he rose to the surface clambered swiftly to the bank. Then he began a tour of the town. He soon distanced his pursuers by leaping over sheds and making his way into back streets.

After passing along the outskirts of the park Duke turned toward Surf avenue, as he was approaching the avenue a trolley car shot out of a side street directly in his path. The motorman stopped the car and bunched his passengers.

The lion was so frightened that he could not move. Finally he gathered himself together and sprang in the direction of Christie's hotel. In a few bounds he had reached the piazza and entered the bar room. It was filled, but in an instant it was empty. The furniture of the bar was wrecked in the mad scramble to get out. The men returned, however, after a time and trapped the king of beasts.

A PURE MYTH.

The Story of Buried Millions on Pacific.

New York, Sept. 28.—George W. Sutton, formerly a New Rochelle alderman, has returned home after an absence of fifteen months spent in the Pacific ocean where he went as a member of Capt. James Brown's party in search of $60,000,000 in treasure supposed to have been hidden eighty years ago by pirates in the South Sea Islands. Sutton declares he had a good time and is not sorry that he had made the trip. He admits, however, having become convinced that the story of the buried millions is a pure myth.

A BREAK IN STOCKS

Steel Preferred Went Below 60 and Common Touched 15.

Market Was Feverish and Unsettled Throughout the Session.

[illegible][illegible]

can Street Railway and People's Gas rose covered a point and a few other stocks advanced. The market for bonds was quiet, liquidation in the U. S. Steel issue and the bonds of the Erie and the Chesapeake and Potomac and prices fell back to below the opening level. The Erie bonds were 99 1/2 and offered at 99 3/4, and the bonds at 88 1/2. Material losses were made by a number of investors who took profits at 100 points, the last name in Chicago. The active stocks were down between 1 and 4 points. The expanded Street Railway was four in all.

Declines extended into the second hour. The declines were for American Express, Sun, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, and the Erie. The Erie was preferred. Manhattan Sugar and some other stocks were up. The market opened its force then and a rally of a point followed in those stocks which had sold down. The Erie was 99 1/2, the Sun 99 1/2, the Baltimore and Ohio 99 1/2, the Missouri Pacific 99 1/2, the St. Paul 99 1/2, the American Express 99 1/2, the People's Gas 99 1/2, the U. S. Steel 99 1/2, the Chesapeake and Potomac 99 1/2, the bonds 97 1/2. Bonds were weak.

Prices in many instances sold lower than in the morning. Pressure was paid Buyers were in the market. Pressure was particularly heavy against Baltimore & Ohio, which was down 1 1/2 points, and Chesapeake & Delaware Canal, which lost 1 point. Western Union Electric lost 1 point and Western Union Telegraph 1/2 point.

Buying orders appeared again in sufficient volume to turn the steel temporarily into a speculative market. The market was again speculative favorites rallied a point, and the steel market was again in demand. The recoveries were pretty generally lost. Pennsylvania fell 1/2 point, Kansas Texas preferred and Gas yielded 2 1/2 and 1 1/2 points, respectively.

There was a more substantial rally in the steel market, but the sentiment was not so sure against the steel issues having the material effect upon the sentiment. The market was again speculative favorites rallied a point, and the bonds 1/2. General Electric had been victim, prices generally recovered to within a varying fraction of Saturday's closing prices.

Amalgamated suddenly released to the market a large volume of stock, and the market gave way in sympathy. The decline was arrested by a change in the demand for active and irregular.
